HIGHWAY WORK WILL START AT EARLY DATE

U. R. GREY ASSUMES CHARGE OF ENGINEERING PROBLEMS

Carl LaConte Has Outfit at Lexington Ready to Start 7-Mile Contract

U. R. Grey arrived in Heppner from The Dalles within the week and has assumed charge of the engineering work on the Oregon-Washington highway which offices in Hotel Patrick. Mr. Grey has had charge of the work on the Columbia River highway between Hood River and The Dalles for the past year and is said to be a highly efficient gentleman in his profession. Mr. Greenwood, who has had charge of the work on this section for a couple of months has resigned his position and will go into another line of engineering work.

Mr. Grey is a busy man just now getting hold of the details of his work but took time to say to a reporter Monday morning that everything is fine and the work will be pushed through without unnecessary delay.

Carl LaConte, a contractor from Weiser Idaho, who secured a sub-contract from Oxman & Harrington for seven miles on the Lexington end was here Monday and announced that he already has his outfit assembled at Lexington and will be making the dirt fly in a short time. Mr. LaConte is establishing his camp today and getting ready for business. He recently completed a big job near Weiser and is an experienced contractor.

It is understood that all of the right-of-way has been secured between Heppner and Jones Hill and that a few parcels are being negotiated for in the vicinity of Lexington.

Do your eyes need attention? Dr. Haylor June 13-14-15.

WOOL BRINGS 15 TO 19 1/4 CENTS AT PILOT ROCK

FENDLETON, Or., June 3.—(Special.) Prices ranging from 15 to 19 1/4 cents a pound were paid yesterday for pooled wool at the annual Pilot Rock sale.

The greater bulk of the wool received its highest bid from the American Woolen Company, of Boston. Other buyers were the Portland Wool Warehouse and J. Koshland.

Following are the quantities offered by each grower and the high price bid: L. C. Mathews, 19,000 pounds 15 3/4 cents; F. E. Chapman, 25 bales 15 3/4 cents; Ross Sheep Company, 83 bales fine wool, 9 bales coarse; 17 1/4 cents for fine, 15 cents for coarse; Sam Porter 22 bales coarse wool, 12 bales fine, average price 15 cents; Cole and Hutchings, 42 bales coarse, 5 bales fine, average 15 cents; M. G. Edwards, 37 bales choice pearly fine wool, 19 1/4 cents; Joe Pedro, 100 bales fine wool, 17 5/8 cents; Ed Campbell 70 bales, 16 1/8 cents.

TARIFF GIVES NEW LIFE TO WOOL GROWERS

WORSTED MANUFACTURERS ENTER MARKET.

Buying of New Clip Reported in Ore. During Last Week; Machinery Resumes

BOSTON, Mass., June 3.—(Special.)—The imminence of the tariff seems to have given the market an impetus during the last two or three days. At any rate, several of the larger worsted manufacturers have been in the market and have taken fair weights of wool, so that the total turnover has been a respectable one, although early in the week there was no unusual interest shown in wool.

Undoubtedly the fact that the tariff is to become a law so quickly has influenced the clothing trade to re-order more or less and has encouraged manufacturers themselves to cover their requirements more or less against contracts which they already had, but against which they perhaps feared cancellations if the emergency tariff failed of passage.

There is no reason to say that prices have advanced any during the week; on the contrary values appear to have remained generally as they were and in a few instances lower quotations are being given than were formerly ruling. Some of the Western growers who have had wools in the hands of eastern dealers on commission, are said to have ordered their wools sold in order that they might determine their exact financial position.

BUDGET BOARD GETTING READY FOR ITS WORK

TIME SAVING SOUGHT IN LEGISLATIVE WORK

Forms of Reports Being Prepared So Next Legislature May be Saved Mass of Hearings

(Telegram Salem Bureau) SALEM, Or., June 4.—(Special.)—The machinery under which the new state budget law will be operative is being assembled and oiled by Secretary of State Sam A. Kozler. The law became effective May 26.

Frank Meredith, of Salem, has been employed to put the act into operation. He has compiled a list of classifications which will appear on blanks to be furnished heads of all state institutions and departments for monthly reports to the secretary of state, and through him made available to the budget commission. The personnel of the state board of control which is the governor, the secretary of state and the state treasurer, comprises the commission.

The list of classifications has the approval of Secretary of State Kozler, but the general plan of operation is yet in tentative state and yet to be approved. Mr. Kozler is now in the East.

In brief the budget commission act is designed to save the time of the legislative session, particularly the ways and means committee. All items of all departments going into the budget as presented to the legislature will have had the approval of the budget commission and its recommendation after having been adjusted to the general financial status of the state. While all estimated requirements of the state departments and institutions will have been thrashed out by the budget commission prior to the meeting of the legislature, the commission's action will not be final.

The ways and means committee will still have power to cut down or add to any department head not satisfied with the findings of the commission may carry his appeal to the ways and means committee. However, the long drawn out sessions that have characterized the meetings of the ways and means committee in past legislative sessions are certain to be eliminated to a great degree.

Heretofore the state board of control has been confined legally to passing on only the budget estimates of the ten state institutions under its jurisdiction. The budget commission's jurisdiction will extend to every activity, "public or private," to quote the law "supported or aided in whole or in part from moneys disbursed through the state treasury."

Whatever rules are necessary to carry out the act the commission has power to prescribe. In revising, increasing or diminishing budget estimates, the majority vote of the commission shall rule. It has power to call into conference any officials necessary and may employ an executive officer or stenographer and such other clerical assistance as is necessary to carry out the provisions of the act and may fix their compensation. For the present biennium its expenditure is limited to $6900.

Budget estimates as prepared by department or institution heads are required to be submitted to the commission on or before October 1st of each even numbered year.

This also applies to person's having claims against the state. Also the commission shall receive on or before October 1st statements of any desired appropriations presented by individuals, corporations or associations, presented by individuals, corporations or associations, including municipal corporations, intended for legislative consideration. This class of statements shall be filed by the commission and turned over to the secretary of state without recommendation, and shall be compiled and printed by the secretary of state with all other data from the commission.

After determining the amount of the estimates of state activities, and no later than November 10 of each even-numbered year, the commission shall file the matter with the secretary of state together with recommendations together with. This the secretary of state shall have printed with comparative data. Not later than December 20 the

CITY WILL BENEFIT BY THREE NEW BRIDGES

COMMISSION AGREES TO MATCH CITY'S PAVING EXPENDITURES

Automobile Park Also Provided by Change in Highway Within City Limits

Heppner will benefit by the completion of the Oregon-Washington highway to the extent of three new bridges according to information given out by Highway Commissioner Barratt, on his return from the meeting of the commission in Portland.

Instead of following the Gale street route as improved by the city a few years ago the gate will follow Main street to the old wooden bridge at the north end of that thoroughfare and from there will cut directly through the McHaley estate coming into the highway again just north of the Tri-State Warehouse. This route will cut off about three acres of the McHaley land which is to be secured by the city and will be at once improved for an auto tourist camping ground. The new bridges above referred to will replace the present old structures crossing Willow creek on May street; crossing Willow creek at the lower end of Main street, and crossing Hinton creek a short distance north of the Main street structure.

The cost of the first of these structures has been estimated at $7500; of the second, $3800; and of the third one $1750.

To the alertness of Mr. Barratt is due this action on the part of the commission that gentleman pointing out to his associates that the city has already expended some $15000 in paving Main, May and Court streets, which make up a portion of the highway, and that figuring on the usual 50-50 basis the state should logically meet that expenditure. The proposition was so fair that the other commissioners agreed without question.

The auto camp park will fill a much needed want here and is to be acquired and improved by the city. It is also understood that if the cost of the new bridges and the additional paving shall exceed the amount already expended by the city—$15,000—the excess will be borne jointly by the city and the state on a 50-50 basis.

The secretary of state is required to submit the printed budget to the governor and to the members of the legislature.

The commission's plan to require monthly statements from department heads is under the provision that it may prescribe its own rules. All data gathered in this manner must be with the completed budget estimates at the end of the biennium.

Uniformity is the aim of the state department in preparing the blanks for the monthly reports of departments and departments or institutions to which any particular classification does not apply simply skip it in turning in the reports.

The classifications as they will be presented on the blanks follow:
A—Personal services: Compensation for direct services of persons in the employ of the state, including salaries, wages and all fees paid for temporary, professional or expert services.

B—Contractual services: Services performed by other than officers and employes of the state and involving personal service, together with the use of equipment, materials and commodities, under express or implied contract.

D—Materials: Articles or substance used in the construction or repairs of a building, highway, sewer, machinery or other equipment including nails, paints, etc.

E—Equipment: All articles or things of permanent value that may be used repeatedly without material impairment to their physical condition, such as machinery, implements, tools, furniture, livestock vehicles and other apparatus.

F—Land and structures: Expenditures are fixed charges against the state and contributions made by the state. (1) Rent—to include all expenditures for right of possession and use of lands structures or equipment owned by another, the use or possession of which is not for a specified time. (2) Contributions—To include all expenditures for contributions made by the state to individ-

AN APPRECIATION

Having retired from the management of the Hotel Patrick, I take this means of expressing my thanks to the people of Heppner and Morrow county as well as to the traveling public generally for the hearty and undivided support they have given me in opening the hotel during this period of unusual business depression. Perhaps there has never been a time in Heppner's history when the launching of such an enterprise could have been attended with greater difficulties than have confronted the Patrick during the past five months. Whatever degree of success has attended my efforts is due largely to the hearty support and encouragement given by my friends and patrons. In leaving Heppner I can say that I have but the most kindly feelings towards every resident of the city and county.

Sincerely,
JAS. HART.

Roland Humphreys, Edward Childsey.

The happy high school days of the class of '21 passed into history last Friday evening when the class of nine was graduated and presented with diplomas in the presence of an audience that packed the school auditorium to the doors.

It was an auspicious event in the lives of these young people marking as it did the forks of the road where the comparatively quiet path of childhood and youthhood merged into the broader highway that leads, by longer or shorter routes, into the real business of life.

Professor Howard M. James, superintendent of Heppner schools, presided at the exercises Friday evening which were opened by the invocation offered by Rev. E. L. Moore, followed by a song from the high school glee club.

Prof. James then introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Doney, of Salem who is the honored president of Willamette University. Dr. Doney delivered a splendid address, rich in golden counsel to the young graduates, polished in diction, replete with worth while ideas. The address commanded the closest attention of class and audience.

A song by the girls chorus followed, after which Hon. C. E. Woodson, president of the board of directors, presented the diplomas.

The attention of Sam Boardman and other fish worm farmers of that project is called to this plan.

DIGGING BAIT WITHOUT A SPADE

A recent visitor from Idaho tells how the fishermen up there get their angle worms for bait without the labor of using a spade:

Two steel bars are driven in the ground 8 or 10 feet apart and to a depth of 4 or 5 feet. An extension cord is attached to an electric light wire and the fine wires in the cord are separated and one attached each steel bar. The current is turned on and the various worms pop out of the ground in not slow. Cut worms, ants and all other kinds of insects also come to the surface with a rush. It is said to kill the ants and cut worms but it only serves to make the angle worms more lively and attractive for the many tribes.

The attention of Sam Boardman and other fish worm farmers of that project is called to this plan.
