Sundial Really of Little Use.

The sundial is nothing like so efficient as a watch. It never was very much of an aid to man as a time indicator. It never professed to do more than tell the time of day, because it could not tell the time of night, and in old sundials, as well as on many new ones, is this sentence, often in Latin: "I mark none but sunny hours." So that on foggy days, or on days of dawn and cloudy skies, the "gnomon," which is that triangular piece whose shadow points out the time on the dial, casts no shadow.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson Western Newspaper Union. DAVY CROCKETT, THE HERO OF THE ALAMO

"Be sure you're right, then go ahead," was Davy Crockett's motto. He fought for the right, then went ahead to a glorious death in the Alamo. Crockett was born in Tennessee in 1780. He came of fighting stock for his father, a tavern keeper, had been a soldier in the Revolution. Young Crockett's early years were spent in roaming the Tennessee woods, hunting. He became a renowned bear hunter, a fame which he shared with his favorite rifle, "Old Betsy."

When the Creek Indians went on the war path in 1813 Crockett tossed "Old Betsy" on his shoulder and marched away to fight the Indians. He served as a scout under Gen. Andrew Jackson and was in the great Battle of Tohopeka when "Old Hickory" defeated Weatherford's warriors.

After the Creek war was over Davy returned to Tennessee and entered politics. From magistrate he rose to state legislator and next the renowned bear hunter and scout was sent to congress where he served two terms. In February, 1836, Davy with 12 of his Tennessee friends arrived at the Mission del Alamo where Col. William Travis with a little army of less than 300 men was defying the Mexican dictator, Santa Anna.

Santa Anna had a force of 5,000 men, and although the Texans had a chance to escape before this overwhelming army cut off their retreat, they refused to do so. The Mexican general surrounded the rude little adobe fort. His demand for its surrender was met with scorn. Then he raised the red flag which meant, "No quarter," and attacked.

The long rifles of the Texans mowed down the Mexican soldiers driven to the attack. On March 6 Santa Anna prepared for a grand assault. Twenty-five hundred picked men were detailed to be hurled against the fort. The first assault was beaten back with heavy loss. A second failed, but in the third desperate attempt the Mexicans broke into the fort.

After that the fighting was hand to hand. Travis went down and Crockett took command. Outnumbered a hundred to one, Crockett with a few comrades stood with their backs to the wall of the church. One by one his men went down. At last only Davy was left. "Old Betsy" fired her last shot. Then Crockett seized her by the barrel and swung her about his head.

There was a short struggle. "Old Betsy" was knocked from his hand. Bayonet thrust and sword cut were rained upon him. A mass of Mexicans struck him. He went down fighting to the last. The Alamo was history.

WHAT'S IN A PIE?

There are those who consider the filling of a pie the most important part of it, but the best of filling covered with a tough, unpalatable crust, will spoil the pie for most of us. As Browning puts it (though not in this connection), a good pastry is "a framework which waits for a picture to frame."

Sour Cream Pie.—Take one cupful each of sour cream, sugar and raisins, one egg, one tablespoonful of vinegar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, the same of cinnamon and nutmeg, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cloves, mix well and bake with two crusts.

Custard Pie.—There are some cooks who think a pie with less than four eggs is not to be served on the best tables. However, a very good pie may be prepared with three or even two eggs to a pint of milk, adding four or five tablespoonfuls of sugar and such flavoring as one likes. Where two eggs are used a tablespoonful of flour may be added mixed with a little of the cold milk and the pie will be very satisfactory, though of course the more eggs used the greater the food value.

Date Pie.—Cook one-third of a pound of dates in the top of a double boiler. Put through a sieve, then add two eggs, a few gratings of nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt and two cupfuls of milk. Bake as a custard pie.

Current Pie.—Take one cupful of currants, one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of flour, mixed with the sugar, two egg yolks and a teaspoonful of butter stir two tablespoonfuls of water. Cook until smooth, and turn into a baked crust. Cover with a meringue made with the whites of two eggs and two to four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Bake with marshmallows and brown. The preserved currants may be used for this pie, using nearly two cupfuls for the pie.
