"Labor" had been to me a phrase; But now through all my length of days It means no more "commodity." For human beings just like me— Who live and love and plan and hope For greater things. And if they grope In dull, blind fashion, crudely planned, I shall not fail to understand.—Brisley.

WHAT TO EAT.

When young green onions are plentiful serve them cooked as asparagus, serving them in stalks of three or four on well buttered toast and with a dash butter or white sauce.

Lamb's Tongue, Princess Style.—Wash three lamb's tongues in cold water, cover with boiling water, add one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of chopped onion, a dash of cayenne, two cloves, a bit of bay leaf; cook gently until tender. Cool, cut in cubes, add to one cupful of rich white sauce, one teaspoonful of beef extract, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and one tablespoonful of butter. Serve in timbale cases or ramekins.

Caramel-Almond Ice Cream.—Mix one-half cupful of flour, one cupful of sugar, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt, and two cupfuls of hot milk with one and one-half cupfuls of caramel flavoring and cook in a double boiler for 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Add two well-beaten eggs and cook three minutes, stirring constantly. Cool and freeze; when partly frozen add two cupfuls of cream and one cupful of ground almonds, or these may be added at once. Make the caramel flavoring by melting one and one-half cupfuls of sugar in a smooth omelet pan, and when brown add one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water and boil 15 minutes. This caramel flavoring is nice to use for gravies, sauces, chop suey and other dishes needing such color and flavor.

Calf's Brains With Eggs.—Prepare a pair of brains by soaking in cold water, then trim and drop into boiling salted water and let remain for five minutes. Cut into dice and fry in hot butter, using two tablespoonfuls, then add two eggs, beaten with one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, and pepper to taste, stirring until the eggs are set. Fill the center of a hot plate with the brains and eggs and garnish with a border of parsley with groups of cooked mushrooms at intervals.

NEW IN CORSAGE

Sleeveless Fashion Pronounced Summer Feature.

Garment Attractive When Large Loose Collar Forms Part of the Scheme.

A curious fashion is very much in evidence this summer. That is the sleeveless corset. These are creations of famous Parisian dressmakers.

A sleeveless summer frock is distinctly attractive, especially so when a large, loose collar forms part of the sartorial scheme—as in the Doucet model. This exquisite dress was made of foxglove pink linen and the embroideries were worked in white pearl beads.

The design was extremely simple, but the outline was supremely elegant. Just one of those quiet little dresses which bear the cachet of a great French "Maison."

ideas. The corset is cut round and the collar turns over and falls on the shoulders. Similar collars on dresses had elaborate sleeves, but this particular model had no sleeves at all, the collar covering part of the upper arm.

Silk-finished linen is very fashionable this summer. It is produced in exquisite shades, and the hand embroidery shown is very popular. Sometimes the beads are multicolored, sometimes all white, or all dark blue—the latter a novelty which pleases the Parisian taste.

This is quite a girl's dress, but the outline is so becoming that it might be adopted by any woman who had retained a slender figure.

VELVET HATS IN LIMELIGHT

First of the Splendid Rich Fabric Now Making its Appearance in Paris.

Plain materials are having a great vogue and the only dressmaker of any importance in Paris who dares to use prints to any extent is Paul Poiret. He uses most extraordinary patterns in dress silks, the designs seemingly more suited to a carpet than to a dress.

The first velvet hats are beginning to make their appearance. Rehoux is having success with hunter's green velvet hats trimmed with a natural coque, all in the burnished green effect. Rehoux also is using a sort of triple crepe for covering large sailor shapes. This crepe is fluted to cover the brim and there is only the simplest of ribbon band trimming.

Everything to match is an important note in present Paris fashions. The crepe de chine dress is often accompanied by a hat trimmed with the same material. And it is not unusual to see hat, cape and dress all of the one material.

Crepe Kasha.

Crepe kasha is a novelty in a silk-wood crepe, an understudy to canton crepe, which, with crepe black satin is to hold its place. A French adaptation is the combination of strictly tailored cloths with dressier fabrics to give new type of street costume for the fall. Some usual ones are of rep or poplin with duvetyn, velinette and erudaine. The Algerian wrap of the gayest striped silks, and dresses of duvetyn with panels and underskirt embroidered in newly discovered Arabian patterns are full of the charm of the unusual, slightly tinged with the bizarre.

Well-Groomed Head.

A well-combed head of hair always lends itself to a charming coiffure. It makes but little difference whether one has a natural wave, a permanent wave or straight locks, if they are well combed they can be dressed to enhance the charm of any woman.

Carefare and Interest.

The story goes that John Hopkins, the founder of the university that bears his name, was accustomed even when of venerable years and more or less infirm of body to walk to his office. Questioned by a friend as to why he did this, he replied: "I never forget that a cent represents an entire year's interest on a dollar. The interest on a dollar is worth saving."

Flag Etiquette.

When the flag passes in a parade or review, the spectator should, if walking, halt; if sitting, arise, stand at attention and salute. Civilians should remove their hats, although women are expected only to stand respectfully until the colors pass. All men in uniform of any branch of the army and navy are required to stand at attention and salute until the colors have passed.

Wasted Man Power.

Those accustomed to the good old ways are always insistent in their declaration that the claims of the efficiency experts have been greatly exaggerated. New methods, whatever their virtue, are not always popular. It is observed that it still requires the services of two willing adult workers to display the wonders of a three-ring circus satisfactorily to one youngster.—Christian Science Monitor.
