LONEROCK REPLIES

As I glanced through the Hoppine Herald I noticed with pleased surprise, That Hardman had an answer Already for my eyes. And as I looked it over, I thought it very plain, That I had made some scores in mine Which makes me rather vain. To think you'd take the notice, To chew the rag with me, To chew the rag with me, When I'm so insignificant

As you try to make me see, I do not think that either You or I can brag on rhyme For I found the same delinquency in yours, you found in mine. And though my poetry was 'punk', And not so entertaining.

Did you ever stop to think That with all that proper training? for didn't have to read 117 Not I'll bet you never did!

and that's a feather in my lid. Perhaps you did not mean to brag. And purhaps it was just a joke But after this please label them so, Ther they lack the proper stroke. And though we are good guessers,

You thought you were compelled to

I'll say we must decline, To find a joke in all that list. That was so extra fine

Of course you do not mean to boast, We know that's not your style-But believe me, we'd have to step

Another thing we all adding Is your shrinking modesty, it must be shrinking For there's not enough to see,

When God in all his uplunder: hid make this earth so bright, the tried to give his bayored ones, A taken of his might.

And as he placed our Lone Rock He had a vision fair; Of the superior race of people That would some day assemble there And he probably held a monologue

Somewhat on this plan: "Here is a root that I will give To the more deserving man, 'I'll place it here where all the world

Can see Decemberry small And the wooders of my hingdom To these people I'll reveal. " And when the final Judgement Day Is brought down to their aight, Behold! The ones from Lienerock Shall stand upon my right. For he who was a symbol. Of my might, right by his hand, Can never fall to find a way To reach the Promised Land." You say our Rock is rusty. You sure are mighty bright, For after standing all these years

You'd suppose it would be snow white Your power of observation keen. Should be given to the nation. Don't here them in Hardman, So far from human habitation. I'm so glad that you were watching

I'm flatiered to beat the band. When I think that all those girls were there. The "raisest in the land" were there

And yet you singled me out. And watched just me, Oh well! And yet you ruldn't bear the, So I didn't have to yell.

You are dancing with a girl. Or do the girls still dance together? I thank you for your invitation To bring me to your town some day, But Lonerock suits me well enough And so I think I'll stay.

You said you wrote that piece in Einglish. Are you a Freshman, may I ask?

For the English that you used in it With our teachers would not pass. Now Mr. Hayden, come again. As many times as you can and will, For I'm right here, and still will be,

Till you have had your fill. And as for boasting we can tell When we have had our say, Our rock will still be standing When your band is in decay.

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

- 1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.
- 2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.
- 3. Selling costs reduced 38%.

Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization.

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car-

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service-
