

CECIL

Shaver & Nord, of Ione, are busy drilling a well for T. W. May at the Lone Star ranch.

Miss Malinda May, of Lone Star ranch was visiting with Mrs. Everett Logan at Cecil on Thursday.

Misses Doris, Esther and Dana Logan were the dinner guests of Miss Minnie Lowe Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lee and daughters of Alderdale, Washington, spent Sunday visiting at Butterby Flats.

Vernon Lofgren nephew of A. Henriksen, was called to Canby Wednesday through the illness of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Curtis of The Grand Dalles, Washington, arrived at their ranch near Rhea Sidg Saturday.

Oscar Otto was a Cecil visitor on Friday from Hermiston. Oscar was on his way to Heppner to call on his old friends.

Jackie Hynd and Bob Lowe arrived home Monday after delivering a bunch of young horses at Hynd Bros. ranch at Freezeout.

Miss Esther Rock, of Fourmile, left for Ione Sunday and will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buchanan for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Moore, of Lone Rock were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Perry, near Ewing on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Brien, of Portland, are visiting with Mrs. Melville Logan at The Willows. Mrs. O'Brien was Miss Hazel Winter, late of Shady Dell near Cecil.

Roy Stender, of Seldomsen, and J. E. Crabtree of Dotheboys Hill were Cecil callers Friday and informed us that the wheat crop around their part of the country was yielding very light.

S. A. Pattison and son Everett with a car load of young ladies were callers in Cecil on Friday and took dinner with Master and the Misses Hynd of Butterby Flats.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Henriksen who have been at their Hamilton ranch for a couple of weeks returned to their ranch on Willow creek Monday and all hands are now busy putting up the second crop of alfalfa.

Misses Annie and Violet Hynd, Georgia Summers, Mildred Henriksen and Herbert Hynd took in the big dance at Morgan Saturday night. They were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. George Henriksen, of Strawberry ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brad, and son of Athlone Cottage, near Ione made a short stay in Cecil Thursday before leaving for Arlington where Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Minor joined them to return home to Heppner. We are glad to hear that C. A. is feeling much improved in health since his treatment of several weeks in St.

Vincen hospital in Portland. Yes, it may have been so, at least so the Heppner papers said, that Governor Oleott, members of the highway commission, press men etc., left their town after being highly entertained at 5.00 o'clock Sunday morning bound for Portland. Let me tell you Cecil may not have spring chickens, nor yet any of the pretty girls that Judge Dutton is so keen of bragging about in the Imperial lobby, but Cecil unhampered by fear of little gods and great men, had the honor of entertaining Governor Oleott and the highway commissioners to breakfast Sunday morning at 7:00 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lowe, of the Highway House being the host and hostess on this occasion. The distinguished visitors left Cecil at 8:20 for Portland.

GOOD SEED WHEAT MADE AVAILABLE

A careful examination of the fields of the county revealed the fact that too much of the wheat yet is badly mixed. In order to make it possible for farmers to get wheat of good quality for seed, a large percentage of the wheat fields of the county have been inspected and a number have passed the certification test. No wheat can pass that has more than one-half of one per cent mixture unless all the mixtures happen to be wheats of the same color of the wheats in question. It will be noticed from the list below that almost without exception the wheat certified run less than one-half of one per cent mixture, much of it run under one-quarter of one per cent mixture. Farmers desiring to secure a clean start of seed can do so by arranging with any of the farmers listed below:

Where Your Taxes Go

How Uncle Sam Spends Your Money in Conducting Your Business

By EDWARD G. LOWRY
Author "Washington Close-Ups," "Banks and Financial Systems," etc. Contributor Political and Economic Articles to Leading Periodicals and a Writer of Recognized Authority on the National Government's Business Methods

REMEDY IN YOUR HANDS

I have been asked many times, and particularly since this series began: "What is the remedy for the condition and situation of government business that you have described? What can we, the average man or woman without influence, and with no knowledge of politics, what can we do about it?" Well, the answer is that you can do everything about it. The remedy lies wholly within your own hands, as I have tried to point out in each one of the articles that have preceded this one. It is a remedy easy to prescribe but I confess, difficult to put into effect.

Difficult, I mean, in the sense that you will have to give up time from your own engrossing private affairs to pay some attention to what you probably think of as public affairs and, as such, not concerning you. The whole point I have to make is that public affairs are your affairs.

I do not suggest that you go into politics. I do not suggest that you attend political meetings. I do suggest that you take an interest, a direct personal interest, in the business of government as distinguished from the politics of government.

A part of the remedy you ask for the conduct of the business of government has been applied when the facts and the conditions are spread broadcast and made known to every taxpayer. Bad conditions are in a way to be remedied when they become known.

But some hundreds of you have written me and asked: "How can we help? What can we do?" Let's take a concrete case.

Congress has committed itself to the policy of building twenty first-class battleships in the next few years. Armed and equipped, those battleships will cost in the neighborhood of $45,000,000 each. That will make a total cost of $900,000,000; that is, just short of a billion dollars.

Do you approve that expenditure? Do you think it wise and necessary? Do you think we ought to spend our money that way? Do you think we ought to spend 80 or 90 per cent of our total national income for wars, past, present and prospective? That is what we are doing. If you approve of it you have only to sit still and say nothing. If you disapprove of it, let your congressman know.

You live in a congressional district and every two years you send a man here to Washington to attend to your public business. Do you know him? Do you know what he is doing here? Your state has two senators, who also represent you here. If they do not represent you fairly, you can keep them at home. Whatever a majority of you want you can have.

To this moment a majority have approved, at least by silence, the great military expenditures that have been made from the money you have paid in taxes. If now you have come to the conclusion that it is too much, you have only to say so.

Do you realize that this conference on the limitation of armament which President Harding called arose fundamentally out of the circumstance that all of the so-called big nations are paying more than they can afford to pay by way of preparation for war?

The endeavor to find a formula to limit armaments is another way of saying that the nations are trying to find a way to save money. Since the war the great powers are all living beyond their means. All of them are in debt. All of them, except ourselves, owe more than they can pay. In all of them, including the United States, government expenses are running beyond government income. A nation can no more stand that sort of thing than a private person or a private business.

If you will devote a half hour or an hour every evening to thinking about and talking about public business you will be amazed at the prompt response you will get. If there is any question you want to ask, write to your congressman or to either one of your senators. That will cost you two cents for a postage stamp, and it won't cost him anything to reply, for his letters go through the mails free. That is one way of helping to remedy the present condition.

An Arms Cache in Crater.

A weapon storehouse in the immense crater of extinct Haleakala, where the natives of Maui many years ago made their last stand against the all-conquering king of Hawaii, has been discovered, according to Emil A. Berndt, a business man of Honolulu, says a dispatch to the Cincinnati Times-Star.

Mr. Berndt says each of the three white men with knowledge of the cave stumbled across it when wandering aimlessly about after losing their way in the crater. He reports that it contains crude stone hatchets, immense quantities of slingshot stones, spearheads and other implements of ancient warfare.

Midsummer frocks you make in a day

DAILY printed crepes de Chine, gingham, and linens are soon at the country clubs this Midsummer, made up into straight little Russian frocks like this.

We have fascinating new designs and gay color combinations in these materials, that reflect the Roumanian and Russian influences now dominant.

And new patterns that have just come in, for these smart Midsummer dresses. With the Deltor to show you just how everything goes, you can have one of these new dresses at the end of a single day! Even women who have never sewed before are amazed at how easy the Deltor makes it.

Stop in at the pattern department to-day and select one or two of the new designs.

Bank Service - - - What it Means to You

Before this bank could give its patrons even the smallest service, thousands of dollars were invested in Capital, other dollars put into safe and vault equipment to safeguard the interests of depositors; then more dollars spent to install mechanical and bookkeeping equipment, all to secure for our patrons accurate and prompt service.

Added to this there is a personal service. Our officers are on duty day after day, not only that you may receive helpful service from our equipment, but also the advantages of their time, experience and personal attention.

HERALD WANT ADS BRING HOME THE BACON

It Costs You Money

Every day you delay in placing your goods before the public is costing you money.

True, everyone may know you're in business—know where your store is, but they do not have the time to run to your store to find out about the new things you are showing, about the special bargains you are offering and the hundred and one other things that make your store an interesting place to visit.

Many people may be going past your store every day to buy something you could sell them at a lower price than they are paying—and why? The other fellow invited them to buy—that's all. You didn't.
