BOUGHT MOONSHINE, AND GOT STEWED $15 AND 10 DAYS

James Canoy, an elderly man from the Willamette valley drew a $15 fine and a 10-day jail sentence in Judge Cornett's court yesterday for being found sitting in his car on the Willow creek road Sunday, dead to the world and with a pint bottle of moonshine in his pocket. The liquor was evidently bad stuff as only one good drink had been taken from the bottle and that had put Canoy entirely out of business. The jail sentence was suspended. Canoy came up here to look for a job trucking wheat but not finding work was ready to go home. He said he met a fellow on the road Sunday who sold him the liquor but declared he could not identify the bootlegger.

"That's mighty lucky for that bootlegger," commented the court. "I'd just like to get a crack at a man who would sell such stuff as that must have been."

The authorities were notified but so far nothing has been seen or heard of the bandits.—Umatilla Spokesman.

FOREST NEWS FROM THE GURDANE DISTRICT

The Gurdane Base Line Trail has been completed to Brown Prairie, making a completed trail for nearly nine miles. The brush is being piled and will be burnt as soon as the weather conditions make it safe. The entire trail has been constructed on a grade that could be followed should the trail later be widened into a road and graded for cars and at the same time has closely followed section lines.

A new lookout station has been erected upon the top of Arbuckle mountain. The station consists of a platform seven and a half feet square enclosed by a railing placed on the top of a large fir tree. The platform is ninety feet from the ground and is supported in the tree by a steel crow's nest frame. A new fire finder has been placed. Homer Landers is the lookout man at Arbuckle and is much pleased with his new quarters—except when a strong wind sweeps across the top of the mountain.

A band of sheep belonging to Guy Boyer of Heppner piled in the Rush creek region and sixty-three were killed.

Several fire alarms had the forest officers of the district on horseback several times last week. Two of the alarms proved genuine. A small fire was discovered and suppressed about two miles southwest of the Gurdane sawmill, the other was on the west side of the Potamus below Brush creek. Both fires were caused by lightning.

It is planned to begin work on a new telephone line to extend from Ellis ranger station into the southern part of the district. A new administrative site will be laid out, probably on lower Matlock creek, and a horse pasture fenced. This improvement will greatly facilitate the administrative work of the district and will be a valuable link in the fire control system.
