In Conversation.

To guard against repeating a story to the same person is a point worth noting. The inclination to interrupt or correct others for inaccuracies must be controlled. Not only must we try to say the right thing in the right place, but leave unsaid the wrong thing at the tempting moment.

A Kind Wish.

When Jean went to her little neighbor's to visit she often talked to the grandmother of the house. "I have a grandmother, too," she would say, "but she's in heaven."

And she and the grandmother of the house were good friends until one day the grandmother was cross. She scolded the two little girls for leaving the screen door open, for walking in a flower bed and dropping crumbs on the floor.

The two youngsters sought refuge on the porch. Grandmother started to follow them there a little later, to try to make up. She realized the necessity of doing so, for when she reached the door she heard Jean say: "Ruth, I wish your grandmother was visitin' my grandmother today."

Still Shrouded in Mystery.

Mary and her little brother were playing in the back yard.

A worm came to play its humble part in their lives, too.

"Oh, Mary," he cried, suddenly. "I have found a worm!"

A robin looked enviously from a tree.

"Oh, Mary," the child exclaimed, "is a worm good luck? Say, Mary, is a worm good luck?"

Mary replied, but her voice was quiet, so that I do not know yet whether a worm is good luck or not.—Washington Star.

An average of one cood out of seven wants a husband with a salary of at least $5,000 a year, while one cood demanded a $20,000-a-year husband.

How Vermont Got Its Name.

The state of Vermont received its name from Verd and Mont, two French words meaning Green mountains. The name is said to have been bestowed by Samuel de Champlain when he saw from the lake, later called after him, green hills to the east.

BETTER SOLDIER THAN LOVER

Great Duke of Wellington Somewhat Awkward in His Courtship of Jenny Lind.

In his book of reminiscences, Arthur Coleridge, a great-nephew of the famous poet, gives an interesting account of Jenny Lind. He was her intimate friend for 29 years. He tells the following story of the prima donna and the duke of Wellington:

"In four months after her arrival in London the old warrior had become a captive to the enchantress. He courted the lady so ostentatiously as to rouse the jealousy of the Italian faction; his enthusiasm was rather awkward at times to the object of his homage. I have her own authority for saying that the duke always arrived early and seated himself in his box on a level with the stage. Directly he saw Jenny Lind he opened fire: 'Good evening, Miss Lind, how are you tonight? All right, I hope.' These well-meant utterances were a trifle out of place at the particular time, for the Lucia, Amina, or Daughter of the Regiment was always so absorbed in her part as to be out of touch with all outside influence."
