JAKE DEXTER ASPIRES TO HIGH FISTIC HONORS

In answer to the universal clamor for new faces to replace "the old familiar faces" in the ring and to the call sent out by the sporting world for more white hopes, a veritable young giant fresh from the grazing lands of Heppner last week stalked into this city.

Men marvelled at his size, bible students conjured up visions of their Goliath and little children saw in him a giant, who might have walked out of the pages of their fairy story.

Jake Dexter, member of the fighting Dexter family of Heppner, had heard the call for fighters and strengthened with the determination to batter his way to the top, he signed a 10 year contract with J. O'Neill, veteran wrestler and trainer, for some time a resident of this city.

O'Neill, who had heard of Dexter, has watched him carefully for several years. Realizing that a big man does not necessarily make a big fighter, O'Neill picked his man with caution and having picked him will spare neither time nor expense to line him up with the best heavyweights of the day.

Big Jake is 24 years of age, weighs 272 solid pounds, is agile, good natured and married. His hands hang from his powerful arms like two choice Swift's Premium Hams and contain an effective sleep producing poison.

He has never used tobacco, alcohol tea or coffee. In the past year he has grown one-fourth of an inch, which shows that he is still a "growing boy." His father weighed 265 pounds, while his mother tips the beam at 250 pounds.

He comes from a family of rough and ready fighters, whose fame is scattered throughout the Heppner country. And Heppner has long been recognized as a city of fighting men.

Jake is jovial and has a deep, booming voice that rumbles of convivial fellowship. He is ambitious to get into the ring with the best fighting talent in the country and will train hard toward that end.

"The first thing I wanted to do, as I remember," Jake said, "was to fight. I have my greatest difficulty finding some one to spar with me. They are all afraid of my size."

A glance at Jake's massive structure and one can quickly understand why he has difficulty getting anyone to oppose him.

O'Neill, who has wrestled with many of the champion wrestlers and who has trained a score of successful mat and mit men, has been in communication with Tex Rickard, nationally known fight promoter for some time regarding Dexter.

It is interesting to note that Dexter is in many ways a larger man than Jess Willard. Willard is taller and has a slightly longer reach, but Dexter possesses a greater chest measurement and expansion.

The funeral of Geo. A. Miller of Highview ranch, near Ceell, was held at Ione on Sunday.

The members of Ione and Morgan lodges of Oddfellows had charge of the burial and the impressive Oddfellows service for a deceased brother was used at the graveside in the presence of a very large number of people who represented the great respect their late friend held in Morrow county.

A handsome wreath of carnations arranged in the shape of the emblem of the Oddfellows was placed at the head of the grave.

The wreath was given by the members of the lodge. Our deepest sympathies are extended to the bereaved widow and son.

Clifford Henriksen of the Moore ranch, near Heppner, spent Wednesday with his brother, Oral at Ewing.

R. E. Duncan of Busy Bee took his father to The Dalles hospital on Wednesday. Mr. Duncan has been in poor health for several months and has decided to try treatment at the hospital. We hope he will soon be with us again.

Messrs. William and Oscar Chandler of Willow Creek ranch, and also Oral Henriksen of Ewing were doing business in Heppner on Saturday.

Harold Abalt and Johnnie Schofield of Rhea Siding were looking up the signs of Ione Friday.

Mrs. Dell Ward of Heppner is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Farnsworth at Rhea.

Marion Hanserivaeh of Arlington was calling on Mrs. Geo. Krebs at the Last Camp on Wednesday.

Minor & Krebs are busy these days among their lambs. About two hundred arrived during the past week; all in fine condition.

"Mac," the weather man, was almost threatened with instant death from the Ceell community for giving us one bad day's weather, but Mac will be allowed to live as he waved his weather wand again and we are now having the sun shining once more.

McENTIRE-GRAY

Mr. Michael McEntire, of Ceell, and Miss Margaret Gray, of Providence, Rhode Island, were united in marriage at St. Patrick's church this morning.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for Portland where they will spend a few days before returning to this county.

Mr. McEntire is one of the well known firm of McEntire Bros., of Ceell. The bride arrived from her eastern home only a few days ago. Many friends and well wishes will unite in the usual felicitations.

AGED CITIZEN OF LEXINGTON PASSES AWAY

B. M. Booher, a pioneer of the Lexington district, died suddenly last Saturday morning of heart trouble.

After arising, Mr. Booher went to the barn to attend to a few chores and not returning at the usual time, his wife went to look for him and found him lying dead in the barnyard. He was about 77 years old.

Deceased leaves his widow and three daughters, Mrs. Harvey Parkins, of Ione; Mrs. Tom Beymer, of Lexington, and Mrs. Crow, of Armstrong, B. C.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at Lexington.

Matt Halvorson, extensive farmer of the Ione country, was a business visitor here Saturday.

RANCH HOME NEAR SPRAY IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Cass A. Stimpson, in Kahler basin, near Spray, burned to the ground Saturday morning, February 3rd, with practically all its contents.

The family was at breakfast when the fire was discovered and the flames were then so far advanced that only a few articles were saved.

The loss totaled $5,000, with only $600 insurance.

Mr. Simpson and family are occupying a neighbor's house and are ready making preparations to rebuild their home in the spring.

FOR SALE

A fine bronze gobbler and eight turkey hens. Enquire of W. H. HERREN.

Miss Nettie Mason and John Lundy were married in Heppner last week, thereby giving the "wise" ones a surprise.

The bride is the owner of one of the large ranches of Morrow county and is well and favorably known to all.

Mr. Lundy has been her ranch manager for several years. We extend best wishes and congratulations. —Ione Independent.
