Hedrick, superintendent of the Heppner schools, and Prof. Tucker, principal of the Lexington schools, were at Stanfield Saturday night attending the high school debate between the Hermiston and Pendleton teams. Pendleton won the contest by an unanimous decision. Mr. Hedrick drove home Sunday through the heavy wind storm and seemed to be pretty well fed up on that sort of recreation when he reached Heppner. He says the wind was blowing all of a 50-mile gale and the sand seemed to be all in motion.

COUNTY CLERK WATERS OFFERS RESIGNATION
County Judge Campbell and Commissioners Davidson and Benge received a jolt last Wednesday evening as they were about to wind up the session of county court when County Clerk Waters handed the judge a letter containing his formal resignation from the position he has so long and so acceptably filled. The action was entirely unexpected by the members of the court although Mr. Waters has had the matter under consideration for some time. He asked to have the resignation take effect on April 1, or as soon thereafter as his successor can be appointed and qualified. The matter was taken under advisement by the court and will not be acted upon until the regular April meeting.

Mr. Waters has filled the office of county clerk for about 8 years and had come to be regarded by the people of the county as a permanent fixture. His high efficiency, courteous attention to callers at the office, sterling integrity and pleasing personality has endeared him to all who know him and that means about everybody in Morrow county.

Mr. Crandall, who audits the books every year, remarked to the writer recently that he considered the clerk's office in this county an exception among the counties of the state in the orderly and systematic manner in which the business is conducted.

While Mr. Waters has not announced his future plans in detail, it is understood that he will locate in Portland where his family has resided for some time while his son is attending school there. Certain it is, however, that wherever he locates that community will gain a mighty fine citizen.

The court has made no announcement as to who Mr. Waters' successor will be but from expressions heard on all sides it would seem that the promotion of Deputy Clerk Gay M. Anderson to the vacancy would meet with very general approval. Mr. Anderson has been deputy in the office during almost the entire term of Mr. Waters' service and his long experience and training under Mr. Waters should make him the logical successor.

Junior Stunts at Star Pleasing
To begin it all, the juniors started it, but the seniors helped them quite a bit when it came to the advertising. The juniors needed money for the annual banquet. For a long time the question seemed unanswerable, but someone suggested stunts and stunts it was.

Last Tuesday night they presented their long-prepared program to a large audience. They had planned to put on a short play, but the books did not arrive soon enough.

The first number was the "Modern Ford"—in other words four chairs, the hood of an old engine, four tin pans for noise, a piano stool for the wheel and four "huskies" for tires. Alvin Boyd, the farmer, seemed to have a time getting the "gosh-dang thing" to go, and after all his efforts to fasten a plow share on the engine, he was rewarded by four "blow-outs."

Readings by Helen Wells and Elaine Sigbee were well received as were the violin solos by Stanley Peterson. Six of the juniors also favored with popular songs.

The finale! It was worth the money just to see the darkies proceed with the Virginia reel to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw." They also sang "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

As a whole the stunts were well done, showing that they had practiced much. They are especially grateful to Mr. Sigbee for the use of the building.

In the meantime the seniors had planned a "dress up day. Something "wild" was suggested, and they appeared as Gypsies. The bright colors of the costumes attracted much attention and, although they were mistaken for juniors many times, they advertised the show. The seniors think, however, that part of the credit is due them (especially Phil) for the amusements before the show started.
