Miss Helen Harratt left for Portland Wednesday where she assisted with other O. A. C. girls at the fashion show and cooking demonstration at the Metropole hotel in Portland.

Mary Abbott, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Abbott, sr, who underwent an operation for appendicitis last Tuesday, has recovered rapidly from the operation and expects to leave the hospital today.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Spencer spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hughes, on Butler creek, returning Monday morning. Mr. Spencer, who has been in poor health for some time, is now improving.

Robert Vanhorn, a former resident of this county, but for several years residing in Hamilton, Colorado, was in town Friday on business. Mr. Vanhorn brought his mother's body to Lexington for burial some time ago and will soon return to his Colorado home.

Vic Groshen left Monday for Fos-sall where he has been engaged to build a new stone hotel to take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire and also to build an addition to the Fosall Mercantile Co. building. He says the jobs will last about seven months.

The local chapter Order Eastern Star held a special meeting Friday evening when several new members were admitted by initiation. Following the meeting a banquet was given in the dining room which closed the festivities of the evening.

Members of Lexington Rebekah lodge were hosts at a county convention of that degree last Friday evening when a large number went down from Heppner. A fine supper was served at 6:00 o'clock, after which a lodge session and social evening was pleasantly spent.

Sam E. Van Vac-tor came out from The Dalles Wednesday evening to look after legal business at the special term of circuit court held here Friday and Saturday. Mr. Van Vac-tor says he always enjoys a return trip to Heppner to meet his many old friends here.

Ruth Chapter, No. 12, Order Eastern Star, will hold a special meeting Wednesday evening, March 28, 8:00 o'clock, at Masonic hall for the purpose of electing an assistant con-ductress. This office was made vacant by the removal of Mrs. Clarence Schriener to Portland.

Ed Keller, auctioneer in charge of the Berry sale last Wednesday, reports only fair attendance and prices on that occasion. The cold, windy weather militated against the sale, but most of the property advertised was disposed of. Mr. Keller is making a specialty of auction - also and is building up a good business.

Clyde Gentry, of Lexington, who was in the Moore hospital for some time, was able to leave for home Friday.

Mrs. Emmett Cochran has returned to Heppner after an extended visit in Portland where she spent most of the winter. Mrs. Cochran says there is no place like Heppner and no folks like Heppner folks and she will be content to stay at home for a while now and enjoy her neighbors.

Sheriff George McDuffee, who recently underwent a serious operation at Hot Lake for the removal of gall stones, surprised his family Sunday evening by walking in on them after the train arrived. Mr. McDuffee recovered from the operation so rapidly that he was able to leave the hospital several days ahead of schedule.

Miss Norma Frederic, who has been with the local force of the Pacific Telephone Co. for a number of years in the capacity of cashier, has been promoted to a similar position in Eugene and left for that place last Wednesday morning. Miss Frederic is one of Heppner's most popular native daughters and her friends all rejoice in her merited promotion.

The new Christian church will be dedicated Sunday, April 15, according to present plans with an all day service. The services will be assisted in by Mr. Floyd Ross who will conduct an extended revival service following the dedicatory ceremonies. Mr. Ross is head of the Ross Evangelistic company and it is understood the church has entered into a contract with Mr. Ross for an extended series of meetings.

Miss Margaret Woodson, a freshman at the University of Oregon, has been honored by a place on the 'varsity debating team and will help represent Oregon in a debate with the University of Washington team at Seattle April 20th. Miss Woodson is one of the youngest members of her class and her selection was made strictly on merit. She represented Heppner high school in the debating contest at Salem last year.

James Adkins, former Heppner boy and son of Mrs. Mattie Adkins of this city, was married in Portland recently to Miss Alma Wills, of that city. The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church with Dr. Bowman, pastor of the church, officiating. The young couple will reside in Portland where Mr. Adkins has for several years held a good position with the Albers Milling company.

The home service committee of the Morrow county Red Cross, of which S. E. Notson is chairman, has succeeded with the co-operation of the Salem chapter, in putting through the soldiers bonus of the late Ben Moore, thereby securing for Mr. Moore's mother the sum of $180. Mr. Moore was a veteran of the world war and served through some of the fiercest battles of the war. He was wounded and gassed and after a general breakdown, died in Portland several months ago.

While driving from Heppner to Lexington Friday evening, Elmer Slooem, O. W. R. & N. agent at Lexington, met several cars returning to Heppner from a lodge meeting at Lexington. One of the drivers, Mr. Slooem says, failed to dim his glaring lights in passing and Mr. Slooem was so blinded that he drove off the grade. Fortunately he went over at a place where earth had been dragged up from the ditch when the grade was being made and that saved him from turning over. Ralph Benzo came along and helped Mr. Slooem out of the ditch with no damage done.

NEW STAGE MODES

Players' Gowns, the Creations of Great Dressmakers.

Leading Artists of Country Make Study of Producing Costumes That Supply Inspiration.

The theater has become a factor of real consequence in fashions. Here lovers of the beautiful in dress, as well as students of fashion, find many things that are extremely interesting to them. Here, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune, real inspiration is to be had, for, in addition to the players' gowns, which are always the creations of great dress-makers, one has the inspiration of various beautiful color effects.

The greatest artists of the country give of their best to create beautiful costumes for the stage. Indications of future styles are seen in the theaters before they appear anywhere else. Here the new models are launched.

For a very long time the French theater has exerted a potent influence on fashions. The premiere of a new play is a gathering place for those interested in styles. They go to learn about dress as well as to be entertained. The American stage, while having some effect on dress, has not, until recently, exerted as much influence on fashions as the French theater.

There is an unusual amount of charm in the wide-skirted evening frock. A slip of silver cloth is veiled by a lace skirt with overdrappings of tulle, studded with delicately colored embroideries. The twisted girde is of silver cloth. This is the type of costume which Lanvin so successfully creates for the many French actresses whom she dresses exclusively.

It will be pleasing to older women to know that the popular belief that this type of dress is only suitable to a slender young woman of graceful build has passed and that many of the greatest French dressmakers are advocating it for the older woman.

The shoes are particularly interesting and very beautiful. The Colonial slipper, with its large tongue often with an ornamental buckle, is worn with this dress. The slipper is of brocaded silver cloth, with a tongue of plaited lace and an elaborate rhinestone buckle.
