CECIL

Louis Montague, E. Sickle and "Sox" Morgan, all of Arlington, were visiting among their friends in the Cecil vicinity Sunday.

Geo. Branders, who has been working at Butterby Flats for some months, left on Sunday for a short vacation and at the same time intends to have the vocal chords tuned up ready for work again while herding his flocks when in the mountains for their summer range.

Phil Brady, from his ranch Athlone Cottage near Ione, was calling on his Cecil friends Sunday.

The Fourmile school closed Friday for the summer months and the teacher, Miss Minnie Reis, left on Saturday for her home in Arlington.

W. T. Matlock, from his ranch near Heppner, was doing business in the Cecil district on Friday.

"The Mayor," being out of work, took on the role of chaperone and escorted Misses Mildred Henriksen and Annie C. Hynd and Herb Hynd and Elvin Schaffer to Heppner on Tuesday to attend the play given by students of the Heppner high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Dell Ward, of Heppner, and Mrs. Karl Farnsworth, of Rhea Siding, left Cecil on Thursday for Mounment to visit Mr. Jenkins who is seriously ill.

Messrs. Henry Krebs, J. W. Osborn, Walter Pope and Arthur Turner were all doing business at the county seat during the past week.

J. J. McEntire, of Killarney, made a hurried trip to Heppner on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Imus, from their ranch near Ione, were doing business in Cecil on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Tyler and family, from Rhea, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Streeter at Cecil.

Miss A. C. Lowe of the Highway House, accompanied by Miss Margaret Krebs of the Last Camp, were visiting at the home of Mrs. H. G. Smith at Ione on Friday.

Messrs. Earl Weatherford and Charles Porter, of Rock Creek, called on their old friend, Mr. Peter Bauernfiend at Cecil on Saturday before going to investigate oil springs which are supposed to have made their appearance near Wells Springs about fourteen miles east of Cecil.

Mr. and Mrs. Oral Henriksen and children, of Ewing, were visiting with Miss A. C. Lowe at Cecil on Saturday.

Cecil is coming into the first rank of Oregon as fast as she can. Several of the creek ranchers are branching off in all sorts of products. We can boast of sheep, cattle and bees. High class Jersey and Holstein stock is being shipped in to say nothing of the fine breed of turkeys to be seen on several ranches. We notice Geo. Henriksen's strawberry patch is beginning to look well and we presume that is one reason why Miss Mildred Henriksen had such a ferocious bull dog shipped in from the east.

W. H. Chandler of Willow Creech ranch received 800 day-old chicks and is still to invest in more.

Geo. W. Wilson, "The Mayor's" right hand man, was called to Heppner on Friday on account of the serious illness of his father.

Tuesday, May 8, 1923, at Cecil the heat registered 92 degrees in the shade. By midnight a heavy thunder storm and good fall of rain cooled things down and farmers are looking more cheerful at their crop prospects.

H. J. Streeter and Arthur Turner are now busy working against time on the Fairview ranch for J. W. Osborn. They are giving their horses a rest and are plowing with their caterpillars.

Clifton Davidson from the Hamilton ranch is visiting at the home of Oral Henriksen for a few days.

of all we have Frances Doherty as Senator McCorkle, and Reliance Moore as Miss Loganberry. Don't forget the date.

The student body voted at the last meeting to purchase pins for those students who participated in debate. These will be small gold H's.

The primary election was held last Thursday afternoon and the following nominated; Carl Cason, Elmer Bucknum, president; Elaine Sigsbee, Paul Aiken, vice president; Marguerite Hisler, Mary Crawford, secretary; Reid Buselek, treasurer; Austin Smith, editor-in-chief of Hehlich; Bernice Woodson, business manager. The general election will be held next Thursday.

THIS FISHERMAN PROVED IT

Paul Hendrix, who operates the Intertype and does the official bossing and—cussing—around the Herald shop has been telling some whacking big fish stories every Monday morning since the season opened but as the gentleman came from Texas where fish and oil stories grow on the mesquite bushes, we treated the matter kindly but firmly and refused to enthuse. Last Monday morning, however, Paul not only told another one bigger and better than before but he proved it by leaving a pan of trout at the Herald home. The specimens were certainly beauties—and big ones, and with the true chivalry of all Texans, Paul admitted that his little daughter, Norma, caught the biggest of the lot, with Mrs. Hendrix a close second. Warden Albee need not worry about any of that catch being of illegal size unless they have a law protecting whales and if any other angler wants to beat the Hendrix record and prove it in the same way the field is open to all comers. Who will be the next lucky man to be made famous?

The above, from the pen of the o. m., is simply another verification of the truthfulness of the old adage that the nearest route to a man's heart is via the stomach. No achievement of this operator—even the fact that he hails from the pine-cone district of the Lone Star state—would have inspired the editor to devote time in the preparation of or space in his valuable sheet, to the hired hand. This foot-note is merely intended as a tip to those who may be pining for notoriety.—That Same Operator.

GIRLS INCLUDED IN SCHOLARSHIP OFFER

C. R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific R. R. Co., has sent out the following information relative to the agricultural scholarship offer made by that company:

The provision as to eligibility for Union Pacific scholarships for county winners in boys and girls work, heretofore established in the fifteen counties in the state of Oregon traversed by Union Pacific System lines, is hereby modified and extended to include girls as well as boys who may participate in county club work, and in addition, the fourth section of the plan as stated in announcement of June 15, 1922, is amended as follows:

"Ten acres of wheat, five acres of corn, one acre of potatoes, one or more colonies of bees, one pure bred or baby beef calf, four sheep, one litter of swine consisting of not less than four, or twenty-five poultry, shall be grown by each person entering the above competition."

The scholarship plan as above extended will apply to 1923 club work and subsequently, unless otherwise later announced.

The Union Pacific offers its hearty congratulations to all participants in this agricultural club work and hopes that this enlargement of the scope of the competition will create materially added interest in the co-operative extension work of the state college of agriculture.
