

FLOUNCES OF 1880

Decoration Is Applied Anywhere Between the Waistline and the Hem.

Last autumn the assertion was heard on all sides: there is nothing new in the styles of women's clothes. This statement, asserts a fashion writer in the New York Tribune, was an unfair criticism of the work of artists who are constantly laboring not only for the betterment of women's dress, but to give fresh impetus to all trades and industries pertaining thereto.

As far back as last summer clever designers advanced many new ideas which were to bring about striking changes in women's dress. The ideas at that time were kept exclusive but as time went on they took root and their fruits are now seen everywhere.

Distinct and definite fashion notes are apparent in fabrics, in designs for dresses, suits and in millinery. The 1880 silhouette was brought forward last autumn, but not stressed. Now the flounces of 1880 are having a re-incarnation in this season's dresses.

Skirts of 1923 may be flounced anywhere between the waistline and the hem. Flounces appear in unexpected places, such as on the front of the skirt only, directly over the hips at either side. Skirts may be flounced all around in straight lines, or wide frills may slant low on one hip and high on the other.

Every dressmaker now has his or her own version of the ruffle. A white crepe de chine frook has flounces in front which begin midway between the hips and the knees. Narrow lace and tucks trim the pockets, the collar and the cuffs of this frook.

Three silhouettes in evening gowns so far are sanctioned: The 1880 silhouette, with bustle or bustle effect of big crisp sash bows. The skirt is draped at the back of the bustle, which is sometimes held out by wire framework. The Venetian or 1830 silhouette of hourglass shape, which finds various interpretations, many delightfully modern. The slender silhouette, which is the most general, and is varied ad infinitum.

Deauville Kerchief Has a Ribbon Rival

The Deauville kerchief has a ribbon rival which serves all the purposes of the bandanna, and has some special features all its own.

The ribbon scarf is made of four pieces of wide ribbon which are mitered at the corners by double hemstitching or fagotting. The opening formed by the four pieces is large enough to go over the head. It can be worn as a square, can be pulled around so that one point comes down in the front, with both shoulders and the back adorned with the other points. The shoulder points can both be knotted, or only one point tied. The clever-fingered woman can make six or eight different adjustments of the ribbon berth.

When worn square across the front the side pieces can be folded over the front piece which goes across the chest in such a way as to form a vestee and collar. This is a special feature that the bandanna cannot boast unless it is cut out in the center.

Flowers of Leather for Dress Trimming

Flower ornaments made of metal-finished leather in single motifs or in wreaths are used on the new spring dresses for street and afternoon wear. Roses as well as fruits are made of colored leathers which are hand-painted and gilded. The wreaths frequently serve as girdles. Other leather ornaments are studded with steel and jet. Colored leather girdles studded with jet and steel nailheads are used on dressy frocks, the girdles sometimes continuing to form an ornament for the dress.

HEAD WORK THAT COUNTED

Indian's Brand Would Seem to Have Been Superior to the White Man's.

A chief of a tribe of Canadian Indians was looking idly on while some Englishmen were hard at work improving property newly acquired from the tribe. "Why don't you work?" said the supervisor to the chief. "Why you no work yourself?" "I work head work," replied the white man, touching his forehead. "But come here and kill this calf for me, and I'll pay you." The Indian stood still for a moment, apparently deep in thought, and then he went off to kill the calf. "Why don't you finish the job?" presently asked the supervisor, seeing the man stand with folded arms over the unskinned, undressed carcass. "You say you pay me to kill calf," was the reply. "Calf dead, me want money." The white man smiled, and handed the Indian an extra coin to go on with the work. "How is it," asked the Englishman one day, after a series of such one-sided dealings, "that you so often get the better of me?" "I work head work!" solemnly replied the man of the woods.—Exchange.

Why Paths Are Crooked.
The reason most paths are crooked was explained the other day by a Lynbrook commuter, who ever since the Spanish war has been cutting across lots to catch the 7:42.

"Did you ever see a straight path?" he asked. "There may be some, but there's none in Lynbrook. What makes 'em crooked is the fact that one leg of man is shorter than the other. If he wandered aimlessly he would go around in a circle, but having his home as an objective he soon corrects his position. This makes a curve in the original path.

"Then, too, when he starts making the path he will stumble over the rough places. Others follow in his footsteps and a curve develops. A 'straight and narrow' path is never formed naturally and it would be a hard road to walk in."—New York Sun.

First Hungarian Income Tax.

Hungary has at length imposed a tax upon incomes, depending upon salaries or dividends earned. Weekly income of from 1,500 to 35,000 crowns pay at the annual rate of from 5 to 2,000 crowns weekly. Above 325,000 crowns the tax is 7 per cent for each 1,000 crowns. On monthly salaries of from 5,000 crowns to 140,000 crowns the tax varies from 20 to 10,500 crowns monthly. Joint stock companies pay from 16 to 26 per cent up to profits of 30 per cent, with a higher tax if profits exceed 40 per cent. Insurance companies pay one-thousandth of their incomes from policies.

Tall Sunflower.

Judge Charles B. Montgomery, "the sunflower king," has heard from the 11,345 packages of seed he sent out last year, reports the Kansas City Times. The tallest sunflower was grown in Sanger, Cal. It was 20 1/2 feet high. The "king" raised the largest head, 16 1/2 pounds. The second to this, 16 1/4 pounds, was raised in Bernice, Neb. The "king" raised the most heads on one stalk, 120 fully developed blossoms.

Radio Stations in Arctic.

The Canadian government is planning a chain of radio stations, extending right into the Arctic circle, which are now being completed. Six stations are planned, five of which will be in the Northwest territories and another at Dawson. The stations on or near the Mackenzie river will be located at Fort Smith, Fort Resolution, Fort Simpson, Fort Norman and Fort McPherson.—Scientific American.

Male Quartet Feature of the Garner Organization

The Singing of the Male Quartet Which Is Included in the Company of Jubilee Singers on the Last Day Will Be Musical Feature of Chautauqua.

George R. Garner, who heads the Garner Jubilee Company, and male quartet, is the possessor of a wonderful tenor voice and is generally considered to be one of the finest colored artists in all America. He has gathered together a group of distinguished colored vocalists, all of whom are either college or conservatory graduates. His organization has attracted attention in the large musical journals of the country. The Musical News of Chicago recently had this to say: "The Garner organization has established a secure place in the world of music and entertainment that is unparalleled in the annals of music. It is the leader in its line. Mr. Garner's singing at the Ziegfeld Theater Saturday thrilled the large audience that gathered to hear this sterling artist." The male quartet is said to be one of the finest in the country and their rendition of the old plantation songs and Southern melodies is superb. You will be surprised at the large repertoire of the Garners, for it includes many standard and operatic selections.
