

LOCAL NEWS

Fred Tash and family have returned from a short visit spent with his parents at Walla Walla.

Mrs. R. B. Wilcox and Mrs. Hallick Stange were visitors in town Monday from their homes near Lone.

Mrs. Elsie Stevenson is in a hospital at The Dalles recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Jim Carty, sheep king of Juniper canyon, was a business visitor here for a few days during the week.

Miss Gladys Benge has been elected teacher in the third and fourth grades of the Lexington schools for the coming year.

Mrs. John B. Cason, who has been visiting relatives in Wheeler and Gilliam counties for several weeks, has returned home.

H. A. Lundergin, livestock specialist, was here last Thursday conferring with County Agent Morse on the livestock situation in this county.

County Agent Morse has rented the Gentry house on Gale street and Mrs. Morse will soon join him here and as soon as they get settled at housekeeping Mr. Morse thinks he will begin living again.

Ed Bucknum is home from Fossil for a few days where he has been following his trade as plasterer. He expects to return shortly to finish another job in a building nearing completion. Fossil seems to be enjoying quite a building boomlet this summer.

Mrs. Cliff Sims and children and Miss Lulu Hager, who have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. A. D. McMurdo for some time, expect to return to Salem in a few days when Mrs. Sims will prepare to move to Medford to reside.

Henry Aiken and family, who spent the winter at Salt Lake City, have returned to Heppner and will remain for some time. Mr. Aiken is in the employ of the Singer Sewing Machine Co. and will work this territory during his stay here.

Ollie Young, a seventh grade pupil in the Pine City school, has been awarded a prize in an essay contest in which the evils of the smoking habit was the subject. The award was made by the Oregon state W. C. T. U.

Martin Reid reports that he is furnishing the lumber for a big wheat storage platform which is being erected by the Farmers Elevator Co., of Jordan Siding. The platform is made necessary to handle the big crop now being harvested in that section.

Mr. Rawley M. Metcalf of Portland and Miss Alice Gertrude Cox of Heppner were married Monday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lizzie Cox. Rev. W. O. Livingstone performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore left Monday for Ritter springs where they expect to spend a month for the benefit of his health. They may continue their vacation by a trip to Portland before returning to Heppner.

E. R. Jackman, of O. A. C., was here during the week working with County Agent Morse certifying pure wheat for seed. The field work was completed Monday and while the final check has not been completed Mr. Morse estimates that approximately 3000 acres of grain has been certified.

Charles Notson went up to the Willard Herren camp on upper Willow creek yesterday to spend a month rustivating and helping to look after Mr. Herren's numerous rabbit family. And, by the way, day by day the rabbits are becoming numerouser and numerouser.

Word was received here Sunday announcing the death at Bend of Mrs. Mable Owen Winters, which occurred July 10th. Mrs. Winters was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Creed Owen of this city and besides her parents and sisters she leaves two small children at Bend. Announcement of funeral arrangements has not yet been made.

CHASE OLD AS THE WORLD

Deep-Laid Instinct of Man and Woman is to Go in Pursuit of the Opposite Sex.

Even the pursuit of the innocent butterfly reveals the age-old instinct of man and woman to give chase to the opposite sex. An acute observer at the University of Kansas has noted that the men and women students in certain "bology" classes, while chasing gayly flitting butterflies, give cries that unconsciously portray their different viewpoints.

A mixed group of students was roaming the campus on Mount Oread the other day, nets in hand, ready to capture certain butterflies as specimens for classwork. Several butterflies were spied down by a big lilac hedge. The students gave chase.

"Oh, catch him, catch him," cried several of the girls excitedly, as they dashed off after a brilliantly colored victim.

"There she goes." "Get her." "She's a beaut," sounded out male voices, as the men tore out after a fluttering prospect.

It has been said that "after man came woman." But surely it is equally true that "after woman goes man." —Kansas City Star.

Mulberry Tree Slow to Leave.

Here and there in Detroit you may see trees that are not yet in leaf, although all other trees may be in full foliage, remarks the News of that city. These laggards are mulberry trees, probably the slowest of all the more common trees to bud and come to leaf in springtime. As a compensation for this, however, they remain green longer and retain their leaves later in autumn, than their sisters and brothers among the trees. When other trees have been shorn of their leaves by the frost the mulberry is still full-leaved and green. The mulberry fruit, maturing in late summer, is sometimes white, the other variety dark purple, and shaped like the blackberry. Not many housewives make use of them, as they are flat-tasting, alone, and useable only when mixed with another fruit. Birds get most of them, anyway, and robins especially love to feast on them.

King of the Raggickers.

Retore is king of the raggickers of Paris. He is sometimes known as the "Duke of the Morning Sidewalk." The raggickers delve into the garbage cans fling the walks early in the morning before the crowds are out. Many of them carry lanterns. Pieces of cloth, buttons, bones, wisps of hair, bottles, and lemon peel they pick out of the cans, consigning the articles to bags carried over the shoulder. The lemon peel is sold to be used in the making of strip. Bones are used in the making of carbon. Bottles are sold to the druggists. Wisps of hair are manufactured into "rats" for millady. Retore, the king, is a czar among the raggickers. He allots to each a certain number of streets and collects his daily toll from the profits of his subjects.

Would Make an Artificial Volcano.

Nature failed to provide Glacier National park with a volcano, so oil men of Shelby, Mont., contemplate piping natural gas from the Kevin-Sunburst oil field, 90 miles away, to a park mountain, where they will sink a shaft from summit to base, connect it up and touch it off. It is pointed out that little use is now being made of the 13,000,000 cubic feet of gas which is produced daily by two wells in the oil field. The promoters of this novel scheme explain that the intense heat generated by the burning of a large quantity of gas in the mountain shaft would soon melt the rock formation to such an extent that a surprisingly real-little volcanic crater would be formed.

Where His Thoughts Were.

John's mother was helping him dress for Sunday school and at the same time questioning him about his Sunday school lesson. "John, what must one do to be saved?" she asked. The small boy's thoughts were down at the river, where he hoped to go fishing soon, and he answered promptly: "Learn to swim."

S. E. Notson is suffering from an attack of lumbago, having to leave his office Monday afternoon and go to his home. Mr. Notson and Sheriff McDuffee had arranged to leave in a few days for Vancouver, B. C., to attend a meeting of law enforcement officers of the Pacific Northwest and both are hoping Mr. Notson will recover speedily and that the trip can be made.

The Herald is still badly handicapped this week by the continued illness of Mr. Hendrix, operator and foreman in the mechanical department. He was able to be out Saturday and Sunday but Monday was unable to leave his bed. He is better this morning and will probably be all right again in a few days. Indulgence of our readers is asked for unavoidable shortcomings in the news columns.

Ladies Wear Display At Mrs. L. G. Herren Store

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, of San Francisco, were at Mrs. L. G. Herren's millinery store last Thursday and Friday with a splendid display of ladies' dresses and other garments which attracted the attention and interest of many Heppner ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman expect to be here again in September with another lot of similar goods and in the meantime Mrs. Herren is prepared to take orders for any such goods desired by her customers.

CONDON MEN LUCKY

Jas. D. Burns, Gerald Burns, Henry Shannon and John Cimmihyotti returned Friday from the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby. They were well pleased with their trip, more especially so as some lucky wagers on rounds allowed them to make the trip at the expense of some Dempsey fans.

Practically every Oregonian attending the fight at Shelby was surprised and astonished that the challenger remained on his feet, still fighting at the end of the fifteenth round. Almost every one expected that Dempsey would knock him out in from 5 to 6 rounds.

Gibbons who did not get a cent for fighting the champion, left the ring with a moral victory, to say the least, according to the Condon men who saw the fight.—Globe-Times.
