Adam Knoblock came to town Saturday just to tell the people how hot it was but after calling at the Herald office and setting in the breeze of an electric fan for a few minutes he changed the burden of his song and started for the court house singing "How Cool I Am." Mr. Knoblock says his wheat is a fine crop and he will begin harvesting about the 1st of August. The present price will keep him from getting rich too quick he asserts.

Ralph Finley, who is selling the Calkins seed wheat smut treating machines in this county, was in town Friday and reports business pretty good but money very scarce among the farmers who want machines for this year's seeding. Mr. Finley farms in the Alpine country and says his crop this year is only a fair average crop. Around 18 to 20 bushels per acre.
