Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Herbert Hynd, of Cecil, were in town Saturday afternoon doing some Christmas shopping, returning to their home in the evening. Mrs. Hynd is teaching the Cecil school this winter and for the present they are occupying the cottage at the school house.

When Christmas shopping, don't overlook Haylor. 34-35

Andrew Baird, of near Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, brought a pleasant Christmas surprise to his two daughters, Meadames C. C. Patterson and W. O. Hager, by dropping in on them unannounced the other evening for a Christmas visit. Mr. Baird visited his daughters here about seven years ago.

Ellis Minor was in from his Ione ranch Saturday and took his cousin Stanley Minor and his radio outfit home with him to spend Christmas. Stanley will "tune in" with the wide, wide world and woo all kinds of Christmas entertainment from the other and the Minor ranch will be strictly in the world events during the holiday season.

W. B. Tucker, of Blackhorse, was in town Saturday doing Christmas shopping. Some of Mr. Tucker's children have been sick with diphtheria recently and the home was under quarantine for some time, but all have recovered and the quarantine has been lifted. No other cases have developed in the neighborhood.

Miss Elizabeth Phelps arrived from Eugene Friday evening to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Phelps. Miss Phelps came in with some degree of splendor, being the only passenger on the Heppner limited, which, in effect, made it a special run for her benefit. Miss Phelps is a student at the University of Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lucas were in town from Lexington Saturday afternoon. Mr. Lucas is one Morrow county farmer who pleads guilty to making some money raising wheat this year. He had a 900-acre crop and sold early when the cereal brought 87 1/2 cents a bushel. "Yes, I made a little money all right," Fred admitted, "but," he qualified, "I didn't make quite enough to suit me."

J. D. Bauman was in from his ranch near Lexington Saturday afternoon, looking around for Christmas. Mr. Bauman, who is one of the most successful farmers in this section, thinks there is considerable bunk being talked and printed about the farmer and his problems and he has the idea that the farmer is the fellow who, ultimately, will have to solve his own problems in his own way and by his own efforts. Industry, thrift and cutting out a lot of foolishness will help some, he opines.
