Mrs. Miller, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Ray Moore, for some time, returned to Portland Friday to resume her work as saleslady in the Leibe store.

Dr. Fred Farrior went to Hermiston last week and spent a day or two there having dental work done. Doc says that is one line of home industry that he refuses to patronize.

Sam E. Van Vactor was here from The Dalles last Tuesday evening attending a meeting of the board of directors of the John Day Irrigation district for which he is the attorney. He returned to The Dalles Wednesday.

E. L. Crawford of Pullman, Wash., is visiting relatives and friends in this city. He and his family formerly resided here, but he is now engaged in farming in the Pullman country. He is a brother of Mrs. George Moore of this city.

R. B. Rice, former resident of this county and at one time owner of the "Artesian Well Ranch," north of Lexington, is here for a few days on business. Mr. Rice is now a resident of Spokane, where he is engaged in the garage and used car business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wheelhouse, of Arlington, and his sister, Mrs. Charles J. Amsos, of Rock Creek, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Shurtle Tuesday night. Mr. Wheelhouse was here attending a meeting of the directors of the John Day Irrigation district.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker returned last Tuesday evening from Wallowa where they went a few days, previously to attend the funeral of Mrs. Emma Dean Dice. Mrs. Dice was a former resident of Heppner and the mother of Mrs. O. G. Crawford, now residing at Wallowa.

E. T. Williams, proprietor of the Vendome hotel at Arlington, is building an addition to the hotel, giving 35 additional rooms to help take care of his growing business. It is understood that when the present addition is complete he will replace the old building with a new tile structure.

EPISCOPAL SERVICES—Archdeacon Goldie will be in Heppner Sunday, February 17, and will hold services at the Episcopal church both morning and evening at the regular hours. All are invited to attend these services.

Rhea Luper, state engineer, was here from Salem on a short visit during the week calling on his father, James F. Luper and meeting many old friends. Mr. Luper went from here to Umatilla to look over the Umatilla Rapids project, which he thinks, if put through, prove of inestimable benefit to Oregon.

J. M. Cummins, manager of the Arlington Bulletin since that paper was taken over by H. J. Simmons last summer, has purchased the Elgin Recorder and is removing to that city. Mr. Cummins is one of the most competent country newspapermen in the state, combining editorial, managerial and mechanical ability in an unusual degree.

George Bleakman, former county commissioner from the Hardman district, and an old time resident of that town, has announced his candidacy for the highly important office of county judge on the Republican ticket. Mr. Bleakman gave the county good service as a commissioner and his experience in county affairs should prove valuable should he be elevated to the higher position.

Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States.
Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.
Charles L. McNary, Senate Chamber.
Robert N. Stanfield, Senate Chamber.
N. J. Sinnott, House of Representatives.
Address all letters, Washington, D. C.

DES CHUTES POWER PROJECTS PROMISING

While in Heppner a few days ago Rhea Luper, state engineer, informed the Herald that Philadelphia capitalists are having surveys made on two power dam projects on the Des Chutes river and that their stated intention is to follow up this work with actual construction.

The two projects involve the development of a vast amount of electrical energy, something like double the amount now developed by the Portland Light & Power company, and his opinion is that such development will necessarily mean the attraction of much eastern capital to Oregon to be invested in manufacturing enterprises.

Mr. Luper expressed the belief that the time is not so very distant when Oregon will rank high as a manufacturing state.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

To the Republicans of Morrow County: I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination at your hands for the office of County Judge at the primary election in May, 1924. My experience of many years as County Commissioner makes me conversant with the duties of the office I seek, and I shall greatly appreciate your support in the primary; and for all past favors, I thank you kindly.

G. A. BLEAKMAN,
Hardman.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

CO-OPERATION NEEDED IN PRODUCTION, SAYS MARKET AGENT

Henry Ford said in a speech some months ago that the American farmer was starting at the wrong end of the co-operative movement, that he had hitched the horse ahead of the wagon; that the big objective of organization was co-operative selling, while it should start with production. Mr. Ford illustrated that there was a field of corn here, a field of wheat here, a team of horses and a half dozen cows; a few pigs here and a few sheep there—endlessly repeated all over the nation. Mr. Ford says this is not farming, that is an unorganized condition of needless waste and work, bad for the farmer and the country.

The leaders of co-operative movements in this country—the real men with vision—realize that there is much truth in these statements and that co-operation must get closer and tighter to the production points; that all the cows, the grains, the meat and products must be pooled and worked out on the production ground; that the hogs should be cured into bacon where the hogs are raised; that the flour should be milled where the wheat is grown; that the butter and cheese should be a part of co-operative production. Unless these are done by the farmer, and the great middle profits retained by him, then they will be done by others who are waiting for agriculture to completely collapse and the lands come into their possession.

In a recent talk at Cornell University, at Ithaca, N. Y., one of the professors stated that there was over-production on every hand—largely the result of under-consumption—and that farming in the old way of for production only must give way in part to the raising of materials needed in manufacturing industries. He stated that he believed that shortly oils and fuel alcohol would become field and garden products, and that a field of potatoes would be of great commercial value as a product to make fuel alcohol from; that weeds the farmer fights to exterminate today will be cultivated for their use in making rubber, and that many other products of the soil may be grown to advantage for other than food purposes.

The wheat growers of the nation are vitally interested in the bill before congress for an export corporation to handle the surplus production of the country. If the bill becomes a law it will be the greatest step for control of farm products, as it is not confined to wheat entirely, but to all farm products. If it gives the expected relief to wheat producers, it can be also applied to livestock and other lines of agriculture.

The cattle men of Oregon are facing the same conditions as confront the wheat growers, apple and fruit raisers, and one of two results seem certain, that there must be a powerful co-operative organization to force profit conditions or cattle raising in Oregon for meat must end, or be greatly diminished. There is much agitation for a strong co-operative producers' organization for the Pacific northwest.

The outcome of the economic conference at the Oregon Agricultural college last month will be watched with keen interest. It is the first instance in history where a state college has taken up such a problem as the agricultural situation to work out a relief program.

Star THEATRE

Show Starts at 7:30

Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 12 and 13:

A special cast in

"Vengeance of the Deep"

An interesting and thrilling story of pearl fishing in the South Sea Islands. The under-water scenes, photographed in the South Seas, are particularly wonderful and fascinating.

(This picture will be used instead of "Good Men and Bad," formerly advertised.)

— Also —

"DERBY DAY," an "Aesop's Fable Cartoon"

Thursday and Friday, Feb. 14 and 15:

EDITH ROBERTS AND BUDDY MESSENGER
in

"A Front Page Story"

A good comedy with a good twist and a good cast, dealing with the political life in a small city, the differences and quarrels between the mayor of the city and the newspaper man and how things were patched up by a bright young reporter.

Take our word for it, it's a dandy

— Also —

"HER DANGEROUS PATH"

Wherein the sands tell us what will happen to Corinne Grant if she marry a Society youth. Also PATHE NEWS WEEKLY, so new that many of us have not yet read about it in the newspapers.

Saturday, February 16:
MARGUERITE DE LA MOTTE, MARJORIE DAW AND NOAH BERRY
in

"Wandering Daughters"

Comedy-drama dealing with the gayeties and sorrows of the present day flapper.

— Also —

"TAKING A CHANCE"

One of Grantland Rice's Sportlight series, showing some of the risks and dangers encountered by athletes and sportsmen in their striving for supremacy in their various fields.

Sunday and Monday, Feb. 17 and 18:
WILL ROGERS
in

"Fruits of Faith"

assisted by

IRENE RICH AND LITTLE JIMMY ROGERS

Will Rogers at his best, as a tramp. He says he plays the tramp best because he never has to change his clothes. Will also says that one of the saddest things in the world is a man who works for his board and loses his appetite. Then imagine Will Rogers finding a baby and trying to be a mother to it. There are more laughs in this comparatively short comedy than you ever saw in one of any length.

"THE PRICE OF PROGRESS"

Showing the production of lumber in Oregon and made here, through which runs a short story.

And last, but not least, THE DIPPY DOO DADS in "LOVEY DOVEY."
