County Commissioner Benge has purchased a new 4-door Willys-Knight sedan from the Cohn Auto Co., and it is some classy car. Phill Cohn has also purchased a new Overland sedan for his own use.

Frank McCabe was in from Lena Saturday and reports that everything is fine out that way, especially the grass. Stock is doing well and lambing will commence at some camps this week.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Moorehouse was here Wednesday serving notice on witnesses to appear at the federal court in Portland April 3rd to give evidence in the case of Otto Leaters charged with violating the federal prohibition law.

Mrs. Miller, of Salem, field secretary for the department of children's work for the board of home missions of the Methodist church, was here Sunday and made an interesting address at the Methodist Community church at the morning service. Mrs. Miller and her husband formerly owned and operated a wheat ranch near Lexington.

Adrian Matteson came in from the Greenhorn mountains recently, where he owns a valuable mining property. He expects to be able to ship a considerable amount of high grade ore to the Smelter in the coming summer and begin to realize something from the years of work he has spent developing the mine. Ore values run as high as $1,500 a ton in portions of his ledges.

A. L. Tucker, of Blackhorse, was in town Monday and reports wheat looking fine in this section. Prospects now are for another bumper crop, Mr. Tucker believes, but unless the McNary-Haugen bill becomes a law and the price is elevated to a living figure the farmers will all be obliged to quit and then what will happen to the rest of the country? And a logical query that is, too.

J. W. Beymer went to Portland Friday morning to look after some business matters for a few days. Mrs. Beymer, who has been visiting in the city for a couple of weeks, will return with him.

Members of the Elks' fraternity held another of their enjoyable bridge parties last Wednesday evening when some 50 or 60 ladies and gentlemen were present. Dell Ward was fortunate in securing the gentlemen's prize and Mrs. M. L. Curran captured the prize for ladies. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee were served.

John Hughes visited at the Carty ranch in Juniper canyon and also at Boardman a day or two last week and he says he never saw the country look better. Back from the road on the Carty range the grass is fine and the stock never looked in better shape. The Broadman project also looks almost at its best. Mr. Hughes says the alfalfa fields are showing wonderful growth for this season.

Mrs. Eganett Cochran writes the Herald from Hot Lake, Oregon, where she is spending a few weeks at the sanatorium at that place. In her letter Mrs. Cochran gives a vivid description of a winter ride over the narrow gauge railroad from Prarie City to Baker, telling of the snow, the mountain scenery, etc. She expects to return to her home in Heppner upon leaving the sanatorium.

Mrs. L. G. Herren has had her milliner shop remodeled and thoroughly renovated and now feels in a better position than ever before to cater to the wants of her customers. The rooms have been re-papered and freshly painted and everything looks spick and span. Miss LeMoyno has returned to Heppner and has again taken the position of trimmer in the Herren establishment for the spring season.

HEARING ON FEDERAL WHEAT GRADES MARCH 18

State Market Agent C. E. Spence has called a hearing on Federal grades of wheat to be held in Pendleton, Tuesday, March 18, at 10 a. m. at the court house, to which all wheat growers, dealers and others interested are requested to attend.

Mr. Spence says there is some question whether the Federal grades apply equitably to wheat conditions in Oregon with regard to weight per bushel, provisions covering smut dockage and wheat penalized because of mixtures. The hearings will be conducted on these questions.

Dr. H. C. Taylor and H. J. Beasley of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be present at these meetings, and while they are state hearings, these men will have opportunity to get the viewpoint of growers and dealers in Oregon.

Similar hearings in Washington will follow, at Walla Walla, Pullman, Spokane and Seattle.

WANT HIM TO EARN SALARY

It must be an interesting experience to be a district attorney, but according to Sam Notson, who fills that position in Morrow county, it is not exactly a sinecure. The reason Mr. Notson advances for such a conclusion is that so many people in the county entertain the idea that his office is supposed to be a free source of legal opinion as well as a sort of general information bureau.

The other day Mr. Notson received a letter from a constituent in the north end to the effect that the writer understood that it is the district attorney's business to give free legal advice to all residents of the county. "Now what I want to know," the writer continued, "is how many gallons of roof paint are supposed to be in a half barrel?"

Being an accommodating sort of citizen, Mr. Notson made inquiries of paint dealers and answered his correspondent that the number of gallons would depend largely on the size of the half barrel container.

Another time, and it happened on a day when Mr. Notson was very busy digging into some complicated legal problem, his phone rang and a voice from some rural line asked: "Is that the district attorney's office?" "It is," replied the busy official. "Well, Mr. Notson, we have been trying to get the school superintendent's office and we can't find her. We are having trouble with our school teacher about whether her watch or our clock is right; what time is it, please?" "It is 27 minutes after 10:00 by my watch," replied the man of law, "but I don't know whether it is correct or not."

Another day the prosecutor was engaged on a case in circuit court when the bailiff tiptoed in and whispered to him that there was an urgent call for him on the telephone.

"Ask the party to wait until I am at leisure," Sam told the bailiff. "But they can't wait, it's very important," urged Bill Ayers, the bailiff. So Mr. Notson asked the court to excuse him for a few moments and went down stairs to his telephone expecting to hear of some terrible crime that had just been committed. Tapping down the receiver he said: "This is Notson, what is it please?" "Oh, Mr. Notson," came a voice, "I just wanted to ask you how many times a machine gun shoots in a minute." Sam has never divulged what his answer was, but he intimates that two near crimes were committed over that telephone within a minute that day.

HARDMAN

Hardman was represented at the basketball tournament at Pendleton March 6, 7 and 8. They played against Echo and were only defeated by two points, the score being 20 to 18, in Echo's favor. A dance will be given here next Saturday evening which will probably be the last of the season. A good time is expected.

The Legion and Auxiliary play, "Let's All Get Married" Saturday, March 8th, was a complete success. There were ten characters in the cast. Those taking part were: Nate Macomber, Mrs. R. S. Davis, Mrs. N. A. Macomber, Mrs. H. L. Stewart, Wahnoona Keys, W. A. Goodwin, Al Macomber, Robert Smith, O. L. Wagoner and Alton Klitz. Each character showed exceptional ability in performing their parts. Between acts Smith and Dodd put on a comedy sketch which brought down the house. This was one of the most pleasing entertainments ever given by home talent and much credit is due Mrs. Ballenger as director.

Mr. Furman has returned after several months' absence.

Miss Foroe from Portland spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. P. J. Mulkey.
