THURSDAY, February 29, . . . 1912

Selling evidently took every letter he received as an urgent request that he get in the race for Senator. We know of several that he received from this section that could not be so construed.

President Taft's plea to congress on Tuesday for the proposed new law in the interest of the employes of interstate railways ought to convince labor that he is as much its friend as capitalists and that the rights of men are dearer to him than those of property.

In order to get the various factions together, Gov. West has appointed a commission to act in shaping up the good roads legislation, and is being commended for taking such a course. This problem may yet be worked out and the right kind of a measure framed up so that the various counties will be put on an equal basis.

Many friends of Supt. S. E. Netson are urging him to get into the field for re-election. Sam has made the best independent this county has ever had. He has been faithful in the performance of the duties of his office, and it is only necessary for him to consent to run again; the people of the county will see that he is elected, and that by an almost unanimous vote.

There seems to be a lack of timber for the various county offices in Morrow county. So far there are three candidates in the field for sheriff, one for county clerk, and all the rest are going begging. Treasurer Gilliam will doubtless be a candidate to succeed himself, and will have no opposition. Aside from Judge Patterson, there seems to be no aspirants for the County Judge's office, and he is not really very enthusiastic. There should be some aspirants also for commissioner. There is a chance for many good men to get into the fray and the field is open.

Ben Selling is now an announced candidate for the office of United States senator to succeed Jonathan Bourne, Jr., and he enters the race fully confident that he will win. This paper is willing to support almost any man in opposition to Bourne, but our strong preference is for Judge Stephen A. Lowell, of Pendleton. Judge Lowell is entitled to the support of Eastern Oregon people and he should get it. He is the character of man that should represent this state and Eastern Oregon is entitled to this recognition. He should also be able to win over Bourne, and when he is elected, Oregon will have a real senator in congress. Let every republican in Morrow county line up for Judge Lowell.

A Social Gathering.

Last Thursday night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hale, of Ione, about one hundred and twenty-five men, women and children of the Baptist church and Sunday school partook of a sumptuous banquet prepared by the ladies of the church. The roll of members was called and scripture questions given in response. An excellent program of recitations and songs was rendered and the Church and Sunday school officers were elected as follows: Church officers: Secretary, Mrs. Willard Biale; treasurer, Mrs. Loren Hale; ass't. Mrs. S. E. Moore; trustees, I. L. Howard, Hallick stage, S. E. Moore; deacons, Eben Andrews, Rev. J. A. Morris, I. L. Howard; organist, Miss Doris Will; visiting committee, Mrs. John Ervson, Mrs. S. E. Moore, Mrs. John Cochran.

Sunday school officers: Superintendent, Frank Nash; ass't. A. E. King; secretary, Miss Elvina Davidson; ass't. Miss Edna Howard; treasurer, Mrs. John Cochran; organist, Miss Doris Will; ass't. Miss Edna Howard. After election of officers the meeting was closed with song and prayer.

A Real Jolly Time.

The members of the Rebekah lodge of Heppner enjoyed a novel entertainment on Saturday evening in Odd Fellows hall. A ragamuffin party had been provided and many of the costumes were funny in the extreme and developed much ingenuity in their make up. Prizes were awarded and Linnie Perry received first prize for most comical character, Mrs. Frank

Brown for the raggedest ladies costume, while Lou Zeiler carried off the honors for wearing more rags than any other man in the crowd. The whole evening's entertainment was one continual round of merriment and it was enjoyed immensely. Following this part of the program, was an elegant luncheon. The show was given as an evening's amusement for the members of the order, and not to raise money, so the small fee charged was simply to defray some necessary expenses. From the standpoint of lots of fun and a general good time, it was a success.

A Sermon to Men.

On last Sunday afternoon, Evangelist Owen preached a sermon to men only at the M. E. Church south. He had a good congregation of attentive listeners, and his discourse on the manhood of Jesus Christ was indeed a masterful effort, full of good thought and logic. The speaker grew eloquent at times, and was filled to the brim with his subject. The appeal to the men to accept Christ was earnest, and there was response on the part of several. These union meetings have been running for the past three weeks, and will continue over Sunday. A large number have been converted and the interest increases as the meetings go on. The evangelist has greatly impressed the people of Heppner by his earnestness and good will result to the religious side of the community because of the messages he has delivered.

Annual Ball a Success.

The annual ball given on last Thursday evening by Heppner lodge of Elks, was a complete success. There was a large attendance and the capacity of the club building was fully taxed to accommodate the crowd. The hall was beautifully decorated in the colors of the order and the committee in charge of this work certainly did themselves proud. Music was furnished by Prof. Otto's orchestra of five pieces and was showered with many compliments. Supper was served in the hall under the direction of J. L. Wilkins, of the Palace hotel, and prepared by his chef, Mr. Kidd, and was par excellence. The occasion was greatly enjoyed by all present, and the ball is pronounced one of the very best the Elks ever have yet given.

Church Announcements.

At Ione on Sunday, services at the Congregational church in charge of the pastor, Rev. Otho G. Reade. In the morning, sermon and communion. In the evening the subject will be, "The Place of the Different Churches in the Development of the Kingdom of Christ."

At Heppner, the union meetings will close on Sunday evening in the M. E. Church south. Subject for the evening's discourse, "The Bed Too Short, The Covering Too Narrow."

The local pastors will have services in their churches Sunday morning and unite in the evening at the M. E. Church south. Come and take part in the last night of the revival.

JOHN McALLISTER.

There will be preaching both morning and evening at the Christian church by Rev. Robinson, of Helix. The public is cordially invited to these services.

Rev. Father O'Rourke, recently appointed pastor of the Heppner parish, took up his new duties on Feb. 18. He was heartily welcomed at the church where a large congregation assembled to hear his initial sermon. Since his coming to Heppner, the Rev. Father has become acquainted with a large part of his congregation, and he finds amongst them an earnest desire to co-operate with him in all undertakings which make for the good of the parish. During the Lenten season, services will be held every Friday evening at 7:30; the services consisting of stations of the cross, sermon and benediction. The Sunday services will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. The sermons at these services will embrace the doctrinal and moral principles of the Catholic church. At the mass on next Sunday, March 3rd, the subject of the sermon will be "The Two Standards" and in the afternoon the subject will be "The Necessity of Professing a Religion."

GLEE CLUB SCORES

BIG HIT IN HEPPNER

College Lads Live up to Expectations of Local People.

Greeted by one of the largest houses of their entire tour, the Glee and Mandolin Club of the Oregon Agricultural College entertained in a superb manner at the Club building last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the fact that the club had had a strenuous trip, every man was on the job and acquitted himself in a creditable manner. From the opening number by the Mandolin Club until the Collegians there was not a dull moment and every number reflected splendid training and careful development of the young musicians.

The Mandolin Club, under the direction of Mr. Brewster, displayed much skill in handling the instruments and furnished their full share in making the evening one of delight musically. This feature of the program was exceptionally interesting to the local mandolin enthusiasts and many good points were secured thereby.

Under the guidance of Prof. Gaskins, the Glee Club has attained a very high standard. Their program numbers were all of a very high order and were repeatedly encored. The Club at no time resorted to vaudeville or cheap stunts of any kind, but responded to the numerous encores with humorous selections which never failed to please. "Comrades in Arms" was an excellent number and put the Club right with the Heppner audience so far as their ability to sing was concerned.

In all, the concert was a grand success and reflects credit upon the institution which the Club represents. That the college lads find time to develop their musical talent along with their studies is worth while, as was evidenced by the splendid program given last Friday evening.

The Heppner audience was especially favored by the singing of Prof. Gaskins. His appearance here was the only one on the tour, and it was only in response to urgent request of alumni and others that he finally agreed to sing. It is the rare good luck of Heppner people to hear such talent and the kindness of the singer was rewarded in the generous applause.

Following the concert, the students of the Heppner High School held a reception at I. O. O. F. hall in honor of the O. A. C. people and a very large crowd was present. A very enjoyable hour was spent in getting acquainted and making "impressions," in which the Heppner young people proved to be very well schooled. It has been noted before that the Heppner young people take second place to none when it comes to entertaining outsiders and the affair last Friday evening places more laurels to their credit.
