Our sales of the

Our Confidence Justified.

If the name Eastman had not been behind them, we would have been afraid that there was something beside the price that was cheap, when the Brownie Cameras first came out. But they were made by Kodak workmen in the Kodak factories. That was enough to satisfy us, and the results have more than justified our confidence.

We don't understand how the Kodak people do it at the price, but here's their

THURSDAY, April 18, . . . . .1912

Monday is clean-up day.

Let every voter turn out tomorrow.

The move is on to make Heppner a "city beautiful." The first thing to do is to clean up. Monday is the day.

Tomorrow is the day for the "composite citizen" to say who shall be the party nominees. Get out and vote at the primaries.

The school will be dismissed on Monday; it will be a holiday for all the children so that they may enter the work of cleaning up. The teachers have taken interest in this work and have been lecturing the pupils concerning the subject. Heppner will present a much cleaner appearance after Monday.

Frederick Steiwer, of Pendleton, is a clean, competent and upright young man that is asking for your support to the office of District Attorney. He has the very highest endorsements from the people of his home county, and the republicans of this end of the district will do the right thing by lining up a big majority for him here. He should be nominated.

It is gratifying to this paper to know that the sentiment for improved conditions in our streets and sidewalks is rapidly growing, and will soon take on the shape of actual work. The present city council is in earnest about the matter. In fact there is much work that has been long delayed, and the unanimous sentiment that exists in the council should be backed by the hearty indorsement of every citizen and property owner of the town. Heppner is now and will continue to be an important little city; most of the people now living here are desirous of making it a home city, and many more of the prosperous farmers and stockmen of the county should be induced to come here to make permanent homes and help us in the building up of our schools, churches and social conditions, as well as adding to the material wealth and growth of the place. There is no better inducement to such people than the permanent improvements of our streets and the beautifying of the homes. The old spirit is being revived and the coming months should see everything shaped up so that our people can have the opportunity of expressing their desires by a vote on the proposition of bonding the city for street improvements. No better time than now to start the ball to rolling.

When Senator Lodge delivered his address as permanent chairman of the last Republican national convention he said: "Mr. Roosevelt's refusal of a renomination, dictated by the loftiest motives and by a noble loyalty to American traditions, is final and irrevocable. Anyone who attempts to use his name as a candidate for the presidency impugns both his sincerity and his good faith, two of the president's greatest and most conspicuous qualities upon which no shadow has ever been cast. That man is no friend of Theodore Roosevelt, and does not cherish his name and fame, who now from any motive seeks to urge him for the great office which he has finally declined." Senator Lodge was speaking for Theodore Roosevelt at that time. There was no qualifications as to consecutive terms or otherwise; it was a simple recognition of the time-honored precedent but the friends of the colonel would now have us think that this understanding was only in reference to a consecutive third term. In times past we did not think of Colonel Roosevelt as a demagogue but it jars our mental machinery mightily to keep from so thinking at this time. However, Mr. Roosevelt is making great strides toward landing the nomination. He has won Illinois and Pennsylvania, and we shall know after Friday whether Oregon will be counted with him. His campaign manager in this state thinks so; while on the other hand, the friends of Mr. Taft seem sanguine of his success. Loyal republicans will abide by the decision which ever way it falls.
