LEXINGTON.

Mrs. Reade and daughter spent Saturday in Ione.

Don't forget the Calico Carnival at Artisan hall May 24.

Another enjoyable party was held at Robert Wilcox's on Saturday night.

Mr. W. G. Scott, the Lexington banker, made a brief visit to Pendleton on Saturday morning.

Mrs. Wright who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Breshears, left for her home at Walla Walla, Wn. on Monday.

Mr. Ernest and his stepdaughter are visitors at the George Allen home. Mr. Ernest is a former pioneer of Lexington.

The gentlemen need not stay away because they have no tie. There will be calico ties for sale at the door.
Come and let the men show you how to sew carpet rags.

Don't send your cream to Portland and other places and thereby incur great expense. Patronize the Lexington creamery and save expense and thereby help Lexington, and home industry.

Miss Edith Reaney accompanied her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Baldwin on a trip into Washington, Miss Edith on her vacation and Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin hunting for a location.

A party was given at Mrs. George Allen's on Saturday night in honor of Ruth Burrows and Muriel Read.
Both of these young ladies will soon leave Lexington. Miss Ruth to go to her home at Helix and Miss Muriel to be gone for the summer.

The village was quite shocked when they learned that Charlie Lee had sustained such injuries from a fractious horse which necessitated his immediate removal to the Heppner Sanatorium. We are sorry that Charlie will be laid up for some time.

School will be out on Friday, May 17th, and the children and teachers are looking forward to a much needed vacation. Both teachers and scholars have worked hard during all the school year and we are glad to have them enjoy these beautiful summer days.

ney troubles. 25 cents at Slocum Drug Co.

IONE.

Mr. Joe Knappenberg departed Friday for Valley points to be gone for a short time.

Sam Ganger, who has been out shooting them for some time, returned to Ione last Friday evening.

Several of the young people attended the circus at Heppner last week.
They all report a pleasant time.

Mrs. Ralph Kaiser, who has been visiting with friends for the past week, returned to her home at Dufur, Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Bill McMillan came down from Lexington last week and spent a couple of days visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Willnot.

The Y. P. B. spent a nice pleasant evening together last Tuesday. They had a jolly good time, with plenty of ice cream and cake to top off with.

Mat Halvorsen shipped a carload of cattle Tuesday of last week. We did not learn where he shipped to, but the cattle were in fine condition.

W. J. Blake shipped two carloads of sheep to Portland last Saturday morning. It begins to look like old times to see the stock beginning to move once more.

Billy Ganger and Dot Ganger accompanied by Miss Southwell, drove over to Ione from Pendleton last week and have been visiting with Mrs.
Ganger for a few days.

Bill Cronk, the Tum-a-Lum Co's man, has just finished putting in a new scale in front of his office, which will be a good deal more handy than where it was formerly located.

Mr. Chas. Allinger has been busy putting a new coat of paint on the bank, which helps the appearance of it a good deal. Charlie is there when it comes to slinging the paint brush.

Mr. A. C. Petveys, one of our old timers, was in town one day last week. He, like a great many others, is feeling good over the outlook of the coming crop. A. C. got him a new Easter lid while he was in town.

Guess he is going to make hay while the sun shines.

Willard Blake shipped a mixed car of cattle to Portland last Monday morning, and they were in prime shape too.

Mrs. Wilson, who has been visiting with Walt Smith and his mother for some time departed for Pendleton last Monday morning.

Mrs. John Cochran and Archie left Ione last Thursday for Yakima.
They were accompanied by Dallas Perkins, who will no doubt have a pleasant visit with Opal while she is up there.

Louis Padberg sold his spotted team of ponies to Barnes, the circus man, when he was in Heppner the other day. I guess the next time he comes up here with his show, they will be playing the band.

U. E. Baker, one of our North side farmers, returned from Missouri last Friday evening. His sister, who has been back there all winter returned with him. U. E. seemed very glad to get back again. He said things did not seem right to him back there.

E. M. Shutt blew into Ione one night last week with a car load of cattle. They were Holsteins and Jerseys. E. M. grabbed them down in Washington county, near Portland.
If any of you good readers get right hungry for a glass of the pure quill, don't forget where E. M. lives.

Ione and Olex crossed bats on the Ione diamond last Sunday. The first three innings were very even, no one scoring, but after that the Olex boys kept gaining a little, the score being 11 to 1 in Olex favor at the end of the game. We think Olex has a little the best team, but had Ione's nitcher not been suffering with a very bam hand we think that the game would have been very close. The boys will probably play in the near future again and I think it will not be quite so one sided next time.

Alex Lindsay was in town last Monday getting a few of the necessities of life. Alex says that he has just returned from a trip over on Butter creek. He says we Willow creek people will have to whip up a little, as they are a little ahead of us over on the other creek. He says the crops look a little better over there than they do here and that improvements are somewhat better than ours, but they will all have to take off their hat to Alex when it comes to raising lambs. Alex sold a January lamb a few days ago that made the scale bump at 120 pounds. Can you beat it?

MORGAN

B. E. Miller lost two fine horses a few days ago.

O. E. Lindstrom made a flying trip to Rhea Siding on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Holt made a trip to Arlington one day last week.

Mr. Cronan, of Michigan is here visiting his sister, Mrs. W. O'Sullivan.

W. A. Laidlaw was up from Portland on Thursday looking after his interests here.

Paul Balsiger and family, of Ione, were down and spent Sunday with the family of I. E. Holt.

Albert Yedd went to the river hunting coyotes Friday returning Sunday but we failed to see any scalps.

The Morgan and Ione boys crossed bats at the Morgan diamond last Saturday afternoon. Result. 18 to 4 in favor of Ione.

Miss Ruby Maxwell closed her school in District No. 28, Friday May 10, and departed for her home in Portland on Monday.

Stockmen and farmers if you want to see a fine horse you must come to Morgan. Mr. Samuels surely has the best horse in the county.

John Miller, while running horses on the range, got his horse badly cut on a lot of loose wire. People take care of your wire, and do not let it get scattered on the range, for horses are worth money.

STENCIL LETTERS.

Used by Writers and Illuminators in the Early Ages.

Movable characters were known to the ancients. They were used in teaching children to read. The ancients had also stencil letters, which they used to secure a regular style of penmanship. They even made use of plates, thus open cut, containing an entire page. It was placed on the papyrus to guide the pens of children, "an excellent means," said Quintil-ian, "to learn them not to exceed the desired proportions." The Emperor Justinian (A. D. 518) could neither read nor write, an unexampled thing in one of such high rank. When it was necessary for him to sign his name he had a sheet of gold through which were cut the letters of his name.
"Then," said Procopius, "placing this tablet on the paper, one conducted the hand of the prince, holding the stylus dipped in purple on the type of the different letters, and took away the writing furnished with his signature."
The same thing is reported of King Theodoric and of Charlemagne.

In the middle ages the illuminators and decorators made much of such tablets for tracing involved initial letters and even in a way composed entire works, such as copies of the psalm songs, etc. A chartered abbey near Mayence possessed some sixty of the alphabets cut in leaves of latum, a copper alloy. Later these patterns were replaced by stamps whose imprint is proved by the evidences on the reverse of the page as early as the thirteenth century. In 1288 the monks of Fribourg published a treatise relating to money in this way, and it seems, according to a passage in Pliny and another in Petronius, that these stencils were used to publish figures and designs as well.—Charles W. Hall in National Magazine.

SUPREME COURT GOWNS.

They Are Made of the Finest Silk and Are Quite Costly.

It is said that the cut and style of the gowns worn by the justices of the supreme court of the United States are so peculiar that it is not always possible to have one correctly made.

The wife of a former justice used to enjoy telling of her trying experiences when she wished to have made in Paris the gown her husband was to use.
The gowns worn there by scientists, scholars and students differ altogether from those our justices wear.

In London any clerical tailor would have understood the kind of gown desired, but not so in Paris. Wherefore, after many failures, the justice's wife gave instructions to the fashionable modiste who made her gowns. This modiste was entirely successful in turning out a gown for the justice.

The justice's gowns, which are always of the best quality of silk, cost upward of $100. When the supreme court was first organized the justices wore quite gaudy gowns.

A portrait in oil of the first chief justice, John Jay, now hangs in the robbing room opposite the supreme court chamber, and in this portrait the chief justice is represented as wearing a black gown with a broad bright red border around the neck and down the front. It is edged with gray, and the sleeves show a red border at the top and bottom, also edged with gray.—

A Curious Windstorm.

A peculiar freak of weather is the storm called the "willwau." This form of storm is confined to that far-off island Tierra del Fuego. The coast is indented with deep bays crowned with high mountains. Down from their gorges drops the willwau. A low, hoarse muttering is heard in the distance. Suddenly, without the least preliminary puff, a fearful blast of wind drops upon the sea. The water is not raised into waves, but driven into fine dust. Fortunately the shock lasts but ten or twelve seconds, and calm follows at once, for no vessel could stand such a wind for even half a minute. During the coming and going of a willwau the barometer may be watched to drop a tenth of an inch or more and rise again at once.

She Was a Skeptic.

In pioneer days a settler near the present town of Albany, Mo., bought for his wife the first cook stove ever seen in that part of the state. It was an object of great curiosity, and the woman's next door neighbor, who lived ten miles away, came to see how it would work. Without comment she saw the dinner cooked. She ate the meal with judgment held in reserve and then remarked, with a shake of the head:
"Well, Sarah, it cooks all right, and the victuals taste good, but I don't believe it will ever be a success."

Mistakes.

To make mistakes is human. Everybody makes mistakes, the best of us included. To acknowledge mistakes is commendable. It is evidence that one is learning by experience, and it shows that he has the courage to acknowledge a blunder. Courage is a rare quality in these days.—Leslie's.

Badly Expressed.

"Yes, Aunt Mary went out without her rubbers, and now she is in heaven." "My, my! What dreadful things result from a little carelessness!"—Exchange.

The Wrong Man.

"Just a minute, old chap. You're just the man I want to see."
"No, I'm not. I can't spare a cent."
—Pittsburgh Post.

cobwebs will gather on the ceiling.
