LEXINGTON ITEMS.

Mr. Sturgill is visiting in Heppner a few days.

Awful hot here but it makes our gardens grow.

Mrs. Wright and little son are visiting relatives here this week.

Bert and Annie Cork of Monument are visiting their sister, Mrs. Glenn Davis.

Mrs. L. L. Van Winkle is up to Heppner doctoring her little son with Dr. Conder.

The ball game Sunday afternoon between Lexington and Eight Mile was won by the visitors in a score of 7 to 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell left for an extended visit to Maryland. We wish that Mr. and Mrs. Bell thoroughly enjoy themselves while gone.

Mrs. Williams came up from Portland Wednesday night to visit her brother. Mrs. Williams expects to return in time for the Rose Festival.

By the amount of harness and clothing strewn along the road outside of town some one must have had a runaway on Saturday night.

We wish to correct a mistake made in last week's issue. The announcement should have read "to Mr. and Mrs. Pinky Butler a son," instead of "Mr. and Mrs. Pinky Burchell."

A lot of young men disturbed the Sunday night peace by yelling and hollering. I wonder where our city marshal was at that time so he couldn't put a quiet on these youngsters.

IRRIGON NOTES.

The river is up and at it. It is about 3 feet higher now than last year.

The first crop of alfalfa is now out of the way, and everybody busy pulling peaches.

Mrs. W. M. Castle went to Corvallis to visit friends and relatives, also to take in the "Festival."

The wedding bells rang this morning, and by the performance thereof Mr. H. I. Walpole and Miss Leonora Corey were united in the bond of wedlock at 10 o'clock, by Rev. Emmet of Hermiston. The young parties took the local immediately after the ceremony and departed for Portland, where they will sojourn during the Rose Festival. Rice and old slippers sold at a premium this morning.
