

Wagons and I H C Wagons

THE farmer who, in need of a wagon, blindly makes a bee line for the first new wagon or dealer in sight may get a good wagon. If chance steers him to an I H C dealer, well and good. That is his good fortune. If not, he will probably be in the wagon market again years before he should be. But the economical farmer will study and compare different makes; find out in advance which wagon will give him best service, and consider such questions as company standing and reputation. When he has finished he will buy an I H C wagon.

Weber New Bettendorf Columbus Steel King

Here are only two of the many features that contribute to the making of I H C wagon reputation. 1—Air-drying of lumber. Every stick of wood used—hickory and oak for wheels and axles, bay poplar for box sides, long leaf yellow pine for bottoms—lies drying in open sheds from two to three years, saving all its resinous saps, toughening, seasoning, gaining elasticity, as only air-dried lumber does. Kiln-drying quickly evaporates the sap, leaves the wood inelastic, brittle, and weak—ruins it, in short. 2—Thorough inspections. Every I H C wagon, passes many rigid inspections by experts. Seldom does any flaw in material, or defect in shaping, ironing, and assembling get by without detection. When ready it must come up to I H C standards.

Weber and Columbus wagons have wood gears; New Bettendorf and Steel King have steel gears. Look the line over at the local dealer's. He has catalogues, or, write the

STUDENTS TO ADMIT PUBLIC OBLIGATIONS

Annual "Oregon Pledge" to Return Full Value to State, to Be Taken Next Month

University of Oregon, Eugene, Sept. 24.—"Pledge Day," that curious occasion upon which University of Oregon students agree to return to the state in good works their indebtedness to the state for helping educate them, will this year come early in October. Hiram Johnson, governor of California, is expected to give the Pledge Day address. The theory of Pledge Day is that the taxpayer in maintaining the state university is making an investment in citizenship. The student thus owes a debt of good citizenship to the taxpayer, and at Pledge Day he is made to realize a specific obligation. The form of pledge used is this:

"As a student at the University that is maintained by the people of Oregon, I heartily acknowledge the obligation I shall owe to them. The opportunities open to me here for securing training, ideals and vision for life, I deeply appreciate and regard as a sacred trust, and do hereby pledge my honor that it shall be my most cherished purpose to render as bountiful a return to the Oregon people and their posterity in faithful and ardent devotion to the common good as will be in my power. It shall be the aim of my life to labor for the highest good and glory of an ever greater commonwealth."

This pledge was originally framed by a committee of the faculty headed by President Campbell.

How much are you going to get for your wheat? You can get 60 to 65 cents a bushel cash by delivering it at the warehouse at once. But why not get $1.00 or $1.20 for it? That is what it will bring if fed and shipped "with hair on." Stock on the farm brings profit in many ways. It enables the farmer to get far more for his crop, and it prevents the loss of soil fertility. Go into any old section, and notice the difference between the farms where stock is raised and where it is not. Big crops on smooth, well tilled land, tidy fences, good houses and large barns are found in the stock district. The farmers live in comfort, their children are educated and the whole family is enjoying all there is in life. Without stock the crops are smaller, for the land is becoming exhausted, the home places look slovenly and neglected. The farmer each year bets he can beat the market and generally he loses.

Put dairy cows on the farm, get a herd of hogs, and let them pay your bills. They will put an end to long time credits, enabling you to buy cheap for cash, and be independent of everybody.—Enterprise Record-Chieftain.

One Way To Keep Boys On The Farm.

Has the small boy of the farm a garden or acre of corn all his own to do with as he desires? I recently visited a well-to-do gardener all of whose boys were in business with him and was interested to learn that he had made it a practice to pay his boys as good a salary as they could get anywhere to work for him. He began when each boy was small and increased it as the boy could earn more. Consequently the boys learned the business and have become a part of it, until now they would not think of leaving it. He has built a business that he can turn over to them with little fear of its going to pieces for lack of attention.—LeRoy Cady.

Make The Egg Business Pay.

To assure a high quality of product and prevent in a large measure the loss now experienced in the value of the country's egg production, producers are urged to observe the following five simple rules:

- (1). Give the hens clean nests.
- (2). Gather eggs at least once daily.
- (3). Keep eggs in a cool, dry place.
- (4). Market eggs at least twice a week.
- (5). Kill or sell all mature male birds as soon as the hatching season closes.
