THURSDAY, October 30, - - 1913

To vote "No" on the two University of Oregon appropriation bills at the special election of November 4th is not to save $175,000 or any part of it in taxation. When the 1913 legislature found how desperately the University needed a new classroom building and repairs and additions to four other buildings, it passed by a huge majority $100,000 for the one and $75,000 for the other. The state officials included the amount in the next levy.

The $175,000, therefore, has been provided for, and if it should be diverted from the University under this referendum, it will be spent by the next set of legislators. This levy for the University amounted to only 18 cents per $1000 throughout the state levy and was the first in many years for additional room at the university, which now has as its main classroom building a structure presented to it by the citizens of Lane county in 1876, and one built by the state in 1885. It has had no new building since completion in 1907 of the already badly crowded library.

The interests responsible for the referendum on the Workmen's Compensation Act dare not reveal their identity. Rebuke the abuse of the referendum by voting 308 X Yes.

Go to the polls on Tuesday and vote to sustain the cause of higher education in Oregon. The University has been hampered long enough by these holdups, born of a spirit of revenge and promoted by those whose ways are dark. We pride ourselves on being progressive, and progressive states liberally support their higher institutions of learning.

If the referendum measures fail of endorsement at the polls on Tuesday it will be owing to a lack of interest on the part of the electorate. Remember you are the legislative body now and it is up to you to do your duty, and not put yourself where you have in times past placed the legislature of our state for not doing what you considered it their duty to do. Turn out and ratify the work of the legislature and make it unanimous.

All otherwise duly qualified electors that have not properly registered, may register by the use of Blank A for the special election on Nov. 4. This provision has been made especially for this election and will permit all to vote who can get the necessary number of freeholders to sign up their registration blank. If you did not register don't let this interfere with your going to the polls on Tuesday and expressing your wishes on the referred measures.

Persons desiring to vote in favor of the University of Oregon appropriation and for the workmen's compensation act, for the sterilization bill and for the county attorney act, should mark their ballots "Yes" and not "NO" as is mistakenly supposed by many voters. That is, the question before the people in each instance is whether the measure shall pass. To vote "Yes" accordingly, on the workmen's compensation act is to favor passage of the bill, not to favor the referendum.

With the development of reclamation projects in Eastern Oregon, The O. W. R. & N. Co. is planning a campaign to educate the waterusers in the actual application of moisture to the land, according to an announcement made by President J. D. Farrell. The company expects to send an experienced irrigation man from farm to farm to give actual working instructions on the best way to utilize the water. How not to irrigate is as essential as how to irrigate and the expert will put the farmer wise to all the benefits and dangers of the work.

A suggestion that might be profitably adopted throughout Oregon is that contained in an exchange to the effect that the United States Department of Agriculture is to encourage and assist in the organization of "pig clubs" among the young people in every agricultural community throughout the country. It is pointed out that pigs are everywhere a profitable crop, that even the smallest growers can make a little money out of hogs and that every family can at least lower the cost of living by raising its own pork. The "pig club" plan is a good one and worthy of general adoption.

More than 6,000 applications have been received for amusements and other concessions at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915. One hundred accepted to date involve a total expenditure of about $7,000,000. More than 7,000 people will be employed in the concessions district, and the total amount to be invested in amusements in 1915 will probably aggregate $12,000,000. Among the most important concessions will be "The Grand Canyon of the Colorado," a working model of the Panama Canal; naval sub-marines in operation; "Creatino" as based on the first chapter of Genesis; "Tovland," a reproduction of the famous city of Nuremberg, Germany; "Fire and Sword" or the fall of Adrianople; an ice palace; "Forty Niners' Camp;" "Mohammed's Mountain;" a Chinese City and others.

The State of New York has appropriated $700,000 for its building at the Panama Pacific International Exposition.
