OREGON HEN PRODUCES 303 EGGS IN ONE YEAR

Portland, Ore., Nov. 25, (Special)—A short time ago the Oregon Agricultural College announced the fact that a cross-bred hen had turned out 291 eggs in her first twelve months of usefulness, and stated that no other egg machine had ever before reached that rate of speed. Now, the college announces, the original best-hen-in-the-world will have to take a back seat, as another biddy at the same institution has succeeded in laying 303 eggs in exactly one year. This new hen, like the former record-breaker, is a cross between Barred Rocks and White Leghorns.

Professor Dryden, in charge of the poultry department at the college, says that no special attempt, outside of the breeding, was made to secure high records. The methods followed in feeding and general care were such as might be profitably followed by any farmer or owner of poultry. The 303 eggs produced by the record-breaking hen weighed 43 pounds, or about eight times the weight of the hen herself, and were remarkably uniform in size, shape and color. Many requests have been received at the college to place the hen on exhibition, but on account of her great value as a breeder it has been decided that the risks are greater than the value of the advertising.

Beef Prices Correspond To Cost of Production.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 25.—That the prices of beef are unduly high in comparison with other articles of food, is not believed by Professor E. L. Potter, head of the Animal Husbandry department, Oregon Agricultural College, who has made a careful study of the range of prices extending over several years. He does not consider that beef prices have increased more than is justified by the increased cost of production.

"Of course present prices seem high in comparison with prices which prevailed a few years ago," said Professor Potter, "but it must be borne in mind that five-cent cattle were a losing proposition, and when we consider that the cost of production has been constantly increasing nothing could be expected other than a gradual closing out of the large herds and a final increase in price. In addition to diminishing ranges and higher priced land the cattleman had to pay for labor, supplies and other factors, the high prices which prevail throughout the country. For this reason it is not fair to expect him to furnish us with beef at the old prices."

"At the present prices, beef making is reasonably profitable, and if they are maintained the supply will doubtless increase somewhat. But should prices go down the cattlemen will again curtail their beef making operations. Educational campaigns and legislation to increase beef production are of doubtful value. It is the maintenance of present prices that will do most to encourage beef production. Lower prices will discourage it."

"The cost of raising beef is about 50 percent higher than it was a few years ago, and stockmen will not raise cattle without adequate returns. Beef prices will fluctuate, but they cannot be kept below the cost of production."

"The new tariff will probably have no great effect on beef prices, since the surplus from the great meat producing countries is already being consumed in Europe at prices approximately the same as our own."

Many of the farmers of this section are yet holding their grain, hoping to get a better price by spring. In fact it is thought that a dollar a bushel may be realized. There is some reason for this expectation. The Mexican situation, with the possibility of armed intervention by this country would produce, doubtless bring a raise in price; 70 per cent of the Manitoba crop is said to have been moved already, and the estimate of exportable supplies in Argentina has dropped from 75,000,000 bushels to 66,000,000 bushels, while the India crop is far short, and these all help to boost the market for the American farmer.

Of great interest to every section of the great Columbia basin is the announcement, made by James J. Hill himself within the past week, that a new line of steamers will be put in operation between the mouth of the river and California points within the next fifteen months. Two fine combination freight and passenger steamers are now being built at Philadelphia, and it is said they will be the fastest vessels ever sailed under the American flag. Each will have capacity for 800 passengers and 1,500 tons of freight, and they are expected to beat the present best railroad time between Portland and San Francisco by about four hours.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE TO BE AT 10:30 TO-DAY

The union Thanksgiving services for Heppner will be held to-day at 10:30 at the M. E. church, South, the pastor, Rev. W. T. Goulder, having charge. Elder J. V. Crawford will deliver the sermon and a good choir render appropriate music.

David, King of Israel, thought it appropriate to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings and comforts of life enjoyed by his people more than three thousand years ago, and in token of this spirit he wrote two wonderful thanksgiving poems that have come to us in the 103rd and 104th Psalms. But how much more we of the present age have to enjoy and be thankful for.

Take time from the cares and labors and joys of the day to spend an hour in the sanctuary where your thoughts may be directed for one short hour to the source of all blessings, and that due observance of this great American holiday may be had in Heppner.

Do You Blame Her?

The saying is that troubles never come singly. Truly is this the case of H. J. Parkison, ten cent lawyer and petition circulator. Some three weeks ago the people of the state of Oregon placed their stamp of disapproval upon his referendum which was placed upon the University appropriations. Now he has attached a referendum or recall to his matrimonial obligations and is suing his wife for a divorce. He claims that he has been sick for weeks at a time, during which his wife would never visit him. Poor Parkison. And yet we can not blame the wife.

The church will begin a meeting on the 21st of December, to continue for several weeks. The boy evangelists, Kelless and McCallam, will be in charge.
