Miss Lela Campbell of this city will represent Morrow county this year on the annual tour which is conducted by Phil S. Bates, publisher of the Pacific Northwest, a leading farm and stock paper edited in Portland.

Miss Campbell is the only candidate for this trip in the entire county and therefore should have our united support.

Kenneth Blinn of Heppner is the champion speller of Morrow county. In competition with several other school children in the Bulletin spelling contest at Ione last Friday, Kenneth outspelled them all. Miss Mary Ganger of Ione was second.

With the honor of winning the contest, Kenneth also takes the first prize of $10.00.

Drs. Lowe and Turner, Eye Specialists of Portland will be in Heppner Monday and Tuesday, May 4th and 5th, at the Palace hotel. If you have eye troubles, and headaches, don't fail to consult them. They are specialists of standing and experience, and will be in Heppner every three months. Watch this paper for further notice.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Spencer, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Vawter Crawford and daughter, Mary, visited at the home of J. M. Spencer and family at the mouth of Butter creek on Sunday. The Butter creek section is certainly beautiful to behold at the present time in its covering of deep green, the monotony of which is relieved by the blossoming orchards. Alfalfa fields are just blooming in luxuriant growth and many fine fields of grain are to be seen. An abundant harvest of hay, grain and fruits is in store for these people.

W. W. Smead, buying wool for the Hallowell, Jones and Donald firm of Boston, purchased the Geo. Currin clip last week, consisting of 7,000 fleeces. The price paid for this fine wool clip was 15 cents a pound. The highest price for any clip this season was 18 cents for coarse wool.

J. B. Huddleston and sister, Miss Bess Huddleston, were called to Lone Rock on Sunday last on account of the death of Simeuel Weller, father of Mrs. Ray Huddleston. About a year ago Mr. Weller suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never recovered and which finally caused his death.

French Burroughs of Rhea creek, was a visitor in Heppner Saturday, attending a meeting of Morrow county socialists. Mr. Burroughs, like all other farmers of our county, is rejoicing over the splendid crop outlook. He is not one of our big farmers, and has in but about 250 acres of grain but he follows the plan of diversifying and raises large quantities of chickens, hogs, fruit and produce in abundance. His hens are now turning off about 400 eggs per day which are marketed at Ione, and he also has a number of good dairy cows that are a source of revenue. Mr. Burroughs looks for the biggest crop in Morrow county this year that we have ever had.

During the quarter ending March 31st, 1914, State Engineer John H. Lewis, issued 154 permits for the appropriation of water, including 8 permits to construct reservoirs. Under these permits it is proposed to irrigate 28,994 acres of land, develop 21,968 horsepower at an estimated cost of $2,500,000. Only one permit has been issued for the appropriation of water in Morrow County during the past quarter. T. C. Beymer, of Lexington, for the irrigation of 12 acres of land, diverting the water from Willow Creek in Section 20, Township 1 South, Range 25 East.

Moro Observer: The farmers of Sherman county are receiving shipments of calves by express from a sort of calf clearing house in Tillamook county at the rate of five dollars a head and all charges paid. A new law prevents the killing of dairy calves and Sherman county is rapidly securing some fine future dairy stock for very little money.

A. M. Zink was up from Lexington on Monday preparing to tackle a job of sheepshearing. On account of accidents and consequent poor health for the past two years, Mr. Zink has not been able to wield the shears in the shearing pen but he is feeling amply strong for the job this spring.

ALASKAN TOURS. This is my ninth consecutive year in tours to and through Alaska. Join my personally conducted party or let me arrange your trip and give you the benefit of special rates. Write for descriptive literature. Mrs. A. H. Carlisle, 708 Selling Bldg., Portland, Oregon.

SOLD LAMBS AT $3.50
Pedro Bros., prominent Umatilla county sheepmen, have sold 4000 this years lambs at a price of $3.50 per head. The lambs are to be delivered next fall.—E. O.

WANT TO BUY SHEEP
Not less than four sheepbuyers from outside states are in Pendleton today seeking to make purchases in eastern Oregon. Several of the buyers are from eastern Washington and they are said to be ready to make purchases if prices can be agreed upon. Another buyer is here from the middle west.—E. O.

SHEEP SHED BURNS.
One of the sheep sheds on the lower Sand Hollow ranch of John Kilkenny was destroyed by fire on Friday last. Along with the shed 26 head of sheep were burned. Mr. Kilkenny does not know just how the fire originated but when it was discovered it was too far along to be checked and all the sheep in the building could not be removed. The shearers have been at the Kilkenny ranch for the past two weeks, and the lambing season is also on in full blast down there, making it a mighty busy place just at present. Weather conditions have been splendid to date and plenty of good grass for the mother sheep presages one of the best lambings Mr. Kilkenny ever had. What is true in his case in this respect, also applies to the other sheepmen of the sand country, and a very prosperous season is before them.

Brownsville Times: Miss Amy Currin, matron at the state institution for the feeble minded at Salem, is visiting in the city with her aunt, Mrs. Martha Callaway, while recovering from a recent illness with typhoid fever. Miss Currin had a rather rough experience last Saturday night while enroute to Brownsville on the evening train. When the train reached the new station called Sand Ridge a few miles north of Plainview, she understood the brakeman to call Brownsville and alighted from the train only to find herself alone in the county road. She finally succeeded in finding shelter for the night at a farm house, and came to Brownsville the next day. Miss Currin's feelings toward the conductor and train men for allowing her to leave the train at Sand Ridge are not the best one can imagine. In her condition it is a wonder that she did not become ill again.

J. H. Frad is in from his Black Horse home today.

Celsus Keithley, recently operated on at the Heppner Sanitorium for appendicitis, has so far recovered as to be able to return to his home where he is rapidly convalescing.

A couple of days spent in Ione by the editor of this paper found the people of that burg quite busy. Trade with the merchants is good and eggs are rolling in by the thousands. Ione is fast becoming the leading egg shipping point in Eastern Oregon.

O. S. Andrews, of Portland, formerly a resident of Heppner, arrived at Ione on Monday evening on a visit with relatives there.

THE KNOCKERS PRAYER.

"Lord, please don't let this town grow. I've lived here for thirty years and during that time I've fought every public improvement. I've knocked everything and everybody, no firm or individual has established a business here without my doing all I could to put 'em out of business. I've used every underhanded method known to the knocking fraternity to injure their business. I've lied about them, and would have stolen from them if I had the courage. I have done all I could to keep the town from growing, never have I spoken a good word for it, but instead I've knocked hard and often. It pains me, O Lord, to see that in spite of my knocking this town is beginning to grow. Some day I fear I will be called upon to put down side walks in front of my property, and who knows but what I may have to help keep up the streets that run by my premises? This, Lord, would be more than I could bear. It would cost me money, and I could not afford to pay out any money, though all I have was made right here in this town. Then too more people might come if the town begins to grow, which would cause me to lose some of my pull. I ask, therefore to keep this town at a standstill, that I may continue to be the chief knocker. Amen."

FROST HITS MORROW COUNTY.

A heavy frost hit Morrow county on Monday night, and from reports we can gather, fruit has suffered to considerable extent. It is not thought that the crop is all destroyed but it is no doubt badly injured and shortened up. This is true of apricots and peaches particularly. There has never been a better prospect for fruits of all kinds and it is to be regretted that we are to suffer a loss of this crop. It may develop that the injury has not been as extensive as it now appears, and if this should prove to be a fact the crop may be of better quality on account of its being cut short.
