Local and Personal Happenings.

We have an abundance of old papers for sale at this office.

Try our sundaes, the best in the city—the Palm.

R. Hogeland and wife were down from Parkers Mill on Friday.

Walter Kileup was in Heppner from his ranch near Lena on Friday.

Don't forget the ball game tomorrow afternoon, Umatilla vs. Heppner.

Burton H. Peck of Rhea creek was transacting business in Heppner on Friday.

Nat Webb Jr. is down from Walla Walla visiting with his brother, Paul.

J. A. Waters and wife and Mrs. C. C. Chick of Ione, were Heppner visitors on Friday.

The Whetstone shearing plant is running full blast at the Boyer ranch five miles east of town.

James Murtha, Rock creek sheepman, was doing business in Heppner on Friday and Saturday.

Olaf Bergstrom and wife were in town from their Eight Mile home on Friday doing some shopping.

J. H. Wyland, well-known stockman was in the city from his ranch near Hardman, on Saturday.

See us before buying your years supply of flour. We can save you money. HEPPNER MILLING CO.

Miss Viva Jones returned home from Pendleton last Thursday evening, after visiting friends in the neighboring city for several days.

The baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Saling of Hardman, died on Friday morning last from summer complaint. The boy was about 11 months old.

George Bleakman, of Hardman, candidate on the Republican ticket for commissioner before the primaries, was in from the south end of the county on Friday.

Jesse French was in town from Big Butter creek on Saturday. All vegetation in his locality is booming at present and prospects are fine for range, field and garden.

Wes Brannon of Hardman did business in Heppner on Friday. Mr. Brannon farms in the Eight Mile section and is well pleased with his prospects for a bumper crop.

R. F. Fraser of Gooseberry, democratic candidate for the nomination of county commissioner, was in Heppner the last of the week looking after his interests in a political way.

Saddler E. G. Noble is mailing out a neat catalogue of his saddles to the numerous inquirers all over the country. His mail order business is one of the big items of his trade.

Court street has undergone some valuable improvement in the line of grading the past week. The main road from the Court street bridge to the Byland farm, east of town was worked over by the grader.

John Olden, Rhea creek farmer and stockman, was in Heppner on Friday. Mr. Olden states that his orchard did not suffer any from the recent hard frosts and he should have an abundance of fruits of all kinds this season.

P. A. Engle and family were visitors in Heppner last Thursday. Mr. Engle is making preparations to prove up on his homestead which is five miles north of Ione. He says crop conditions and prospects are the best he has seen while living in that section.

The largest movement in wool in Eastern Oregon recorded so far this season, took place last week, when R. N. Stanfield, extensive wool grower of Umatilla county, consigned 200,000 pounds to a Boston firm. Mr. Stanfield has followed the plan of consigning his wool for several years and reports the same as satisfactory.

Commencing tomorrow, B. F. Matlock, a nephew of Mayor Matlock, will be a member of the Pendleton police force, having been appointed yesterday by Chief of Police Kearney as night policeman to succeed Al Moody who has resigned on account of failing health. Mr. Matlock formerly lived in Heppner but for some time past has been employed in a local garage. Mr. Moody has been on the force for a year and three months and Chief Kearney declares he has proven himself a highly efficient officer.—E. O.

E. O.: Travis and John McCullough, Echo youths who were convicted Monday of stealing a cow, were sentenced to the penitentiary for an indeterminate period not exceeding ten years nor less than one. It is probable that little leniency will be shown them inasmuch as they were both paroled prisoners at the time they stole the cow. Travis, the elder had been sent to the penitentiary on a similar conviction and had been paroled from that institution. The younger was paroled by Judge Phelps.

Fresh ice cream every day at the Palm.

Ernest Higgs was up from Ione Saturday.

John Elder visited friends in Ione last Sunday.

Harvey McAllister was a Saturday evening visitor from Lexington.

Claud Coats and wife of Heppner Plat, were Heppner visitors Saturday.

Mike Kenny of Sand Hollow, was among the many sheepmen in the city on Saturday.

C. W. Knighten, prosperous young farmer of Eight Mile, was a Heppner visitor on Saturday.

Mrs. C. E. Shaver and daughter, Miss Dot Ganger, of Ione, were Heppner visitors Saturday.

See our ad on another page giving reduced prices on flour.

HEPPNER MILLING CO.

Grover B. Swaggart, prominent young farmer of the Lexington section, transacted business in Heppner on Saturday.

Heppner Milling Co. shipped a car load of flour and mill feed to Ione yesterday. This will be handled by J. A. Waters.

Rev. W. T. Goulder returned to his home in this city Friday evening, after spending several days in Portland on business.

Natt Scott, of Lone Rock, was in Heppner a couple of days the past week, being an interested investigator or the wool market.

Chas. Burchell, a prosperous farmer of the Lexington country, was among the many visitors in this city Saturday.

R. B. Wilcox, the Willow creek dairyman, was up from his farm near Lexington, on Saturday. Mr. Wilcox specializes in Jersey cattle and Duroc-Jersey hogs.

Ernest Lundell and family of Eight Mile were trading in this city on Saturday. Mr. Lundell reports crop conditions excellent in his section.

Rev. H. A. Van Winkle, pastor of the local Christian church, spent several days in Portland on business last week and preached at Tillamook on Sunday.

Drs. Lowe and Turner, eye specialists of Portland arrived in Heppner on Sunday evening and spent Monday and Tuesday in our city. They will return again at a later date. Mr. Turner is a brother of Mrs. Ray McAllister.

J. D. Moyer who farms in the Blackhorse country north of Heppner was in town on Saturday and states that his section never enjoyed a better prospect for abundant crops at this time of year than the present season.

ALASKAN TOURS. This is my ninth consecutive year in tours to and through Alaska. Join my personally conducted party or let me arrange your trip and give you the benefit of special rates. Write for descriptive literature. Mrs. A. H. Carlisle, 708 Selling Bldg., Portland, Oregon.

Edwin H. Worsham, a young man about 25 years of age, committed suicide at Condon on Friday morning last by shooting himself through the head with a .38 Colt's revolver. He came to Condon from Portland and was looking for work, and there was no apparent reason for his rash act.

The Rev. Father Power of the Redemption Order, who gave a mission in the Catholic church last November, will be heard here again on the 15th, 16th and 17th of this month. The services given by Father Power were very instructive and greatly appreciated by his hearers; and a cordial invitation is given to all to hear him on the evenings of Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the 15th, 16th and 17th inst.

Prof. S. H. Doak is just about to close a year's work as Principal of the Stanfield Public Schools which has been very successful and satisfactory to the patrons and school officers. Mrs. Doak has assisted the pupils in making their pennants and is greatly esteemed by all the children. In church and other social activities of the community, she has always been a faithful co-worker with her husband. It is regretted that they are not to be here next year, Mr. Doak having contracted to teach at Lexington, Oregon.—Stanfield Standard.

All Stores Now Close at 6 P. M.

By agreement between the merchants of Heppner, all stores of the city now close at 6 p. m. every evening, except Saturdays. Heretofore they have been closing at 6:30 but in order to be more metropolitan and up-to-date, it has been decided to make the closing hour a little earlier. The custom of early closing in Heppner has been followed for a number of years and found to be a very satisfactory arrangement to all concerned.

County Court is in session at the courthouse this week.

Chas. Burchell, farmer of Lexington, was in Heppner on Saturday.

L. E. Fridley, a leading farmer of the Social Ridge section, was in Heppner on Saturday.

Tim Rippee was an Eight Mile farmer doing business in Heppner on Saturday.

Alex Lindsay, prominent farmer near Ione, transacted business in this city yesterday.

J. L. Wilkins made a business trip to Pendleton last week. He returned home Saturday evening.

L. D. Neill and wife and E. O. Neill and wife were Butter creek residents trading with the Heppner merchants on Saturday.

J. F. Vaughn returned on Friday from a visit of several days in Portland on business in connection with the firm of Vaughn & Sons.

E. E. Miller, the Ione auctioneer, had charge of the sale of holstein heifers for Ike Howard in this city last Saturday.

Chas. Fuller, McKinney creek farmer and stockman, was doing business in Heppner on Saturday, and while here gladdened the heart of the printer to the extent of a year's subscription.

The portable shearing plant of H. A. Emery's of Hardman, passed through town on Monday on its way to the south side of the county. The crew has been busy for several weeks past in the sand country.

The new linotype at the G.-T. office was the occasion of much interest to our country friends Saturday. We are glad to have you call, friends and see how we are now getting up the type for each issue of the paper.

It is reported that R. F. Wigleworth, of Butter creek, disposed of his wool in Pendleton the past week, getting 17 cents for fine and 19 cents for his coarse wool. This is the best price yet reported to us for this season's clip.

N. S. Whetstone arrived at his shearing plant on the home place on Hinton creek Monday with his band of sheep from Grant county. This is a handy way to get wool to market and is being generally adopted by our flockmasters.

Under the supervision of Mike Szepeanek, Albert Bowker of the Heppner Garage has had constructed a blacksmith shop in which is installed his furnace for the proper heating of auto springs, and the institution is getting sufficiently equipped to do any job that is put up to them in the line of automobile repairing.

Frank Anderson, prominent Eight Mile farmer, was in Heppner Saturday. Mr. Anderson has recently returned from a visit to Wallowa county where he has some mining interests. He says that county is really enjoying a boom at the present and a lot of people are being interested in making their homes there. Land values are much higher there than here but land is on the move just the same.

Amanuel C. Petteys, pioneer resident of Morrow county, was in town from Jordan Siding on Saturday. Mr. Petteys fears that his fruit crop is pretty badly injured by the frosts of a week or so ago. He has almost always been fortunate in escaping and his fine orchard has been one on the creek that could be depended upon to furnish fruit for the neighborhood. We hope it may turn out that he will have plenty and to spare though it may look a little discouraging at present.

County Clerk Hill is going to try out a new style of ballot box at the coming primary election. A new precinct having been created made it necessary to provide an additional ballot box. The one he has made of canvas with metallic top and bottom, and is a collapsible affair and easy to handle and would seem to comply with the requirements of the election laws. After giving this box a try-out the clerk will be better able to judge as to whether it is the style of box to be adopted for use in this county.

Many Sheep Sold.

F. S. Johnson of Dakota, who has been here for the purpose of buying sheep for shipment east, has secured 17,000 head of fine wool yearling weathers at a price of $2.75 per head. Of the sheep purchased 10,000 head were secured from Boylen & Stephens. Yearling ewes are now selling at from $3.75 to $4.50 per head. Six bands of coarse ewes and lambs have been sold here and shipped to parties at Yakima. At a price of $3.50 per head 10,000 of this spring's lambs have been sold for fall delivery.—E. O.

Sale of Holsteins.

At a public sale at the old McRoberts stable in Heppner on Saturday afternoon, Ike Howard of Ione disposed of 21 head of Holstein heifers, all the animals going at fair prices. E. E. Miller, the auctioneer, of Ione, cried the sale, and after it was over, he departed with a bunch of the cattle for delivery at Echo.

Rev. O. W. Elliott of Portland, will preach at the South Methodist church next Sunday, both morning and evening. See his announcement in another column. He will visit here for several days next week.

A. W. Goodman of Glendendale, Wash., spent the week-end in Heppner visiting with old friends. Mr. Goodman was formerly at the head of the gents furnishing department at Minor & Co.

Our old friend, John Maidment, of Lone Rock, has entered politics over in Gilliam county, having announced himself as a candidate for the office of county commissioner, his name to be written on the republican primary ballot.

R. D. Richardson departed for Portland Tuesday morning where he expects to remain for several months. Mr. Richardson came here last September to work for the Heppner Light & Water Co. During his stay here he made many friends who regret to see him leave.

Horse Falls on Jimmie Morgan. When a saddle horse which he was riding last Monday morning reared over backward with him, James Morgan, Jr., received a dislocated shoulder and other bruises. The shoulder bone was also cracked. The accident occurred on Little Butter creek. Dr. Allison was summoned and the injured boy was brought to town, where he is now recuperating.

Kindness Appreciated. Mrs. L. E. Friedrich desires to thank the many friends who so kindly assisted her during the recent illness of her husband. Mr. Friedrich is slowly recovering, but it will probably be several weeks before he will be able to work again.
