Has Been a Splendid Season.

Not in many years has the Morrow county sheepraiser enjoyed a better season than the one just closing. A conservative estimate on the increase of lambs over former seasons is 10 per cent. The season for lambing has been almost perfect, the prevalence of cold winds, rains and flurries of snow of former seasons were entirely absent; grass has been abundant and the lambs dropped have been saved. The newly shorn sheep have likewise benefited from these same conditions, and there has been no loss at all among the thousands of fleeces but recently denuded of their winter covering. It is also observed that sheep never came to the shearing pens in better condition. The winter was light with plenty of good feed all the time and the flocks were all in prime condition. One of our leading flockmasters who has been in the business in this county for years, states that it is his opinion that this county never enjoyed a better season in the sheep industry than the present one. In times past better prices for wool have been obtained, but to average the business up as a whole this season stands in the lead. About Heppner, and over the county at large, shearing is practically done and the shearers are beginning to move to the other fields where the season is not so far advanced as here. Most of them going to Montana.
