Forest Fires Harm Soil Fertility.

A definite relation between the amount of humus, or vegetable matter in the soil, and its crop-producing power as shown by yields of corn, is given in figures just issued by the department of agriculture. The department therefore advocates the use of various methods to introduce the required humus into the soil.

Experts of the forest service state that the soils of the whole country, and particularly of the south, have lost and are losing immense amounts of this source of soil fertility through forest fires which apparently do little immediate damage but rob the soil of accumulations of humus. In many parts of the south, land is being cleared for farming, and where such forest land has not been burned there is a large percentage of vegetable matter, which provides considerable fertility, and a good texture. Moreover this soil has a greater capacity to absorb and retain moisture, and thus is less likely to be washed and gullied under heavy rains. For these reasons, leaving out of account the damage done to standing timber, the department's authorities are agreed that fire should be rigidly kept out of woodlands.

First Newspaper Printed in English Language.

The first newspaper printed in the English language, with its old-English type and its quaint account of events in foreign countries, was a pamphlet issued in 1621. Its title, "Corrant of Nevves from Itallie, Germanie, France, and other places," is as curious as its contents. For many years it had been supposed that no copy of the Corrant was in existence, but recently a copy of this interesting document was discovered, and a photograph of one page of it is reproduced in the June Popular Mechanics Magazine.

School Notes.

By Supt. Notson.

The work of grading the eighth grade examination papers and recording the grades has been a very tedious piece of work. A very much larger number of applicants wrote upon the examination than at any previous examination. The examination proved very difficult for a large number. A large percentage of the applicants failed. Some of these are conditioned in only one or two studies, but many will be required to write upon all the branches in which they do not have exemptions. The next examination will be held June 4 and 5.

Teachers who have completed the reading circle work for the year should send in for blanks upon which to make report of their work. Contracts should not be sent in for registration unless the teacher at the same time sends in a report of the reading circle work and also her certificate for registration. Certificates can not be registered until the reading circle work is completed, and contracts are not valid until the certificate is registered.

The National Educational Association will meet at St. Paul, Minn., July 6-11. It is not likely that many of our teachers can attend, but those residing in the middle West, who go home for vacation, may be able to attend.
