

Strawberries

for

Canning or Table Use

We have always handled the bulk of the canning berry business and expect to this season as well. About June 1st we look for STRAWBERRIES to be at their best, both as to quality and price.

We advise those wanting them for canning to leave their orders and we will see that they are filled when both quality and price reach the most economical level.

This season, we have made arrangements with some large growers this side of Portland to supply us. This will insure fresh stock.

For your information, let us caution you that practically all berries will be packed in the new pint boxes. This new package will necessitate your buying a larger number of crates than formerly, but of course the price will be correspondingly lower.

to be held at

LEXINGTON, OREGON

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1914

State President J. D. Brown, and A. R. Shumway, member of the legislative committee, are to be present and deliver addresses. A literary and musical program is also being prepared and other entertainment will be offered.

BIG BASKET DINNER. BRING WELL FILLED BASKETS

The public in general is invited to come and enjoy the day to be spent in the beautiful grove at Lexington.

ONE OF THE BIG EVENTS OF THE SEASON

FOREST NOTES.

Four buffalo calves have just been born on the Wichita national forest, bringing the herd up to 51.

In co-operation with the weather bureau, forest rangers are to measure snow depths in the western mountains.

Students of the Oregon agricultural college are working at the forest nursery on the Sluslaw forest. The arrangement is said to be mutually satisfactory since the students gain experience in forest nursery practice and their assistance lowers the cost of nursery work.

Manufacturers have found that red alder from the Pacific coast is a suitable material for clothespins. Alder makes a white, smooth, springy pin. As a result of this fact, a clothespin factory, said to be the first on the Pacific coast, may be established at Portland, Oregon.

The city of Tacoma, Washington, has entered into a co-operative agreement with the forest service for the protection of the source of its water supply, the watershed of the Green river, which lies within the Rainier national forest. The two agencies working together will protect this stream from the results of forest destruction by fire or by other agencies.

The annual capacity of the forest nurseries of the government is about 25 million young trees.

Cornell University recently dedicated a forestry building in connection with the state college of agriculture.

It is said that the best time of day to see forest fires from lookout stations are just after daylight and just before sunset.

The forest service has been requested to co-operate with the port authorities of Coos Bay, Oregon, in planting to control shifting sand dunes.

Jack pine trees planted ten years ago in the sand hills of Nebraska are now large enough to produce fence posts. Last year the first seed was gathered from this plantation.

The agricultural experiment station at Pullman, Washington, is establishing an arboretum in which it is proposed to grow a group of each of the important timber trees of the temperate zone.

Road Viewers Well Pleased.

Supervisor W. W. Cryder, W. O. Minor and C. L. Keithley returned on last Thursday from a trip of inspection over the Morrow county end of the Heppner-Ritter road. They have located a good grade for this road to the Cow Camp on the John Day; in fact they have now selected a route that will lead them past the difficulties heretofore encountered in getting out beyond that point, by leaving this place to one side and not touching there at all. More definite action in regard to the establishing of this road will be taken as soon as it is ascertained what the county court of Grant county will do on the other side.
