Might Be All Right.

Two farmers met in a western town a day or two after a cyclone had visited that particular neighborhood.

"She shook things up pretty bad out at my place," said one, stroking his whiskers meditatively, "that new barn o' yours hurt any?"

"Wall," drawled the other, "I dunno; I hain't found it yet."—National Food Magazine.

Lime Swick, prominent sheepman of the Cottonwood district above Monument, brought his wool to Heppner, Monday. Mr. Swick reports the roads rather muddy, but this does not bother the stockman of his section. Range and crops are in excellent condition over that way and business in general is very good.

A frost which did considerable damage to gardens over the county visited this section on Friday night. There was also a slight fall of snow on the foothills to the south of Heppner and a few days of such weather as to make one glad to be next to the heating stove.
