

WEEK'S NEWS.

Local And Personal Happenings of Heppner And Vicinity.

Frank Griffin was up from Ione on Tuesday.

Wm. Padberg was a Heppner visitor on Tuesday.

Death to headaches—glasses fitted by Drs. Lowe and Turner.

Mrs. F. S. Bender of Ione was a visitor in our city on Tuesday.

Dan Rice is confined to his home in this city with an attack of pneumonia.

Dick Turpin, prominent Ione citizen, was transacting business in this city Tuesday.

Miss Mabel Cameron of Portland is visiting with her sister, Miss Josephine Cameron in this city.

Jesse Turner left last Sunday for Corvallis to resume his studies at the Oregon Agricultural College.

N. P. Benson of Morgan, was a pleasant visitor at this office while in town on Friday last to attend the fair.

Frank Christenson, the Ione Drug Store man, was a Fair visitor on Saturday.

Miss Mary Currin departed this morning for Corvallis to resume her studies at the Oregon Agricultural College.

Roy Glascock and wife went to Pendleton Tuesday to attend the Round-Up. They will return home Sunday evening.

Ed Brown of Black Horse recently purchased a Maxwell from the Jack Rabbit garage. The car is of the latest model.

Neal Crawford left for Pendleton Wednesday to attend the Round-Up. He will visit with relatives at Pasco, Wash., before returning home.

In Circuit Court this week a divorce was granted to Susan O. Sperry from W. C. Sperry. F. H. Robinson, Ione attorney, appeared for Mrs. Sperry.

J. C. Stapleton has sold the Richardson property in south Heppner which he recently bought, to Hugh C. Githens. Mr. Githens will move on to the place at once.

T. D. Matthews, of Echo, and owner of one of the big alfalfa ranches at the mouth of Little Butter creek, was in Heppner shaking hands with old acquaintances during the fair.

Ralph Thompson and wife, and Mrs. Belle Thompson left today in Mr. Thompson's car for Pendleton, where they will attend the Round-Up. They will go from Pendleton to their home in Portland.

Miss Gladys Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Cox of Rhea creek, left last Sunday for Wenatchee, Wn., where she will remain for the major portion of the winter at the home of relatives. Mrs. Cox has a sister living at that place.

Mrs. Tom West of Portland is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson in this city. Mrs. West formerly lived here, where she attended grammar and high school, and will be remembered by her many friends here as Miss Elise Bartholomew.

A final hearing was had in the habeas corpus proceedings in the suit of Williams vs. Grabill before Judge Phelps on Friday. The guardianship of D. H. Grabill over the minor children of his deceased son, Jim Grabill, was sustained by Judge Phelps.

Mrs. Flora I. Foreman, Socialist candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, was in Heppner on Saturday evening and delivered an address on the street to a large gathering of people, presenting her claims for recognition by the electorate at the polls in November.

Mrs. H. L. Writer, of Eureka, Mont., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bauman, farmers on the Borg ranch west of Heppner, departed for Spokane Sunday where she will reside for the winter. Mrs. Writer has been enjoying a visit with her parents here for the past five weeks.

Mrs. Louis Campbell returned to her home at Pendleton on Tuesday. She was accompanied by her father, Harvey C. Bush, who will visit with her for a while before going on to Canyon City, where Mrs. Milt Morgan, another daughter, resides. Mr. Bush makes his home at Hood River.

Ben Burroughs and wife, and Ben Burroughs, Jr., and wife, of Pendleton, visited in Heppner Friday, being among the crowd of 85 visitors from the Round-Up city. The Burroughs are relatives of Mrs. M. I. Case, and enjoyed a very pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Case while here.

George D. Fell and wife were among the excursionists over from Pendleton on Friday. "Ticked to death" to be back among the old friends again. Sorry so many of these old-timers of our little city could not stay with us longer than a day, the time seemed almost too short for getting acquainted again.

Hon. R. A. Booth was made glad on his visit to Heppner during the fair by meeting many of his old-time friends, former residents of the Willamette Valley. Mrs. J. H. Edwards, of Sand Hollow was among the number and she and Mr. Booth attended the same school together when they were children. Upon making herself known to the Senator he remembered her very well, and the former acquaintance was pleasantly renewed.

The baby underwear exhibited at the fair and marked "47 years old and worn by a man who now weighs 216 pounds" was the object of much curiosity and admiration. The articles were made of fine linen and have been well preserved. These were made by the mother of C. L. Kethley and he had the honor of wearing them shortly after his arrival on the scenes of this mundane sphere. He would have a dandy time getting them on now and he ought to give them to someone who really has use for the garments.

If you are looking for something in nifty presents, see Haylor.

Willis McCarty of Portland attended the Fair on Saturday, returning to his home Sunday morning.

RAMS FOR SALE—I have Lincoln and Shropshire. Both lambs and yearlings. C. A. MINOR.

Frank Turner abandoned the ranch during the fair and brought his wife and babies to town to see the sights and enjoy a season of recreation.

Mrs. C. A. Minor accompanied her daughter, Blanche, to Portland on Sunday. Miss Minor will enter school for the winter at the metropolis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Day came up from St. Johns to take in the Fair and enjoy a visit with their Morrow county relatives and friends for a few days.

Dr. Alex Reid, a former resident of Morrow county, now of Stanfield, visited the Morrow county fair on Friday with the Let'er Buck boosters from Umatilla county.

Andrew Neel and wife, and their son, H. S. Neel and his wife, were interested visitors in Heppner from Lone Rock during the Fair. Mr. and Mrs. A. Neel are early pioneers of this section.

Miss Muriel McCarty came up from The Dalles to attend the Fair. She was accompanied by Miss Duker, a schoolmate, whose home is at Fossil. The young ladies returned to The Dalles Sunday.

Mayor James Kyle, of Stanfield, was among the excursionists from Umatilla county on Friday. He is a big, jolly, whole-soned fellow and a right good booster for the project town over which he presides.

D. H. Grabill, of Ione, recently disposed of a tract of 160 acres of land on the creek to T. H. Downing. There are 40 acres of alfalfa on the place and Mr. Downing will make his home there. The consideration was $2500.

J. M. Bentley, Pendleton real-estate dealer and Umatilla county pioneer was a member of the Pendleton excursion party which visited here the second day of the fair. Mr. Bentley was assessor of Umatilla county before Morrow was made a separate county. He is an uncle of the Wells boys of this city.

Several Ione business men were in Heppner in Monday attending to business matters. Among them we noted J. E. Cronan, A. E. Johnson, Walter Pruyar, Frank Engleman, J. A. Waters, Roy Whiteis, W. H. Cronk, J. T. Knappenberg, Ed Bristow, Jack Mills, Willard Blake, F. W. Sears, Mr. Jackson, John Cochran, Joe Woods, Guy Haguewood, S. E. Moore and L. Padberg.

C. A. Barratt, of Athena, republican nominee for joint senator for Umatilla, Union and Morrow counties visited Heppner on Friday coming over on the Pendleton special. Mr. Barrett is making an active canvass of his district and expects to return to Morrow county at a later date to labor more earnestly with the voters of this end and line up their support for his return to the legislative halls at Salem.

A very happy meeting was that of Judge Galloway and George H. Parsons. In days past, when Judge Galloway was a member of the State Fair Board and Mr. Parsons was in the business of furnishing music for such shows, their relations were most intimate and friendly. The judge contracted for the Parsons' band six consecutive seasons. In their meeting at Heppner last week many pleasant reminiscences were recalled.

L. N. Prater, who resides at Pendleton much of the time, has just completed a nice home for himself and wife at Walla Walla where he expects to live in the future. Mr. Prater and family were residents of this burg for many years, leaving here shortly after the flood and going to Pendleton. He has been here but once since, and that for a short time only, and when here on Friday he was sure that everyone had changed in appearance except himself. It kept him busy getting acquainted again with the younger set who have grown into manhood and womanhood during his absence. Furthermore he is convinced that Heppner is still the best place on top of the earth and has a splendid future before her.

This office acknowledges a very pleasant call from E. C. Roberts, of Lebanon, Ore., President of the State Board of Horticulture while in our city on Friday. He is a cousin of the Huston boys of Eight Mile and enjoyed a very pleasant visit with them during the time he was able to spare from his official duties. Mr. Roberts visited a number of our orchards while in the county and dropped some information and instruction that should prove of much benefit to our fruit raisers and aid them in the production of cleaner and better fruit in the future. He will make it a point to get in touch with all parts of the state while holding this important office to the end that all sections may have the benefits of his broad knowledge of horticulture.

At the Elkhorn Restaurant Friday evening considerable excitement was caused by a row that occurred there. The place was full of people at the time when two young fellows from Butter creek, said to be somewhat "under the influence" came in and blocked the door leading from the kitchen to the dining room. Gong Lane, the proprietor, requested them to move out of the way, and upon their not heeding his request, he proceeded to put them out of the way, using a broom to enforce his demands. Mrs. Bob Dexter, who was working at the place, was brought into the melee, thinking that an attack was being made upon her son, and in her excitement, flourished the small knife she was using to peel potatoes. The racket brought the marshal to the scene, and the rumpus was quieted. Lane and Mrs. Dexter were each placed under $20 bonds by Recorder Williams and a hearing on the case will be had before him later. Lane expressed the opinion that his place does not receive the protection it is entitled to, and he feels justified in the measures used at this time to clear his house of disturbers.

Maurice E. Smead of the Portland Commercial Club, came up Friday evening and spent Saturday in the city.

Tracey Wilcox, formerly a stockman and farmer of Wheeler county, but now living in Portland, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Wattenburger and family of Butter creek, attended the fair and visited with their relatives in Heppner.

J. F. Waters, a stockman of the Spray country spent several days in Heppner last week, delivering sheep and attending the fair.

F. H. Robinson, the Ione attorney, served as one of the clerks in the office of the Morrow County Fair Association during the Fair.

LEXINGTON.

Gertie Beymer came over from Monument to attend school at this place this winter.

John McCormick is reported on the sick list. He has not been able to be about for a few days.

Lee Reaney has moved his family into the Methodist parsonage, recently vacated by Rev. Taber.

J. G. Adams of Portland, x-ray and dynamite speaker for the prohibition cause, gave a lecture at the M. E. church at this place.

The Round-Up will take place this week in Pendleton. Lexington will attend as usual, with the same number of people and some more new ones.

Miss Edna Carmichael departed for Waldport, Ore., where she will have charge of the primary department of the schools of that place for the coming year.

Mrs. Ida Burehell and daughter, Hulda, left for Monmouth where they will reside for the winter. Miss Hulda will attend the Oregon State Normal school at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wyrick of Pendleton spent a day in Lexington last week. Mrs. Wyrick was visiting her father, Cyrus Boon, whom she has not seen for 21 years.

Since the heavy rains in this vicinity very few complaints have been registered against the condition of the roads. Some benefits have been derived from the small showers.

Everybody attended the Morrow County Fair. Lexington was almost deserted Friday and Saturday. From reports, this vicinity captured many premiums, which goes to show what can be raised here when the same is taken care of.

IRRIGON.

Mrs. Bancroft left Sunday afternoon for Pendleton where she will visit with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bellamy of Castle Rock were in Irrigon Sunday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Davis.

Carl Doering and family, well known in Irrigon, have recently moved to Blalock, Ore., where Mr. Doering is acting as railroad operator.

The major portion of the community prize given at the Fair was taken by Irrigon. Mr. Roadruck straight this for his earnest and straightforward manner of conducting the Irrigon exhibits.

It is reported by C. L. Roadruck that Irrigon has taken over one hundred prizes, most of these blue ribbons, from the combined Irrigon exhibit at the county fair. How is this for a small town that is just getting a start?

L. M. Davis, his two sons, Fred and Jesse, and Frank Doble drove through Castle Rock Friday, to Mr. Davis' homestead seven miles beyond. They then drove to the Deos corrals on Willow creek, where they got three extra head and returned home.

The young people of the Federated church will hold a social and reception in the parlors of the Federated church next Friday night in honor of the teachers of the Heppner school at 8 o'clock. They and their friends are cordially invited to be present.

You and your children are safe if you wear Dr. Lowe and Turner's superior glasses, eye safe and price safe. They cost you no more than the ordinary kind usually sold, and you have the benefit of their skill, professional guidance and many years experience as exclusive eye specialists. Their glasses are guaranteed to give entire satisfaction whether they cost $2.00 or more. Palace hotel parlors, Sept. 27, 28, 29.

The Federated Church.

You will appreciate this and better understand our mission. Evangelistic service 8:00 p. m. with good music. All are cordially invited. Strangers welcome.

REVIVAL.
Revival services begin at the Christian church next Sunday. The minister, T. S. Handsaker will have charge of the services. Mr. and Mrs. Handsaker have spent several years in evangelistic work. They conducted a very successful meeting in Heppner six years ago.

There will be services each evening except Monday. Subject next Sunday morning: "The Secret of Power." 7:30 p. m. "What Think Ye of Christ?" Tuesday evening, "Fifteen Minutes in Hell."

There will be special music at each service. Watch for further announcements.

Born—This morning to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McNamee, a 10 1/2-pound son. Dr. Alison reports mother and child doing well.
