Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Swaggart were up from Jordan Siding on Friday, being accompanied by Robert Beard, of Genesee, Idaho, who is making a short visit with friends in Morrow county.

Justin L. Simpson was seriously hurt in his home on Tuesday, when he stepped backwards into the opening made by the cellar door, which had been left open. He fell to the bottom of the stairs and it is feared that he may be injured internally.

Tom Morgan, who has been visiting with relatives at Corvallis and other Willamette valley points for the past several weeks, came up to Cecil last Monday, and is visiting for a few days with his son, Marcellus Morgan.

This office is very busy this week printing the official ballots for the November election. The heavy increase in registration makes it a bigger job than usual, and on account of the numerous initiative and referendum measures to be voted on, the ballot will be a big one.

Mrs. Lattie Bonide, of Omaha, Neb., arrived in Heppner Monday evening to be with her father, John Rasmus, who has been in very poor health for some time. Mrs. Bonide, herself, is now convalescing from injuries received in an automobile accident some time ago.

Ira Sperry, of Goldendale, Wash., arrived in Heppner Thursday last on a visit to his brother, G. W., of this city and other relatives living in Morrow county. Mr. Sperry is a successful farmer of the Klickitat country where he is extensively engaged in wheat raising.

J. R. Nunamaker, the Hood River fruit grower is transacting business in Morrow county this week. Mr. Nunamaker was formerly at the head of the Nunamaker Sheep and Land Company, who sold their property to Ruge Brothers, who still operate the holdings under the former name.

C. L. Roadruck, well known farmer of Irrigon, was in the city this week. Mr. Roadruck, with his wife, had charge of the Irrigon exhibit at the recent county fair, and it was largely due to their efforts that the Irrigon exhibit made the good showing it did, and bringing high compliments from all who saw it.

"Paddy" the old faithful dray horse, belonging to F. N. Frye, died suddenly on Monday morning. He passed away while in the harness and helping draw a load of wood from the depot to the schoolhouse. He had been a familiar figure on the streets of Heppner for many long years, as a dray horse, and always on the job. Mr. Winters, who had been handling the animal for a number of years, feels that he has lost a faithful friend and one that could always be depended on in lifting his share of the load.

W. O. Minor speaks very highly of the work that is being done in opening up the road between Heppner and Ritter. On the other side of the John Day the road is completed and there remains about three-quarters of a mile to be finished by Morrow county on this side. Mr. Minor states that the work is being well done and at a small outlay of cash. This road will bring Heppner in touch with some 500 people and bring a trade to this town that has been going principally to Pendleton. Heppner will be 36 miles nearer and the grade is better. In company with J. M. Sprouis, Mr. Minor was out on the road the past week, taking out a load of dynamite.
