OPENING OF THE TUMALO PROJECT

Portland, Ore., Nov. 17, 1914—
The opening of the Tumalo irrigation project, the first in the United States to be financed by a state, has been officially announced. Seventeen thousand five hundred acres are thrown open to entry under the terms of the Carey Act at $40 an acre. The terms are one-tenth cash, the balance in ten years. Detailed information may be had by addressing the project engineer, O. Laurgaard, at Laidlaw, Oregon.

It is stated that the lands under this project are excellent for grains and hardy vegetables, and stock raising is also successful. The high altitude renders this section subject to frosts in late spring and early fall and frosts have been known to occur during the summer months. It is expected that this condition will improve to some extent as the land is cultivated, but people desiring to locate on this land are advised to make a personal inspection instead of trusting to any unofficial reports.

Every boy and girl in Oregon will have a chance next year to take part in a hog raising contest to be backed by the Portland Union Stock Yards, the State Bankers' Association and other organizations interested in the agricultural development of the Northwest. It is planned to permit the young people to borrow money on the security of their parents or school principal which will enable them to buy their hogs for cash at current market rates, the money to be repaid when the stock is sold. The boys and girls will be required to keep an accurate record of all their expenditures and to submit a complete report of their operations at the end of the year.

Forest Supervisor Merritt at Bend has just received word of the final decision of the Secretary of Agriculture regarding an area of 28,500 acres in the Deschutes National Forest along the Metolius River. The secretary has decided that the land is chiefly valuable for timber and is not subject to entry as agricultural land. The yellow pine timber on this acreage is estimated to amount to about 500,000,000 feet. Eighty-nine persons have filed applications for land in this section and under this decision of the secretary their claims will not be allowed.

A meeting of stock holders in the Co-operative Creamery was held at Junction City recently and attended by 450 ranchers. The secretary's report showed that during the two years the plant has been operated 233,933 pounds of butter have been made, valued at $67,035, and the sales of by-products has brought the gross receipts to $68,531. The average price of butter for the two years has been 33 1-3 cents per pound, the lowest price having been 25 cents and the highest 40 cents.

On December 2, 3, and 4 the 28th annual meeting of the Oregon State Horticultural Society will be held at Medford. A program of great interest has been prepared for the event and fruit growers from all the northwestern states will be in attendance. It is expected by the officers that this meeting will be the best ever held in the history of the organization.

Forest Notes.

Although there were an unusual number of forest fires on the national forests in Oregon and Washington this year, the loss of merchantable timber has been relatively small.

The propellers of aeroplanes such as are used in the present European war may be made of selected ash which is both strong and light and will not split under vibration or shock, or of built-up layers of spruce with mahogany centers. The framework of the machines, too, is generally made of wood, spruce being used on account of its straight grain and freedom from hidden defects.

A surprisingly large number of substances, ranging all the way from the condensed fumes of smelters to the skimmed milk of creameries have been tried or suggested as means of preserving wood from decay. Most of them, however, have been found to have little or no value for the purpose. Certain forms of coal tar creosote and zinc chloride are the most widely used wood preservatives.

It is said that the German invaders of Belgium, whatever else they may have destroyed, have been careful not to injure jark trees. The cavalrymen, so the report goes, are forbidden to tie their horses to trees for fear that the animals will know the bark. Germany was the first nation to apply forestry on a large scale, some of the crown forests having been under scientific management for over a hundred years.

OREGON HIGHWAYS TO BE COMPLETED

Great Scenic Route from Pendleton to Astoria is Assured.

Astoria, Ore., Nov. 17, (Special)—
That the Columbia highway will be opened from Pendleton to Astoria July 1, 1915, is asserted by State Engineer Bowlby, who is preparing his annual report. Figures show that a vast amount of work was done under the supervision of the state highway commission during the past year. This work was done in the counties of Jackson, Clatsop, Columbia, Multnomah, Hood River, Wasco, Sherman and Washington.

A total of $930,000 was spent this year on the Columbia highway between Wasco and Seaside, and there will be available to be spent before July 1, of next year, $670,000. There will be provided by July 1, 97 miles of newly located and constructed graded road of a maximum grade of five per cent, width of roadbed 24 feet, and curves with a minimum radius of 200 feet. The work in Clatsop county is 80 per cent completed and that in Columbia county is 75 per cent completed.

DON'T FORGET OREGON ORPHANS THANKSGIVING

Therefore, one cannot donate anything for a better cause than for the work of this institution. Money can always be used to good advantage, and their needs are for everything that can be used in a household; canned goods, groceries of all kinds, especially sugar, rice, beans and flour, also vegetables and fruits of all kinds.

The railroad, steamboat and express companies running into Portland have recognized the importance of this institution sufficiently to dead-head all donations shipped to it if properly boxed and plainly marked THE BOYS' & GIRLS' AID SOCIETY OF OREGON, PORTLAND, OREGON.

The results of the work of this institution can now be seen in many parts of the state. Many of the children have now grown into manhood and womanhood, many are happily married and the largest percent of the cases have turned out good and law-abiding citizens; therefore, help the good cause along.

It is sincerely hoped that every person having the welfare of The Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon at heart will not fail to remember them this year. This Society is caring for all the dependent and neglected children of the state who may be committed to it by the proper authorities. Their annual report is descriptive of some of the work they have accomplished, showing the Society has received into its care 4378 children since its organization. During the past year 443 have been received from twenty-five different counties as follows:

Baker, Benton, Clackamas, Crook, Clatsop, Coos, Columbia, Curry, Douglas, Hood River, Jackson, Josephine, Klamath, Lane, Linn, Marion, Multnomah, Malheur, Umatilla, Union, Wheeler, Willowa, Wasco, Washington and Yamhill.

Another grand thing which the Society accomplishes is the investigation of complaints of abuse and neglect among children, and they quickly have an agent on the spot, and what otherwise would be nobody's business they make the business of this noble institution, and if there is merit in the complaint they see that the matter is brought before the proper authorities, and the children made disposition of as may be for their best interests.

Thomas E. Sheridan of Lena, was a Heppner business visitor on Monday.

Willard Blake, prominent Ione business man, was in the city Monday.

Robert Young spent several days in town this week doctoring a severe cold.

Robert Allstott, Eight Mile farmer, sent a car of hogs to Portland the first of the week.

W. S. Smith, well known business man of Ione, was in Heppner a few hours on Monday.

R. H. Weeks was down from his home at the Hamilton ranch Monday. He is at present engaged in hauling wood to town.

George H. Parsons, who furnished music for the Morrow county fair, came up from Portland last Friday with a bunch of his boys. They played for the Hibernian ball.
