BREEDING STOCK TO BE BARRED FROM SHOW

Portland, Ore., Nov. 24, 1914—

The stock breeders of the Pacific Northwest will learn with regret that on account of the presence of the dreaded foot and mouth disease in the Middle West, and the possibility that through some means infection might be brought into this territory, the management of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition has decided to eliminate all entries of breeding stock of every description and confine the show exclusively to meat animals.

"It has been found best," said Manager Plummer, "in view of the fact that the foot and mouth disease is prevalent in the eastern states, to do away with the breeding classes, not only in cattle, but hogs and sheep as well, for this year. We do not believe there is the slightest danger that the disease will enter this territory but the value of the stock to be shown is too great to permit us to run any risk no matter how slight it might be. The stock exhibited will be that intended for slaughter. This is the only show to adopt this course, but we believe our action will meet with universal approval."

The Ten-Bar ranch, eight miles east of Bend, consisting of 640 acres has been listed with the state Immigration commission for sale to competent farmers in tracts of 40 and 80 acres. The owner, J. D. Finn, proposes to sell the 40 acre tracts at $2500 and the 80 acre tracts at $5000 each. On the 40 acre tract he will build a three room house and a barn 16 x 32, on the 80 acre tract a four room house and a barn 32 x 40. The sale will be made on any reasonable terms with 6 per cent on deferred payments.

Oregon apples are finding a market in far-away Siberia and the call for stock apples is unusually heavy.
A shipment some time ago of 125 boxes of Hood River apples to Vladivostok was received in excellent condition and met with ready demand from the natives. Within the last few days other shipments have gone forward, being routed by way of Puget Sound from which point they will go by steamer to Japan, thence to Siberia. No advice has been received as to the prices at which these apples are sold to the ultimate consumer.

More than 12,000,000 feet of timber, board measure, was given away by the government to settlers in the vicinity of the national forests in Oregon during the past year, according to a report just issued by the district forester. The entire distribution was made in lots not exceeding 80 cords to any one settler. During the same period timber was sold to the amount of 24,594,000 feet, amounting to $159,362. Of this amount 35 per cent was turned over to the state for road and school purposes.

The new Hoke cannery at Medford has closed its first season and has been able to pay a dividend of 6 per cent, a very unusual result of the first year's operation of a co-operative concern. The cannery put up 35,000 cases of Rogue River Valley fruits and vegetables during the season and the management expects to at least double this record next year.

Forest Notes.

The town forest of Baden-Baden, Germany, yields an annual profit of $5.25 per acre, or a total net profit of nearly $67,500.

Outside of its use for fence post, black locust finds its principal utilization in insulator pins and brackets for telegraph and telephone lines.

One hundred shade trees will be planted by the Massachusetts forestry association in cities or towns of four population classes which win prize contests for excellence in street tree planting.

The Russian government has placed an embargo on all kinds of lumber, to prevent its exportation; walnut lumber, including Circassian walnut, much prized by American furniture makers, is specifically mentioned.

Experience with forests fires on the national forests this year show that automobiles, where they can be used, furnish the quickest and cheapest transportation for crews of fire fighters. Motor rates are higher than those for teams for the actual time employed, but the total cost per distance traveled and in wages paid to men in getting to fires is much less. The time-saving is self evident; trips which ordinarily require two days time by teams have been made by automobiles in a few hours.
