Jap and Chinese Farmers.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—There are 760 Chinese and 2502 Japanese farmers in the United States, and the majority of them are tenant farmers that pay cash rentals, according to a report issued today by the United States Department of Agriculture. The average size of these farms is about 65 acres. California, Texas, Colorado, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Nebraska, Idaho, New Mexico, Arizona and Montana are the States which contain the bulk of the Jap and Chinese farmers.

C. L. Ashbaugh of Lost Valley Gets Good Yield of Potatoes.
According to the Condon Globe, C. L. Ashbaugh, of Lost Valley, Gilliam county, cleaned up $135 this year on an acre and three quarters of potatoes. Mr. Ashbaugh planted these potatoes in the spring with no idea of trying to see how many he could raise and they got no more attention than the ordinary potato field. After putting enough away in the cellar for his winter use, Mr. Ashbaugh marketed sixty sacks for $2.25 per sack. Land is selling in that neighborhood for $25 and $30 per acre.

Oregon Has New County.
Last Saturday Governor West proclaimed Jefferson Oregon's 35th county. The residents of Crook county at the recent election voted to divide it. Just where the county seat will be located has not yet been decided.

MANY PRIZES FOR FINE POULTRY AWARDS

The Third Annual Morrow County Poultry Show which will be held in the Club building January 6, 7, 8, and 9, 1915, has been made more enticing than ever to exhibitors of show stuff. The management has arranged a long list of special awards which the various business houses of Heppner are putting up to encourage more entries of a general nature.

Following is a list which will be found in the premium book:

Minor & Co., offers $5.00 in poultry food and poultry tonic for the best collection. E. G. Noble offers $1.50 pair of gloves for the best cockerel in the show. Heppner Milling Co. offers one sack of Heppner Best Flour for best R. C. Leghorn; offers one sack of Heppner Best Flour for best S. C. Brown Leghorn. Gilliam & Bisbee offers one Galvanized Brooder coop for best Barred Cockerel. Thomson Bros. offers 10 lbs. of Thomson Bros. Special Coffee for best R. I. Pullet. Wm. Haylor offers one Eight Day Alarm Clock for best White Wyandotte Pullet. Phelps Grocery Co. offers one sack of Scratch Food for the best pen of Orpingtons. Heppner Herald offers one yearly subscription for the heaviest hen in the show; offers one yearly subscription for the heaviest cock in the show. Slocum Drug Co. offers 2 packages of Columbia Roup Cure for the best Ancona Pullet. Gurdane & Son offers a $3.00 box of chocolates for the best Parti-Colored Cockerel in the show. Gazette-Times Special. To the farmer making the largest entry of poultry at the show, The Gazette-Times will give 250 letterheads and 250 envelopes to match to his order. Diamond Box. Man. Co., of Minneapolis offers 1/2 dozen 15-egg size parcels-post "Diamond" Cartons as a premium for the best pullet in the show. The Kayes-Davis Co., of Battle Creek, Mich., offers 100 of their new Challenge Leg Bands as follows: 50 for the best White Rock Pullet and 50 for the best White Leghorn male. National White Wyandotte Club. "The National White Wyandotte Club will offer five handsome ribbons on White Wyandottes for best Cock, Hen, Cockerel, Pullet and Pen, to be competed for by members of the Club only. You can become a member of the National White Wyandotte Club and be eligible to compete for these ribbons by sending $1.00 annual dues to A. J. Gies, Secretary-Treasurer, Delmar, New York, which will entitle you to membership to October 1, 1915. The Club issues a handsome year book and other literature which alone are worth the amount of the annual dues." The National Single Comb White Leghorn Club offers to members in keeping with the Club rules, five beautiful badges as follows: Best Male, Best Female, Best Pen, Best Display and Best Dozen Eggs. Morrow County Poultry Association offers $5 in gold for best pen of Rocks. Morrow County Poultry Association offers $5 in gold for best pen of Wyandottes. Morrow County Poultry Association offers $5 in gold for best pen of R. I. Reds. Morrow County Poultry Association offers $5 in gold for best pen of Orpingtons. Morrow County Poultry Association offers $5 in gold for best pen in the Mediterranean class. Morrow County Poultry Association offers $1 for the best pen of Ducks. Oscar Borg offers one silver loving cup for best Bird in show to be won three times. (Won last year by Bert Stone, Golden Wyandotte.) First National Bank of Heppner offers $5 in gold for the five best male birds. First National Bank of Heppner offers $5 in gold for the five best female birds. Vaughn & Sons offers one glass churn for the best Buff Rock Cockerel.

Following are the rules and regulations of the Morrow County Poultry Association:

Rule 1—The Morrow County Poultry Association show will be held under the rules of the standard of perfection. All awards to be made by comparison.

Rule 2—Entries close midnight, January 4, 1915.

Rule 3—During the judging the aisle in which the judge is at work will be closed to all. This rule will be strictly enforced.

Rule 4—Entry fee for poultry is $.25 each specimen. Turkeys, geese and Ducks 25c; exhibition pens 50c extra, which includes care, cooping and feed. All birds must be entered singly. Pen birds compete as singles; singles can compete in pens. Old and young can compete together.

Rule 5—All entries must be made in writing on entry blank furnished by the Morrow County Poultry Association addressed to the Sec. Frank Hall, Heppner, Oregon, and should be mailed before midnight, January 4, 1915. Positively no entries will be accepted when mailed later than this date, and must be accompanied by the amount of entry fee through express or post office money order or check made payable to the Secretary. A special entry blank has been prepared and will be mailed upon application.

Rule 6—Express charges must be paid in full by shipper to the Morrow County Poultry Association show, Heppner, Oregon, otherwise birds will not be received. Exhibitors need not accompany birds.

Rule 7—Shipping coops must be marked with the name of the breed, sex and number of birds contained and address of exhibitor, so as to insure prompt return at the close of the exhibition. Printed shipping tags will be furnished by the Secretary on receipt of entry blank designating the number of birds to be exhibited.

Rule 8—All birds for exhibition must be received and in the show room not later than 9 o'clock A. M., January 6th. Birds unavoidably detained may be admitted at the discretion of the Executive Board.

Rule 9—Any specimen showing symptoms of disease during exhibition will be immediately removed from the building and returned to the owner.

Rule 10—Should birds be entered and not shown, the fees for same will be forfeited to the Association.

Rule 11—The term "cock," "hen," "cockerel," and "pullet" are thus defined: Cock and hen are birds one year old and over; cockerel and pullet are birds under one year old. An exhibition pen shall consist of one male and four females, to be made up of young or old birds. A collection shall consist of cock, hen, cockerel and pullet.

Rule 12—Suitable advertising cards may be placed on the coops after the awards have been made, but no advertising of any kind will be permitted until after that time. Advertising or display cards will not be permitted to be erected on the top of coops or extend but six inches above edge of coop. Advertising cards sent to the Secretary with necessary instructions will receive proper attention.

Rule 13—The premiums will be designated by a handsome ribbon properly printed. First premium, blue; second premium, red; third premium green; fourth premium, yellow.

Rule 14—Specimens of breeds not in the standard which are deemed worthy by the judge, will be given prizes according to merit. Immediately after the awards of the judge have been supervised and approved, a ribbon or card stating the premium will be placed upon each winning coop, where it must remain until the close of the show.

All protests against awards, etc., must be made in writing and delivered to the secretary within twenty-four hours after the awards have been announced for the class, accompanied by $5.00 which will be returned if protest is sustained. Executive committee will decide all protests.

Rule 15—During the continuance of the Poultry Show all specimens are to be under the control of the superintendent and cannot be removed except by his consent. Any person willfully violating this rule will forfeit any premium which may have been awarded to him. The association will not be responsible for losses or accidents to specimens from any cause whatever, proper precautions being taken to guard against accident or loss.

Rule 16—All birds must be plainly banded and band numbers plainly marked on the entry blanks. Leg bands can be had from Secretary at charge of 5 cents each.

Rule 17—Exhibitors whose Entry Fees amount to $2.00 will be furnished with a non-transferable season ticket and these tickets will be forfeited if presented by any one but the owner. Should exhibitor's entry amount to less than $2.00 he or she may pay the difference and obtain a season ticket.

Rule 18—A fee of 25 cents each will be charged for all specimens entered in sales class, but those fees cannot compete for prizes.

Rule 19—Prices of fowls—if for sale—should be stated on entry blank and sales will be made by the Association free of charge. All sales must be reported to Secretary.

Rule 20—Absolutely no handling of birds or live stock on exhibition will be permitted by any person other than his own, except by the regular authorized officials.

Rule 21—Under the head of cash premiums we call your attention to the way that the prizes are awarded: 50 per cent entry fee each class of each variety paid in premiums, 30 per cent for first, 20 per cent for second and 10 per cent for third.

Rule 22—When deciding the winners of specials, judges will use the following:

Single Entries:
First 6 points
Second 4 points
Third 3 points
Fourth 2 points
Pens:

First 12 points
Second 8 points
Third 6 points
Fourth 4 points

In case of a tie on number of points by two or more exhibitors, the special shall go to the one having the largest entry in the class.

Rule 23—Ribbons won at other shows will not be allowed on coops, either as decorating or advertising.

Rule 24—There will be additional classes of Barred Plymouth Rocks known as the Cockerel Bred and Pullet Bred lines, thus adding the cockerel bred pullet and hen and the pullet bred cock and cockerels and pens of each. In competing for display specials each class must be taken separately.

Rule 25—Classes not admitted to Standard compete for percentage premiums in their respective classes and for specials only where especially noted.

STOCK SHOW WAS A NOTABLE EVENT

Portland, Ore., Dec. 15, (Special) —The fat stock show at the Portland Union Stockyards last week was one of the most notable events ever held on the Pacific Coast. From year to year the stock exhibited at this annual show shows great improvement, but the animals presented in the ring last week were of a quality to make one wonder if the limit of perfection has not at last been reached and if it is possible that further improvement can be made. And in this matter of improvement of stock the agricultural colleges of the Pacific Northwest states are certainly occupying the front rank, as animals entered by students at these institutions were awarded the highest honors. The grand champion of the entire show was a splendid two-year-old Angus steer weighing 1650 pounds exhibited by the Agricultural College of Idaho. This steer was sold at auction and brought 24 cents per pound.

Practically all the stock shown was sold at auction, the prices ranging fairly high. The highest price paid for a single animal was $1,025 for a Holstein bull, a close second being a cow of the same breed which brought $1,000. One and two year old Short-horn breeding stock brought from $200 to $500 each. Taken as a whole the sale was one of the most successful ever held in the Northwest. Attendance for the week aggregated about 40,000, many of the visitors having come from distant points, staying all the week and following the sales closely.

During the stock show, the Oregon State Butter and Cheese Makers' Association held its annual meeting, lasting four days, at the close of which O. B. Neptune, of Albany, was chosen president for the coming year. The dairy products exhibited were of unusually fine quality. A. A. Oswald, of the Hazelwood Creamery Company being awarded the first prize for creamery butter, second prize going to Samuel Olson of the Jensen Creamery Company.

At a meeting held at Medford last week it was decided to establish a sugar beet plant at that point if the necessary acreage could be secured. Business men from Salt Lake, Utah, met with more than 500 ranchers and guaranteed to put up the sugar factory, to cost not less than $500,000, if contracts can be signed for not less than 5,000 acres of beets.

A movement of interest to all stock raisers in this state was inaugurated at a meeting of the Oregon Cattle and Horse Owners Association in Portland last week. It is proposed to have all brands registered with the State Veterinarian instead of with the county clerks, as heretofore, which it is said will entirely prevent duplication of brands and will also make easier the detection of cattle thieves who attempt to obliterate or change existing brands. Another feature of the proposed bill is that it will require a descriptive certificate sent with all shipments of cattle or horses, a duplicate copy to be retained by the agents making the shipment.

O. E. Freytag, of Oregon City, who had charge of the exhibits at the Second Annual Morrow County Fair, has been appointed to take charge of the entire Oregon exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco.
