George Flint has moved his family into the Frank Burgoyne house. He formerly lived in the Karl Beach residence in the west end of town.

Sunday was a beautiful day for the autoist. The roads were dry enough and from the number of autos it looked like the most of them were on the road.

William Van Winkle was in Lexington visiting his brother, Lewis Van Winkle. William has charge of the Kerr-Gifford ranch in Gilliam county.

W. D. Newlon, the well driller, has just finished drilling a well for Dan Summer on his property in town. He obtained an excellent flow of water at 80 feet.

Pat Curran was in town for his usual Spring supplies for the lambing season. Pat expects a big crop of lambs this season and employs expert help in taking care of them.

Walter Becket came to town Friday evening with five teams to take out the Newlon well drill to his place on Eight Mile, his old well having failed to supply water enough.

J. W. Becket of Portland, a former resident and farmer of the Eight Mile country was seen on our streets Thursday. Mr. Becket will remain in Morrow county for several days.

Wm. Padberg returned from Portland Thursday evening where he delivered a car of hogs at the Union Stockyards. The market being unsteady, only a fair price was realized.

O. S. Hodsdon was in from his ranch Wednesday and reports re-seeding about completed. The unusual rainfall at the present time makes prospects very encouraging for a crop the coming year.

At the county spelling contest held in Heppner Saturday evening, Teddy Johnson, of this place, representing the grammar school, was winner. All the teachers of the school and several other citizens were in attendance.

R. B. Rice was transacting business in Lexington on Thursday. He remained long enough to purchase a new Ford. He states that his wife returned home Sunday after a visit of two months with relatives in the state of Missouri.

W. L. Copenhaver of Sand Hollow was trading in town on Saturday. Mr. Copenhaver reports he will not have to re-seed his crop. His grain, from all appearances, will make a fair stand, but it is growing very slowly, owing to cold nights.

The wrestling match took place at the Hall Friday night as advertised. The main event was between the local wrestler, Bauman, and Noregourd, of Baker. Noregourd was the winner in the contest. A number of people came down from Heppner to see the match.

Any number and breed of young calves furnished. All orders shipped on one day's notice. Prices and particulars on application.

N. E. MELCHIOR.

Tillamook, Ore.

IONE.

Charlie Catkins was a passenger to Lewiston, Idaho, on Thursday of last week.

A. Walker, of Portland, is with us this week, having some business matters to attend to.

Miss Swanson, Clara Linn and Frank Stoops were passengers to Heppner last Saturday night.

Mr. Cronan, our genial banker, was a passenger to Portland last week to be gone for a few days.

Roy Whiteis was a passenger to Heppner last Saturday where he had some business matters to attend to.

J. H. Harbke, of Portland, was an Ione visitor last week, coming up to look after some of his interests here.

Mrs. Bert Mason went out to the Mason ranch on Rhea creek last Saturday to visit with her relatives for a few days.

Mrs. Mamie Batheus was a passenger to Morgan last Thursday to help her sister-in-law with the big supper down there.

Oscar Lundell and wife, of Rhea Siding, were visitors in Ione last week. Come again folks, we will be glad to see you.

Mr. Raymond, of Seattle, has purchased the Daniels ranch between here and Morgan, taking possession one day last week.

Mrs. Robinson of Eight Mile, who has been visiting at Portland for some time, returned to Ione Friday evening of last week.

W. L. Barlow's two husky boys returned from Portland one day last week. They have been attending school here for some time.

Mrs. Jack Hynd from Cecil and her daughter, Annie, were visitors at Ione last Wednesday, being the guests of Mrs. E. J. Bristow.

The butcher shop at Ione changed hands last week. W. R. Cochran purchasing the Buflington shop and moving the contents up to his old stand.

Ralph Hymer, who has been down at Portland for the past year, returned to Ione Wednesday of last week. There is no place like home, Ralph.

Mr. Rood, from the vicinity of Heppner was in Ione last week, and purchased Miss Woolery's car. It is a large American under-slung and a nobby car.

We have a church on wheels in Ione at present. Rev. Driver and wife are holding services in the Baptist Chapel Car No. 4 every evening. Mr. Driver held meetings here about five years ago and is a fine speaker.

Inez and Lowell Clark gave a double birthday party to their many little friends last Monday, Inez being eight years old and Lowell seven. The children amused themselves at all sorts of innocent games after which they had a nice little feed.

Miss Anna Puyear gave a birthday party on the 6th inst. to a lot of her little friends, it being her eighth year in this good world. The little folks played all sorts of games and had a jolly good time, light refreshments being served.

W. F. Cronan and family, who have resided at Ione for the past two years, left last Saturday for Nebraska where Mr. Cronan has a fine ranch. We hate to lose these good citizens and hope they will see their way clear to come back again in the near future.

S. A. Barlow's team became scared at a Sam Hill mustard weed or a weed of some other horrid name last Saturday, the 4th, while coming to Ione. The folks in and out of the rig had scrambled eggs for company and had a general shaking up, no one being seriously hurt.

Miss Alice Carns and Miss Velmaletta Woolery went to Portland Monday morning. Miss Carns is a professional piano player and has been visiting with Miss Woolery for some time. From Portland they will go to Seattle where the two young ladies will open on a Pantages theater.

Jack Hynd, at Cecil, is the busiest man in Morrow county these days. An auto party from Ione spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hynd and certainly had a pleasant day. The lambing season is on and everybody on the ranch was head over heels in work. Mr. Hynd is getting in the neighborhood of sixty lambs a day and if that does not make things lively on a sheep ranch we miss our guess. We were treated to some fine roasted chickens and a dinner good enough for a king. Mrs. Hynd is a fine cook and any time she has some chickens that she thinks will not keep we want her to remember the hungry bunch from Ione.

Quite a large crowd attended the dance given in Mr. Whitcombe's new store at Morgan Friday night of last week, the dance announcing the opening of the store. This gentleman has a fine big building and lots of room for his goods down stairs. When you go up stairs you find a fine large hall suitable for any kind of use. There was a large crowd from the vicinity of Morgan present at the dance also four or five auto loads from Ione. About twelve-thirty supper was announced. There was plenty of good eats, such as roast turkey, and cranberry sauce and all the rest that goes with it to make supper taste good. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves and if they did not have a good time it was their fault, and we think some of those present wish Mr. Whitcomb would announce another dance before they get too

Enterprise and Civic Pride An Asset To Any Community

The wearying winter swiftly wanes. The sun rides high and higher in the heavens. The sweet soft rains and the freshening, almost fragrant air whisper of the approaching renewal of nature. Warm southern slopes here and there grow faintly green. The roguish robin, hundreds of him, already is among us again and heralds an early spring.

Men should not be laggard in making ready to do their part in preparing their neighborhoods and homes to share in the new birth of the year. It is time for the voice of the village improvement association to begin to make itself heard in the land. It is not too soon for lovers and makers of the city beautiful to bestir themselves for the spring housecleaning and for the dwellers in the country to plan to beautify the surroundings of the farmhouse.

There exists a great field in the Inland Empire for energetic enterprise and civic pride in these matters. Altogether too many of our towns and villages are unkempt and repulsive in appearance. One glimpse at their squalid disorderliness is enough to frighten thoughts of permanent residence there out of the transient visitor's mind. The slight expense of labor, money and time requisite for changing the repellent physique of a community or farmhouse to a thing of beauty, health and joy brings the richest of returns. It is an investment in attractiveness, a capitalization of means of bringing in permanent residents and their wealth.

The matter has peculiar pertinency this year. It is the year when the greatest volume of travel that ever traversed the Pacific northwest is sure to pass through the Inland Empire. Thousands of these tourists and visitors will be drawn or driven as respects investment and settlement here, according as they see attractive communities and homes or view repulsive neighborhoods and neglected houses or grounds.—Spokesman-Review.

BRING IN YOUR PELTS.

I will be in Heppner every Saturday from now on. Bring in your pelts. I will pay one cent above the Portland market price. No pieces or green stuff goes. Bring in your pelts with the pieces to the Heppner Milling Company and I will treat you right. I pay cash i. o. b.
