PORTLAND NEWS LETTER

Portland, April 6, 1915.—A new magazine to be devoted exclusively to taxation, good roads, crop marketing, rural credits and other live topics, is being launched by C. C. Chapman, who has just retired from the secretaryship of the Oregon Development League. The new publication is to be called The Oregon Voter and the first number will go to press late in April.

After a thorough investigation of the various fruit growing sections of the Pacific Northwest, the big Chicago packing firm at Libby, McNeil & Libby has decided to erect a cannery at The Dalles. The announcement has been officially made by a representative of the company and construction will be rushed in order to be ready for the cherry crop in June.

Within the past few days definite action has been taken at Salem in regard to starting the flax industry in this state. In order to encourage farmers to experiment with the new crop, it is planned to offer $15 per ton for flax straw, a considerable advance over prices in other sections. Seed will be furnished at $3 per bushel, payment to be made when the straw is marketed.

A big plant for the screening and washing of sand and gravel will be installed at Roseburg in the near future. Several thousand dollars will be invested in machinery and buildings and side tracks connecting the works with the Southern Pacific Railway will also be put in. Contracts have already been entered into for disposing of a large part of the output.

Efforts are being made by railroad officials to induce farmers in the Willamette Valley to grow cauliflower in wholesale quantities. It is said there is an unlimited demand for this vegetable in Chicago and other cities of the Middle West and that regular market rates are such as to yield a handsome profit to growers.

During the coming summer an important meeting of the financiers and engineers interested in water power development will be held in Portland. Delegates from all the Pacific Northwest states will be in attendance as well as from North and South Dakota, Montana and California. It is expected that the action taken at that meeting will have an important bearing on future water power legislation in Congress.

Within a few days active work will be commenced on the north jetty at the mouth of the Coquille River, an improvement for which $90,000 was appropriated in October. A stone quarry to be opened at Bandon will supply the stone and it is expected the jetty will be practically completed this summer.

It cost $4,054,646 to govern the City of Portland during 1914. Based on a population of 275,000, the above sum represents an average of $14.75 for each individual, which is probably more than some of them are worth.

Lone Defeats Fairview.

The lone ball team played Fairview on the latter's diamond last Sunday, and the Egg City boys won by the score of 7 to 0. Sperry and Coshaw was the lone battery and Peterson and Drake pitched for Fairview. Ross Ford was umpire. A large crowd attended the game.

Will Take Overland Trip.

George Case and T. J. Humphreys are preparing for an overland trip with team and buggy and expect to start in about two weeks, Portland being their destination. Mr. Case expects to make his home in Portland, his family having already gone to that city, and Mr. Humphreys will make the trip for his health, believing that the journey out of doors will prove greatly beneficial.

Crops Are Coming.

That wheat in the Eight Mile country is coming right along and gives promise of a splendid yield, is the opinion of Vane Jones, young farmer of Eight Mile Center, who was in the city Saturday. According to Mr. Jones, the recent rains have done a world of good and have started everything growing at a rapid rate.
