HENRY SCHWARZ, Proprietor

To the Right Parties:

I will allow the use of several of my
Jacks, for a reasonable charge.
Call on me at the Eastern Oregon
Jack Farm, east of Lexington, or address me at Lexington.

Let your wants be known

I also have

GOOD JACKS FOR SALE

If you do not find as good Jacks here as there are in the Northwest or the United States, I will pay expenses of your trip both ways, providing you are a competent judge and know a good Jack when you see it.

I keep no high salaried men to sell my Jacks and anyone in the market for Jacks who can come to my farm will save commission fees, etc.

CRUDE OIL DIP CONTROLS VERMIN PESTS ON SWINE.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, April 14.—Crude oil dips are best for control of lice, other vermin and skin diseases of swine, according to experiments conducted by the Oregon Agricultural College Animal Husbandry department. One part oil to two parts water is the strength recommended. The infested animals should be made to dive well into the solution, swim across the dipping vat and walk out at the further end, when they will be well covered with a coat of oil strong enough to kill lice and nits but not strong enough to injure the animal. The mixture is not emulsified.

It is recommended that the animals be dipped twice annually or whenever they become infested. All animals brought onto the farm should be dipped, the best time being a bright warm day.

The vat may be of wood or galvanized iron, wide enough to permit wedging and deep enough to permit complete submergence of the animal.

A forced pump may be used to spray the animals with or the material may be applied with a brush. If these applications are made in the pig's sleeping quarters they will serve to kill some lice not on the animal.

It is essential that the pigs be not crowded through the vats or dipped into the solutions. The pens should be kept clean after dipping.

Sheep dip is also recommended and used by the College Animal Husbandry department.

Freak Chickens Are Hatched.

J. H. Edwards was in the city on Friday to celebrate the anniversary of his birth; that event had occurred the day previous but Mr. Edwards was otherwise engaged and could not get to town. He never fails to get to town on his natal day and to remind his friends that he has passed another mile stone in life's journey and he is always greeted with their good wishes for many returns of the day. He related to us a "chicken" story which contains a phenomena. Mr. Edwards is raising pure white chickens, his hens being White Leghorns and his rosters are of the White Rock variety. They "set" an incubator with 160 eggs from the white chickens and in due course of time they were hatched, and it transpired that out of the bunch of young chicks, 17 are black. John is puzzled to know where the black chicks came from and he thinks this is a problem for the poultry experts to wrestle with.

Superb Floral Center

Portland's 1915 floral center will be a paragon of beauty, and one of the most superb ever planned. It will cover two of the park blocks and will include eight immense beds of bloom to surround a mammoth center piece; illuminated promenade, sixteen immense exhibition beds of choice blooming plants and sixteen booths in which sixteen communities will exhibit for prizes. Professional flower growers of the city will make an exhibit of the choicest roses ever assembled out of doors in the world.

PLANET EARTH GROWS OLD.

Through Loss of Heat and Moisture This Mundane Sphere Will Gradually Grow Uninhabitable.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Apr. 11.—This is early afternoon in the life of planet Earth. Heat will gradually grow less and cold become greater. Moisture will slowly disappear. Atmospheric conditions will change.

When the loss of heat has proceeded to a degree where all the earth has a temperature below freezing, plant life will disappear, and without plants animals must also cease. Mercury and Venus, planets nearer the sun than the earth, have already reached this condition.

These are among statements made in a lecture on "A Theory of World Formation," delivered by Orin F. Stafford, professor of chemistry at the State University before the University assembly. For 200,000 years, however, the earth will remain much the same as now, Professor Stafford comfortingly says.

It Is Not a Joke.

To my many patrons it may have occurred that my request for CASH is a joke. It is not. I am compelled to pay cash for my stuff; am getting government inspected beef from Portland and it is cash for every shipment. I certainly appreciate the splendid trade you have given me and am trying my best to accommodate you. Our interests are mutual, but please do not ask for credit at the People's Cash Market.

LOCAL LODGE HONORED BY VISIT FROM IONE PEOPLE.

At the regular meeting of Ruth Chapter No. 32, O. E. S. on Friday evening, the members of the local lodge were made glad by a visit from a delegation from Locust Chapter of Ione. Among these were the principal officers of the new chapter and the visitors were fifteen in number. Ruth Chapter put on the initiatory work, the Misses Fannie A. Goodall man is suffering only from a temporary taking the degrees. Following the close of the lodge a light banquet was served. The following were the visitors from Ione: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cronk, Mrs. Frances I. Bender, Mrs. Anna Blake, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Moore, Miss Eva Swanson, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Chalk, Mrs. Cynthia Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McNabb, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Buffington and Mrs. E. B. Lowe.

Have Family Reunion.

T. M. Benedict, of Morgan, has been enjoying a sort of family reunion during the past week. A half sister, Miss Alice Dague from Washington county, Kansas, who is on her way to visit the big fair at San Francisco, has been visiting at her brother's home, and she was joined by another brother, Mr. G. B. Dague, of Walla Walla, and together they have been having a splendid good visit. Mr. Benedict has been absent from his old home for a good many years and this is the first time he has seen his sister in 19 years. Mr. Dague is a farmer in the Walla Walla country, and accompanied Mr. Benedict to Heppner on Friday. Miss Dague will continue her journey on to California in a few days.

Have Purchased Farm.

John Rasmus and son Orve, and son-in-law, Ray Bonine, have purchased the Brundage farm two miles east of Heppner on Balm Fork and have taken possession of the same. This is one of the best farms in the Heppner hills, being composed of both creek bottom and hill land and suitable for alfalfa and grain raising and these people will proceed to put it in a highly productive state.

Buys a Case Car.

Vaughn & Sons this week delivered to Hugh Currin, of Butter creek, a new 30 Case automobile, which John Vaughn brought up from The Dalles on Friday last. Mr. Currin will now shorten the distance between his ranch and Heppner very materially, besides being in a position to ride with greater ease and comfort. Another booster for good roads has been added to the rapidly growing list of enthusiasts in Morrow county.

Committed to Asylum.

Adolph Martness, a young man who has been at work for R. F. Wigglesworth on his Butter creek ranch for some time past, was brought to Heppner on Thursday evening last and examined as to his sanity. He was found to be of unsound mind at the present time and on Friday was taken to the Eastern Oregon Asylum at Pendleton. It is believed that the young man is suffering only from a temporary derangement, and that a course of proper treatment for a few weeks at the hospital should fully restore his mental balance. His affliction is not of a violent nature.

Has Purchased Large Tractor.

D. E. Gilman purchased through Vaughn & Sons, of Heppner the past week, a large Case tractor which was taken out to the Andrews place north east of Lexington and will be used there in doing a part of the farm work. The machine is one of the best put out by this company and has a draw-bar capacity of twenty horses. It will pull six plows, and besides is a valuable machine for much other work on the farm. Mr. Gilman has been trying different styles of tractors and believes that he has found what he has been looking for in this Case machine. An agent of the company took the tractor out to the Andrews farm on Friday.

Arrested For Assault.

Sheriff McDuffee went to Cecil on Friday to serve a warrant on W. B. Ewing and several members of his family as a result of a complaint lodged against them by their neighbor, Jack Hynd. In a difficulty over the use of irrigation waters, Mr. Hynd was assaulted by the Ewings when he had remonstrated with them for shutting off the water from his ditches. Mr. Hynd was not seriously injured, but in the difficulty he was overpowered by superior numbers and he feels the matter should be settled in the court. Mr. Ewing and his sons were brought to Heppner for a preliminary hearing, but this was continued for two weeks, this action being agreeable to both parties to the controversy.

Takes Prisoners to Prineville.

Sheriff McDuffee and Marshal McCraw apprehended a couple of men in Heppner on Thursday evening last that were wanted at Prineville on a charge of burglary. Upon being notified from Prineville that the men were headed this way, the officers got busy and located them at Lone Rock, but on their way to Heppner, so our sleuths were prepared to land them upon their arrival in the city, even though it was after dark when they got here. The men were taken to the county jail and locked up. They gave their names as Ward and O'Kelly, the latter being a reputed bad man and implicated in numerous holdups, while Ward is a young man not having the appearance of a hardened criminal. Sheriff E. B. Knox, of Crook county was notified at once of the capture and he arrived on Saturday evening and took the captives home with him on Sunday, they being the men he was looking for.

Festival Poster Wide Spread.

The 1915 Rose Festival poster, the donation of Fred G. Cooper, former Oregon boy, whose father, J. C. Cooper, of McMinnville, Oregon, wrote "The Whole World Knows the Portland Rose" and won the 1915 slogan contest, will soon be seen in more than 11,000 railroad ticket offices of the United States. This number of posters has been circulated by local and foreign lines.
