MR. FLY WILL MEET HIS WATERLOO IN BORAX

The specialists of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., have discovered that a small amount of ordinary borax sprinkled daily on manure will effectively prevent the breeding of the typhoid or house fly. Similarly, the same substance applied to garbage, refuse, open toilets, damp floors and crevices in stables, cellars or market, will prevent fly eggs from hatching. Borax will not kill the adult fly nor prevent it from laying eggs, but its thorough use will prevent any further breeding.

The details of the experiments with borax and other larvacides will be found in U. S. Department of Agriculture Bulletin No. 118. To prevent injury to crops from borax treated manure, the Department offers certain suggestions to public officials. To quote in part:

"While it can be safely stated that no injurious action has followed the application of manure treated with borax at the rate of .62 pound for 3 bushels or even larger amounts in the case of some plants, nevertheless borax-treated manure has not been studied in connection with the growth of all crops, nor has its cumulative effect been determined. It is therefore recommended that not more than 15 tons of the borax-treated manure should be applied per acre to the field."

The report also says that care should be taken on feeding garbage treated with borax to hogs, especially when the animals are being fattened for market. Borax in large quantities, while not very poisonous, produces gastric disturbances.

Borax can be used in stables to the best advantage through a flour sifter. In scattering this substance on the manure piles, most of it should be thrown around the outer edges of the piles, for it is here that the most of the fly maggots congregate.

"It is believed," says the report, "that this information will greatly help the health authorities in their campaign against the typhoid fly. Borax, which is used freely in most households, and is readily available in all parts of the country, has the advantage of being comparatively non-poisonous and non-inflammable, readily soluble in water and easy to handle. A single pound used as directed in a garbage pail or an open toilet may prevent the breeding of hundreds of dangerous flies."

MAY 28 AND 29, DATES OF COMMONWEALTH SESSIONS.

Disposal of Revenues From National Forests Will Be One of the Half Dozen Big Topics.

May 28 and 29 are the dates chosen for the seventh annual commonwealth conference of the state of Oregon, which will be held in the University of Oregon buildings.

One branch of the conference will consider ideas for returning to the state profits made by the national government from holdings within the state. Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, will be asked to take part.

Another conference session will consider a plan for classification of land in Oregon according to quality. "At present the investor is afraid of buying a gold brick. Listed lands would materially strengthen his confidence," says F. G. Young, professor of economics in the University of Oregon.

A step is to be taken at the conference toward amalgamating all the good roads association movements in Oregon.

A reorganization of the efficiency and economy movements in the state will be attempted.

Another conference topic will be city planning: how to interest the women and the civic bodies of the state. A session for women will be held on the topic.

A plan for more scientific credit will be discussed.

PORTLAND NEWS LETTER

Portland, May 4.—The Chamber of Commerce is planning a vast campaign for cooperative work for the development of the state, amongst the commercial organizations of Oregon. The parent body, the Portland Chamber of Commerce, is to work in harmony with the small commercial clubs in order to get better cooperation between the large organizations in the country and the smaller ones. An employee of the Chamber of Commerce will be at the disposal of the various commercial clubs and chambers of commerce of Oregon to aid them in their work, to help outline their plans for a more efficient organization, to secure personal cooperation amongst the members of the organizations, and to aid them in their financial difficulties by publicity methods. This is bound to bring about a new feeling between the members and their own organization for the benefit of working together here would warrant further upbuilding of the state of Oregon.

The new organization has now rounded up to full activities. All the directors of the nine bureaus that make up the vast organization have now been elected as follows:

Civic bureau—John B. Yeon, Guy W. Talbot, Dean Vincent.

Retail Merchants bureau—E. D. Timms, W. E. Woodward, J. C. English.

Traffic and Transportation bureau—L. Allen Lewis, W. H. Mitchell, C. B. Woodruff.

Trade and Commerce bureau—C. C. Colt, O. M. Clark, Nathan Strauss.

Industries and Manufacturers bureau—A. J. Kingsley, A. G. Labbe, C. E. Heintz.

Publicity and Conventions bureau—W. J. Hofmann, Phil Metschan, Jr., J. C. Ainsworth.

Legislation and Taxation bureau—Franklin T. Griffith, Henry E. Reed, Edgar B. Piper.

Grain bureau—Robert Kennedy, M. H. Houser, Thomas Kerr.

Portland will be the mecca of the lawyers of several states when the joint meeting of the Oregon and Washington Bar Association meets in Portland, August 23, 24 and 25. At this meeting some of the most prominent attorneys of the United States will be present, among them the Hon. Judge Taft, ex-president of the United States; ex-senator George Turner of Washington, and Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon, who will be the principal speakers at this convention. Attorneys who will be in attendance at the American Bar Association's meeting in Salt Lake City a week prior to the one in Portland will come to this city to participate in the meeting. Elaborate arrangements are being made for the entertainment of these men who argue before the Bar; among the several features of this entertainment will be an auto drive along the famous and beautiful Columbia River Highway, which will be open to traffic by that time.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the People of Heppner and Vicinity:

Owing to the fact that the report is being generally circulated that I am contemplating leaving Heppner, I desire to inform the public that I am here to stay.

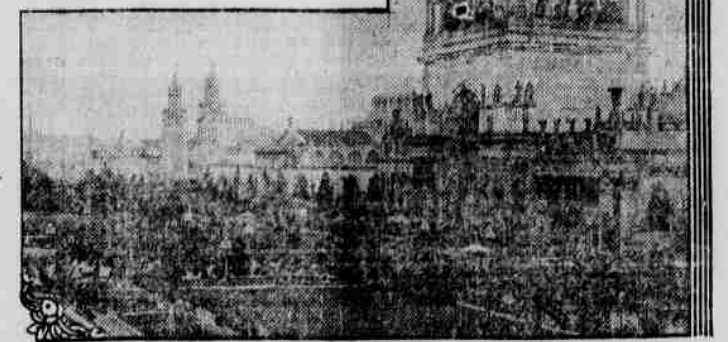

I have leased the shop connected with the Heppner Garage which is one of the best equipped automobile repair and machine shops in Eastern Oregon.

I have had years of experience as an expert automobile mechanic, guarantee all work turned out and personally inspect every car before permitting it to leave the shop, and make my charge as reasonable as possible, consistent with expert, reliable work, and assure you that I shall continue to do so.

Assuring you of my appreciation of your liberal patronage, I remain, Respectfully yours,
JACOB KING.

Opening Day at Panama-Pacific Exposition Broke All Exposition Attendance Records

ALL attendance records for exhibitions were broken at the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco on Feb. 20. Vast crowds thronged the grounds when President Wilson pressed the button in Washington, and each day since the attendance has been enormous. The huge buildings and beautiful thoroughfares hummed with activity and have continued to do so. The Exposition has already demonstrated at this early date that it will be a great success in every way.
