KNOW THY COUNTRY

I—Introductory

"Know America" is a slogan that should ring out from every school room, office, farm and shop in this nation. No man can aspire to a higher honor than to become a capable citizen, and no one can merit so distinguished a title until he is well informed of the resources, possibilities and achievements of our country.

This is a commercial age and civilization is bearing its most golden fruit in America. We are noted for our industrial achievements as Egypt was noted for her pyramids; Jerusalem for her religion; Greece for her art; Phoenicia for her fleets; Chaldea for her astronomy and Rome for her laws. Likewise we have men who will go down in the world's history as powerful products of their age. For, standing at the source of every gigantic movement that aways civilization is a great man. The greatest minds travel in the greatest direction and the commercial geniuses of this age would have been the sculptors, poets, philosophers, architects, and artists of earlier civilizations.

As Michael Angelo took a rock and with a chisel hewed it into the image of an angel that ever beckons mankind upward and onward, Hill took the desert of the Northwest and with bands of steel made it blossom like a rose, dotted the valleys with happy homes and built cities in waste places. As Gutenberg took blocks of wood and whittled them into an alphabet and made a printing press that flashed education across the continent like a ray of light upon a new born world, McCormick took a bar of iron and bent it into a reaper and with one sweep of his magic mind broke the shackles that enslaved labor of generations yet unborn, and gave mankind freedom from drudgery, and lifted the human race into a higher zone of life.

As Nelson organized the English navy and made England mistress of the sea, enabling the British Isles to plant her flag upon every continent washed by the ocean's waves, and to make footstools of the Islands of every water, Morgan organized a banking system that has made America master of the world's finances, brought Kings to our cashier's windows, the nations of the earth to our discount desks and placed under the industries of this nation a financial system as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar.

There is no study quite so interesting as progress; no sound so magic as the roar of industry and no sight so inspiring as civilization in action. A full realization of America's part in the great events of the world past, present and future will thrill every human heart with pride, patriotism and faith in Republican institutions.

Through the courtesy of the Agricultural and Commercial Press Service, the readers of this paper will be permitted to study America; her agricultural, manufacturing and mineral development, mercantile, banking and transportation systems which are the wonder of the world. The first article of the series will deal with transportation and will appear at an early date.

Frontier Days Announcement.

Announcement is made that Frontier Days, the greatest spectacular show ever attempted, will again be produced this fall at Walla Walla.

Frontier Days is like turning back the pages of time and seeing this western country as it was in the days before the grain fields and orchards, and towns and farms, displaced the fenceless hills and valleys with their endless carpet of bunchgrass, their thousands of head of cattle and horses, the range riders, and cattle branding corrals, the Indian tipis and the picturesque savage; it is like living the life of the pioneer over again. There never was such a care-free, generous, reckless, wholesouled life lived by another people as was lived on the broad prairies and rugged hills of the western frontier; there never has been staged such a spectacular, realistic and thrilling show as the Walla Walla Frontier Days—It is a show that causes the red blood to flow faster in one's veins and one's nerves to tingle with the thrill of it; and the wonder of it all is that it is REAL; it is a show without plot or foreordained situation—things just happen, and they happen fast and furious, keeping the spectator at high tensor every minute throughout the afternoon. One sits in the commodious and comfortable grandstand and witnesses the most astounding show the world has ever seen; a show where the characters are real flesh and blood, sinew and muscle. The horses one sees in action are the real bucking, jumping, snorting, biting wild horses of the western range; the cattle are the long horned, wild creatures that are not used to civilization and know nothing of domesticity; the men and women are men and women gleaned from the prairies and hills, and are of a type that is fast disappearing; men and women skilled from childhood in horsemanship, in the use of the branding iron and the sinuous lariat; men and women who form and represent a type of manhood and womanhood found nowhere else in the world. Then there are the hundreds of gaudily painted bucks and squaws, with their "papooses" and "klootens" just as they appeared and just as they were a half a century and less ago. Then there's the setting; the wonderful natural yet stage-like setting. The Romans prided themselves upon their great amphitheatre where their heroes performed feats of skill and daring, but their playground was an insignificant affair compared to the splendid arena of Frontier Days. Sitting in the commodious grandstand when one is not engaged in the thrilling occupation of following the play, one can find enjoyment, rest and peace in the beauty of the landscape that stretches out before one's vision. This setting furnishes not only charm for the eye, but it peculiarly fits in with the show itself—for hundreds of years probably the Indians made this same spot their camping ground, they appear here as part of the natural coloring of the landscape. So it is with the cowboys, wild horses, and cattle; this valley is their natural home, it knew them for more than a generation and it appears as a matter of course that they are here.

Conditions are changing fast; we are leaving the old order behind and merging into a new strange, though fascinating age. The cowboy and cowgirl, the wild cattle, and the broncho will soon be no more; in a very few years it will be impossible to stage such a show as the Walla Walla Frontier Days. In the meantime it is worth while to cherish this great red-blooded show. It is worth crossing the continent to see; to breathe for the time the spirit of the old west, and experience its frankness, its good-will, its freedom, its manliness and vigor. The children of today will be telling their grandchildren about this wonderful show in the coming years, when Frontier Days and Frontier men and women, and frontier animals shall be no more.

The dates of this great show are Sept. 16, 17, and 18, 1915.

DON'T RAISE WEEDS ON YOUR SUMMERFALLOW!

USE A

Jones Weeder

"Made in Morrow County"

(Patented Dec. 16, 1913.)

Summerfallowing is being done earlier this year than common. Weeds will come earlier and there will be more of them. Get after them early before they ruin your Summerfallow. The JONES WEEDER is the best and most speedy weeder ever built for that purpose. Built in sections like a harrow; each section cuts five feet and you can use as many sections as you want. The knives have a slope of 60 degrees and will not choke under normal conditions.

This weeder has been tried out on the same field with other weeders and has done more satisfactory work. The JONES WEEDER has been fully tested. Ask a farmer who uses one. For further particulars, prices, etc., write
