TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO IN HEPPNER

Heppner Gazette, June 13, 1890.

All Heppner's visitors to the Portland races have returned.

Joe Williams left Sunday for the Greenhorn mines.

Mrs. C. N. Briggs, mother of Leon, is visiting in Heppner.

Seventeen car loads of wool have been shipped from Heppner so far this season.

Misses Belle Elder and Lizzie Matlock are home from St. Helen's Hall, of Portland.

Frank Sloan, a rustling young man of Buter creek, represented his section here last week.

Henry Blackman's friends celebrated his victory here last Thursday eve, the music of the Heppner band and the firing of anvils being an important feature. Mr. Blackman made a few well-timed remarks on this occasion.

Uncle Jack Morrow has been appointed by the president as one of the World's Fair Commissioners, and will leave for Chicago this week to be present at their first meeting, June 26th. All know that Uncle Jack will do his share towards giving Eastern Oregon a good representation in 1892.

J. W. Ambrose and J. A. Powell were over from Ritter last week. Mr. Powell called on the Gazette office, and in conversation with him we learned that he and his neighbors are much interested in a direct road from Heppner to Ritter. The road located by our county court some three years ago is the best route, he says, and it was generally understood over in his section last summer that this was an accepted road. Acting upon this conclusion, Mr. Powell secured a subscription of 300 days work for the Grant county end of the route, which has been duly surveyed and ordered opened by their county court. Since that time the Ritterites have learned the true state of affairs concerning this road, and to some extent they have lost interest in the project. However, the supervisor of the Grant county division will put all his work on the road and many now are working out their subscriptions. Fully realizing that the completion of this Ritter road to Heppner means trade and business for Heppner, the larger part of which is now going to Pendleton, it behooves the people here to do something towards its completion. We can have all the trade as well as a larger part of it, if we make the effort.

STORIES WITH SMILES

Ready to Risk It.

"Mr. Jones wants a windy-pane twelve inches by fourteen," remarked young Patrick Mulrooney, entering the glazier's shop.

In the shop was a smart young assistant who wanted to have a joke with Pat.

"Haven't any that size," he replied gravely. "Will one fourteen inches by twelve do?"

Pat looked thoughtful for a minute. Then he replied,

"He's wantin' it at once, and this is the only shop in town. Give me wan o' thim. P'raps if we put it in sideways no one will notice."—London Answers.

The prim young woman from New England who was devoting herself to the education of the negro in a southern school told one of her small scholars to bring a bucket of water from the spring.

"I ain't gwine fetch no water," he whined, rebelliously.

"Oh, Eph!" she protested, "you musn't say that. Don't you remember how I have taught you: First person, singular, I am not going; second person, you are not going; third person, he is not going. Plural: First person, we are not going; second person, you are not going; third person, they are not going. Now, Eph, do you understand it perfectly?"

"Yas'm, I un'stands—ain't nobody gwine."—Collier's.

A City View.

Suburban Resident—It's simply fine to wake up in the morning and hear the leaves whispering outside your window.

City Man—It's all right to hear the leaves whisper, but I could never stand hearing the grass mow!

Kept Busy.

Miss Yellowleaf—I frankly admit I am looking for a husband.

Miss Guzzler—So am I.

Miss Yellowleaf—But I thought you had one.

Mrs. Guzzler—So I have, and I spend most of my time looking for him.—Judge.

Folly by the Foot.

"There's one o' them dern new styles," said Silas.

"What is it?" asked Mandy, lawering her eyes.

"Why, that there sign says, 'Shoes shined inside.'"—Judge.

Will Beattie, dean of Kansas commercial travelers, once attended a social gathering among the "400" of Wichita. He found himself with a dashing young society woman from the east, whose idea of social standing was measured by wealth. She was quite taken with Beattie and finally she made bold to ask: "What business are you in, Mr. Beattie?"

"I'm a commercial traveler," he replied. The young woman stepped back and said, smilingly, "In Holyoke, Massachusetts, Mr. Beattie, commercial travelers don't go in the best of society." "Neither do they here," said Beattie.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A medium grade apple, no different in any respect from other apples of its kind; stood on a little pedestal in the show window of a local tailor. No other advertisement was used by the tailor, but his scores of patrons were mystified and entirely uninformed as to "Why the apple?" Questions were shot at the tailor, all directed at what on earth the apple signified. Finally the tailor asked with a complacent smile:

"If it hadn't been for an apple where would the clothing business be today?"—Brockton Enterprise.

Mike Szepanek was very proud of the fine showing his crops were making on his homestead near the mouth of Sand Hollow, up to a few days ago. But now he is lamenting their sorry condition. His wheat has been entirely eaten off; mowed to the ground by the pesky black tailed rabbits infesting that section in such large numbers. They have not tackled his rye crop yet and Mike contemplates heading them off on this in order to get a little feed for his stock. His neighbors' crops have also suffered damages by the rabbits and it will be necessary to devise some means of getting rid of this pest if the people down that way succeed in raising any crops at all.
