Ed Hunt, who was in the city Saturday from his Rhea creek farm, says that crops are growing at a rapid rate, and he expects at least as large a yield as he received last year. Mr. Hunt says that while the grain is not making as good a stand as it did last year, he looks for a better quality.

The postoffice and banks were closed in this city last Friday, Governor Withycombe having declared that day a legal holiday. The declaration was made in conjunction with the Portland Rose Festival, one day being set aside for everybody to take part in this annual celebration. In this annual celebration.

John Piper and son were visitors in Heppner Monday. Mr. Piper is feeling good over his crop prospects, and he has a right to. His wheat is now past the danger point and will turn him off anywhere from a 20- to 30-bushel crop. Six weeks ago, Mr. Piper would not have given much for the crop outlook, but it is quite different now.

J. J. Adkins was taken out to his Rhea creek farm on Sunday afternoon, where he will remain for the summer months. We are glad to note that he has sufficiently recovered to be able to make this move. It is now nearly a year since Mr. Adkins was hurt, and he is far from being well yet, and his injuries may prove to be of a permanent nature.

O. L. Curtis and wife and young son visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Humphreys Thursday and Friday last. Mrs. Curtis is a sister of Mrs. Humphreys. Mr. Curtis is a recent graduate of the Eugene Bible University and was on his way to Elgin to take charge of the Christian church there. They departed for their new home Saturday.

Chas. Pointer and family were in Heppner Saturday. His section of the country north of Lexington was well supplied with moisture by the big rain of last Friday and crops and gardens got a big lift. Mr. Pointer is now cutting his second crop of alfalfa on his hill farm and is getting an abundance of good hay for his cows and calves. He has ceased to worry about the wheat crop, as he feels that is now made and will be an abundant yield.

Henry Wagner, who farms the Thos. Quaid place, reports that the heavy rain of Friday last beat down a field of 35 acres of barley for him. The grain had grown to be very rank and he will now have to gather it in for hay. Mr. Wagner rejoices over a splendid crop prospect and is wearing a smile that won't come off.

J. S. Young was compelled to come to town on Friday for medical attention. He has been suffering much of late with an attack of rheumatism and this took hold of him with a severe grip, dislocating his knee joint of the right leg. A call on the doctor was necessary to put the leg in shape and he is compelled to get about by the aid of a cane. Mr. Young returned home on Monday evening, feeling greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stapleton took their departure from Heppner on Tuesday, traveling by auto. Mr. Stapleton had his Buick thoroughly overhauled by King & Nagle at the Heppner Automobile & Machine Shop and Mr. and Mrs. Stapleton are now equipped to travel up and down the coast at will. They expect to go to the coast from here and later to California, where they may spend the winter, if they do not decide to return to Morrow county.

Joe Cassidy, former deputy sheriff of Grant county, died last Thursday night at the Emmett Cochran ranch near Monument as a result of spotted fever, after a sickness of several weeks. Cassidy gained considerable notoriety a few years ago when as deputy sheriff he became implicated in a lynching affair near Hamilton. He was tried, convicted and spent some time in the Oregon state prison, but was later paroled by Governor West. Since then, Cassidy has been making his home near Monument.

The Fit of the Collar

—There's the Telltale

ADVERTISING talk won't tell you half of what you'll know about Sincerity Clothes when you try on a garment and feel the snug fit of the coat around your collar.

There's just one thing that puts that snugness there in a Sincerity garment—skillful hand work. The collar of a Sincerity coat isn't simply sewed on. It's built with all the cunning and skill that the highest class tailors can slowly and painstakingly put into it.

When you need two-vision lenses—be sure to get KRYPTOK LENSES

(Worn by over 250,000 people)

For in all other two-vision lenses there is a line or seam between the near and far vision portions that makes the wearer look less than his best, and unmistakably brands him or her with a sign of age.

Kryptoks are double-vision lenses that look exactly like regular one-vision lenses because there are no lines or seams in them.

Dr. Winnard can supply these lenses

Inquire of Milt Maxwell, Parkers Mill, Ore.

O. J. Cox, the Rhea creek dairyman, was in the city Saturday.

E. L. Reaney and wife, of Lexington, were visitors in Heppner Friday last.

Paul Raymond was in Saturday after a load of supplies for V. Gentry's sheep camp.

W. D. Newlon and wife were Sunday visitors in Heppner from their home in north Morrow county.

The Fair grounds are receiving a thorough clean-up this week in preparation for the coming Chautauqua.

Miss Rose Kilkenny, who has been attending school at Pendleton during the winter, has returned to her farm home near this city.

Marshall Phelps returned home Friday, after a business visit of a few days at Hermiston, and a few pleasure days in Portland.

C. C. Rhea and family were Heppner visitors from Rhea creek Saturday. Mr. Rhea reports crops growing good in his locality.

Miss Muriel McCarty returned home from The Dalles Friday evening, after spending the year in that city, where she attended school.

B. A. Stafford, who has been visiting for several days at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. L. Case, departed Monday for his home in California.

W. K. Livingston and wife returned Sunday evening from Forest Grove, where they attended the commencement exercises of Pacific University.

Mrs. D. E. Gilman departed for Portland on Sunday and from there she will go to McMinnville as a delegate to the G. A. R. encampment, representing the W. R. C. of Heppner.

W. P. Scrivner is very grateful to those who worked so hard in saving his building from destruction on Friday night. There is ever a prompt response on the part of our people when the fire alarm is sounded and there are plenty of volunteers to get right into the midst of things and preserve property from destruction.

Mr. Scrivner has suffered a loss of about $300.00. He will remove the damaged part of the building and replace it with another structure of the same size now standing at the rear of the Oregon Garage and used by him as a storehouse at the present time.

E. H. Cummings, of the Cummings, Brown, Stapleton farm in Clarks canyon was in Heppner Saturday. He reports that their section of grain is in splendid shape and will make an average yield of 20 bushels, if not better. Mr. Cummings is one of the new settlers in this county and is well pleased with his investments here. He says he has done better than he anticipated and at the end of his third year will be on easy street with a good farm and in position to go ahead and make money. Mr. Cummings is an experienced hand at "dry farming," having lived many years in Montana, where he was compelled to follow the methods of conservation of moisture. He finds his experience gained in that state has been worth much to him in farming here.

Some nice rooms to rent; just recently repapered and painted. See Henry Schwarz at Peoples Cash Market.

Dr. McMurdo has bought out Dr. Allison's office and is now located at Patterson & Son's drug store.
