SMEAD & CRAWFORD

DEATH CAMAS.

The Department of Agriculture has just issued a bulletin (No. 125) upon Zygodenus or Death Camas. This bulletin will doubtless be of interest to those who have recently suffered losses due to the poisoning of their stock caused by the eating of this plant.

According to this publication, the death camas is found throughout the United States, and as far north as Alaska; but it is most abundant from the Rocky Mountains west to the Pacific Ocean. The plant may grow as more or less scattered individuals, but it is sometimes massed together in large areas. In appearance it is grass like, growing from a rootstock or bulb which looks like an onion; while the flowers are greenish white or yellow and somewhat resemble mignonette. In the Northwest the plant is known by numerous common names, such as lobelia, soap plant, alkali grass, water lily, wild onion, hog's potato, squirrel food, poison sego, etc.

Numerous experiments have been made to discover a remedy for poisoning of sheep caused by eating this plant, but no satisfactory or practical medical remedy has been found. To prevent losses, it is important to recognize the plant and avoid camping stock on it at any time, or grazing upon it when the animals are hungry. If the animals become sick they should be kept quiet, and under this treatment many will recover.

Frank Glasscock's buggy team took a little spin up the street on their own account yesterday, stopping rather suddenly at the side door of Ashbaugh's shop. They made a lively run for a distance and some rather abrupt turns, and the net results of injuries to the rig were a broken tongue and slightly bent rod or two. The team was left standing for a minute at the front gate of the Smead residence while Mr. Glasscock was inside.

Popular Heppner Young Lady Marries Echo Man.

Miss Ella Aiken, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Aiken, of this city was united in marriage to Chas. S. Corder, a business man at Echo, at the home of her parents on Wednesday morning at 8:15 o'clock. The wedding service was performed in the presence of the immediate family and a few near friends, by Rev. Scott, of Grass Valley. Miss Melba Griffiths, a former schoolmate of the bride, played the wedding march. Mrs. Corder is a graduate of Heppner high school, being a member of the 1914 class. The young people departed at once for Echo, where they will make their home. The Gazette-Times joins their host of friends in extending congratulations.

Doctor Drinks; Gets D. T.'s.

Officer Alex Manning this morning took into custody a young man who proved to be Dr. Charles Hamilton, a graduate physician whose father was formerly a Portland minister. A charge of disorderly conduct and drunkenness was placed against him and he is being held in jail. He came here last Friday from Heppner with his wife and took rooms in a local apartment house. He started drinking Saturday and during the night abused his wife so that other roomers ejected him. The landlord ordered him away but he returned this morning, still badly intoxicated and started more commotion. The police were summoned then. The man's physical condition is so bad as a result of his intemperance that he appears to have the delirium tremens.—Pendleton E. O.
