ONE OREGON FARM AT P. P. I. EXPOSITION

An exhibit in the Oregon pavilion, Palace of Agriculture at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, that attracts a great deal of attention is that one showing 670 varieties of products from a single farm. This showing is made by D. M. Lowe, of Jackson county, who is particularly well known to Oregon State Fair attendants. This exhibit is made up of grains, grasses, fruits, vegetables, the legumes, several varieties of corn, flax, and about everything else imaginable. The average visitor is thoroughly amazed that such a tremendous variety of products can be produced, on a single farm and many stay to discuss the situation thoroughly. That this production is obtained without the aid of irrigation, that the products grow to a splendid maturity without interruption, and that so much of the exhibit is of top-notch stuff but increases the wonder. A feature of the exhibit is a large case of silver cups, medals and blue ribbons that Mr. Lowe has won by similar exhibits at other expositions and state fairs. This is a magnificent advertisement for southern Oregon and the state at large and furnishes great opportunity for attendants to dwell upon Oregon opportunity and possibility. A companion exhibit also assists very materially in this effort at exploitation. This is the splendid showing made by F. M. Sherman, of Linn county. He shows what can be grown on an unirrigated ten-acre farm and there is an unusual variety of fine products. However, Mr. Sherman has discovered that it pays to grow first-class seed of all kinds and this is his special effort. There is always a strong demand for good seed at a good price and he recommends this industry to those on the small tract. The public finds his exhibit of great interest.

Klamath county has started out to prove that, while a tremendous timber, cattle and wild game country, it can produce as fine farm and garden truck as any of 'em. Representative Phil Slinnott now gloats over a showing of fine lettuce, turnips, rhubarb and kindred garden stuff as there is on the grounds. The inquiry about the Klamath country is very great, but the average person thinks of that section as being too cold for production of any sort. They are now learning better. If the rest of the state understood just how many are the inquiries about the possibilities for hunting game of any sort they would emphasize the opportunities in their particular sections. Many people about to change their location seem to be as much interested in hunting as they are in making a living, and the matter of bagging a deer or landing a trout once in a while seems to be more important than any climatic condition.

From Cove, Union county, there came the first of the week two immense designs made of cherries—an American eagle with wings outspread upon a shield and an American flag. Each of them about four by six feet, and done in the light-colored Royal Ann and the dark Bings, presents a decidedly attractive appearance and the display now makes the Eastern Oregon booth the real center of attraction. Shipped 1,050 miles, the Eastern Oregon fruit arrived in perfect condition and with the replacement of a cherry here and there as the days go by the display will probably appear to advantage for three weeks or more. Coming after the southern Oregon and Willamette Valley cherry has had its day, this showing makes a decided hit. While the cherries are by no means the finest that have been on display in the Oregon building, they are fine looking and of a size that is amazing to many of the Easterners unfamiliar with the beauty of this Oregon fruit.

"Grace's Visit to the Rogue River Valley" is a new six reel film now being shown. This portrays the scenic beauty, the productivity and the social life of the valley. It is a beautiful film and is greatly enjoyed by hundreds of visitors weekly.

Oregon Boys and Girls Honored.
The Oregon building is the center for much special activity these days. The United Artisans held their convention at the building on Monday and the Salem drill team, which won out in the big drill contest, created quite a furore. There was an all-day program and the Artisans were fed on the building's vast expanse of balcony. Then came the Panama-Pacific Historical Congress for a session at the theater in this building. Prof. Joseph Schafer, of the state University, presided and read a paper on "The Western Ocean as a Determinant in Oregon History." Friday night one of the largest formal social functions of the Exposition was given in honor of the young women of the Oregon Agricultural College here serving in the domestic science demonstration kitchen and dining room, and in honor of the college and university young men here as guides. The invitation list included the highest exposition officials, officialdom at the various state buildings, the elite of the society of the Bay cities, and the sojourning friends of these young people. Hundreds of these came to do the young people honor and large numbers stayed to enjoy the dancing. The domestic science women were congratulated warmly on the success of their undertaking and the expressions came from the innermost depths, for the Oregon building dining room is the fad with the greatest of the great. The band from the battleship Oregon furnished music for the occasion and as a most distinguished honor, the Oregon's $15,000 punch bowl and service was loaned. This splendid social function was the happy thought of Commissioner John F. Logan, who desired to show to the world Oregon's appreciation of the young women of the state in their successful endeavor to dignify home service, and of the young men in preparing practically for usefulness. And other functions are to follow swiftly. On the 29th fifteen hundred gallons of loganberry juice will tell at least fifteen thousand people of a new nectar more glorious than that which Jupiter sips. There will be an all-day program, August 9th to 17th will be "All Oregon Week," each day a special day and probably with a function each night. The 17th is "Benson Day" and this will be made one of the greatest days of the Exposition, this being an exposition as well as an Oregon occasion. Elaborate plans are under way.

SOME OF THE BEST FROM "JUDGE"

Shrewd Dentist.

Rankin—Isn't that Dr. Diggendelve, the wealthy dentist?

Phyle—Yes.

Rankin—I wonder why he is eating his meals in this restaurant?

Phyle—He always patronizes the restaurants during the blackberry pie season, so he can pick out the people whose teeth need filling.

A Treat for Ma.

"Yes, we girls are going to camp out."

"You'll find cooking very irksome."

"Oh, we are going to take mother along to cook. She needs a vacation."

Not Much.

"There's not much petticoat rule nowadays, in spite of votes for women," was said.

"No," smiled McPee; "there's not much petticoat."

A Dry Witness.

Two men had been arrested in a dry town for drinking, and the prosecuting witness was on the stand.

"You say," said the attorney for the defense, "that you saw the men in the field drinking?"

"Yes, sir, I did."

"Was the field fenced?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where were you?"

"On the far side of the fence."

"Was there a board off that you could see through?"

"No, sir."

"Was there a knothole in the fence?"

"No, sir."

The attorney braced himself for the crushing question that he had ready to launch at the victim whom he thought he had so adroitly cornered.

"Now," he said, banging the table, "will you tell the court how you could see two men drinking in a field surrounded by a fence with no boards off and never a knothole in it?"

"Yes, sir," said the witness.

"Well, tell it," commanded the attorney impatiently.

"It was a barbed-wire fence."

A Listener.

Father—What did you and John talk about last night, dear?

Daughter—Oh, we talked about our kith and kin.

Small Brother—Yeth, pop, I heard 'em. He sath, "Kin I hev a kith?" and she sath, "Yith, you kin!"—Yale Record.

On a Party Line.

On a Sunday afternoon an esteemed party named Smith casually remarked something about dinner, whereat his wife wearily sighed.

"John," said she, "I am too tired to cook tonight. Suppose we visit one of the neighbors and take a chance on being invited to stay for dinner."

"Alright," was the ready rejoinder from willing father. "How about the Browns?"

"Not on your life!" quickly replied mother. "The Browns are going to have pork and cabbage. I heard Mrs. Brown order it over the party telephone. The Greens ordered chicken."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Making It Emphatic.

She sailed into the telegraph office and rapped on the counter. As the clerk came forward to meet her, he remembered that she had been there about ten minutes before. He wondered what she wanted this time.

"Oh," she said, "let me have that telegram I wrote just now; I forgot something important. I wanted to underscore 'perfectly lovely' in acknowledging the receipt of that bracelet. Will it cost anything extra?"

"No, ma'am," said the clerk, as he handed her the message.

The young lady drew two heavy lines beneath the words and said, "It's awfully good of you to let me do that! It will please Arthur ever so much."—Youth's Companion.

Miss Blanche Poyson, Largest Policewoman, at the Panama-Pacific Exposition

The Fair "Copette" and the Midgets.

TO Miss Blanche Poyson belongs the honor of being the only real special policewoman in the United States. Her star, bearing the inscription "Special Police, Toyland G. U.," is registered at the city hall in San Francisco. Miss Poyson, who stands six feet four inches without her boots, maintains law and order at "Toyland Grown Up," on the Zone, at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Miss Poyson weighs 235 pounds, she is but twenty-four years of age and, despite her official position, is as delightful a young woman as one will meet in a long day of sightseeing on the Zone. She is enthusiastic over her work and keeps watch on the great throngs which visit Toyland day and night. Miss Poyson has presided with wonderful success over crowds of many thousands of persons. The two midgets beside Miss Poyson have taken great fancy to the "copette," and the three have become fast friends during their off hours at Toyland.

Toyland Grown Up, where Miss Poyson reigns, is one of the largest and most costly concessions on the great amusement thoroughfare. It was built at a cost of $285,000 and covers fourteen acres. All the toys of the story books read by youngsters and grownups are to be seen there in monster proportions, and in this land of romance and enchantment, with its giant toys, the giant policewoman presides with dignity and efficiency.
