DEPENDENT WIDOW GETS LARGE PENSION

Salem, August 2.—The State Industrial Accident Commission today approved the claim of the dependent widow of Mr. Walter H. Howell, resident of Route No. 1, The Dalles, who was killed while employed by the Manchester Lumber Company on July 29th, 1915. Death came to him in attempting to put a belt onto live wheels without stopping the machinery. The widow being only eighteen years of age has an expectancy period of forty-three years, four months and seventeen days. During the remainder of her life or widowhood she will receive a compensation of $30.00 per month from the State.

The Commission directed the State Treasurer to set aside in the Segregated Accident Fund the sum of $7,357.77. This amount will be invested in securities, so that the principal and compound interest will pay her during her lifetime $15,617.00. If she lives the full period of expectancy, should she live longer she will continue to receive $30.00 per month until death, except that in case of marriage, the obligation of the State shall be cancelled by lump payment to her of $300.00. The widow is assured of this pension, as after it has been set aside for this purpose by this Commission, the law provides that it cannot be appropriated for any other purpose. The money is paid by the State directly to the widow and is not subject to assignment and cannot pass from the State into other hands than hers, through any process of the law or of the courts.

Farm Methods Made A Matter of Record

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, August 2.—Farmers can contribute much to the development of improved agriculture by making records of their most successful farm operations. It is altogether likely that if all farm practices in Oregon were as good as the best that has been developed by some farmer, the general level of agriculture would be materially raised. By making a detailed record of the various steps by which the result was secured the farmer would be able to repeat and also to help others. The facts of the record could be published in the home newspaper and if general interest in agricultural papers and the Agricultural College Press Bulletins.

This thought was made vivid by examining a six-year record of experiments on the Umatilla Experiment Farm. "This report," explained Professor C. I. Lewis, "was prepared by R. W. Allen, superintendent of the farm. It makes use of the loose leaf system so that records are progressive by inserting a new leaf descriptive of each addition to the experiment. When the experiments are completed there is an accurate and detailed record of each step with no other matter mixed in with it. A glance will show whether the results were good, and if they were it is easy to repeat them. If not, they may be thrown away."

Of course this is more elaborate record-making than is adapted to the farmer's use, but an account of the main steps, such as plowing, fertilizing, preparing seed bed, culture, harvesting and marketing or storing and using, would not require much work and would in many cases afford a veritable mine of valuable information. Farmers of Southern Lane County are invited to send in stories of success to the Cottage Grove Sentinel, which will give them wide publication in that part of the state. Doubtless other papers would also give space to stories of success and how it was achieved, since the general welfare of an agricultural community depends largely upon the progress of agriculture.

Keep Dogs Muzzled.

Heppner, Oregon, July 29, 1915. Owing to the prevalence of rabies in the immediate vicinity of Heppner, the City Council, looking to the welfare of the people of our town, has ordained that all dogs shall be muzzled or kept chained up until such time as the City Health Officer thinks the danger is past. Therefore the Marshal has been instructed to kill all dogs found running at large without muzzles within the corporate limits of the City of Heppner on or after July 25th, 1915.

Due notice will be given when this order is annulled.

This order will be strictly enforced. People outside the city limits are requested to keep dogs at home as there will be no exception made. Rabies has ceased to be a joke and the welfare of the people demands this action.

SOME OF THE BEST FROM "JUDGE"

His Honey.

A San Francisco man tells of a flower, growing abundantly near Santa Barbara, which is peculiarly attractive to bees.

"Now," he says, "there was a young Californian, particularly fond of honey, who used to visit a certain Santa Barbara hostelry because such a superior sort of this nectar was to be had there.

"This young man married in due course, and the wedding trip included Santa Barbara, so that the bride might taste this superb honey. But to his dismay no honey appeared on the breakfast table the first morning of their stay. The groom frowned. He called the old familiar waiter over to him.

"Where's my honey?" he demanded.

"The waiter hesitated, looked awkwardly at the bride, and then bent toward the young man's ear and in a hoarse whisper stammered, 'Why, Marie don't work here any more, sir.'"—Harper's Magazine.

Johnny Made Good.

In instructing a youthful class in mathematics, the pretty young teacher turned to John Jones.

"Johnny," she remarked, "can you tell me what an average is?"

"Yes, ma'am," was the prompt response of Johnny; "an average is what a hen lays eggs on."

"What!" exclaimed the amazed teacher. "What on earth are you talking about?"

"That's right, Miss Mary," was the persistent rejoinder of Johnny. "Most every lesson in our 'rithmetic starts off, 'If a hen lays two eggs a day on an average!'"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

High Finance.

"Henry, dear," announced Mrs. Uptodate, "I guess you will have to admit that I am a pretty good business manager after all. I took Willie with me to the movies this afternoon, and as it was raining when we came out of the theater, I gave Willie ten cents carfare and had him hurry home and get an umbrella for me. In that way I saved my new hat from being ruined.

"Uh-huh," replied Mr. Uptodate. "Yes, I see, my dear; but why the Sam Hill didn't you both ride home for your ten cents in the first place?"

"Henry! You—boo hoo—you never give me credit for anything I do!"

Hope in Sight.

A young man who last June received his diploma had been looking around successively for a position, for employment and for a job. Entering an office, he asked to see the manager, and while waiting he said to the office boy.

"Do you suppose there is any opening here for a college graduate?"

"Well, dere will be," was the reply, "if de boss don't raise me salary to t'ree dollars a week by temorrow night."—Christian Register.

His Preference.

"If you had to work—jest nacherly had to," queried Seldum Fedd, who was a great hand to cogitate, "what kind of a job would you choose?"

"Bein' janitor in an air castle," replied Solled Spooner, a prominent volunteer in the great army of the unemployed.
