This office enjoyed a pleasant visit yesterday from Mr. B. Sullivan, an extensive farmer of Clackamas county who has been here for several days. Mr. Sullivan is quite interested in this section and contemplates locating here with his family providing he can get hold of a suitable piece of property. We found him to be a man that is well informed along the lines of dairying and diversified farming. Mr. Sullivan has engaged quite extensively in dairying for a number of years and knows that it is a good thing for the farmer, and he highly endorses the plan of putting up a butter factory and cold storage plant at Heppner; it would be a splendid proposition for our farming community, properly conducted. Furthermore, Mr. Sullivan strongly advocates the silo and the handling of the very best grades of dairy stock.

The editor and several members of his family spent Saturday and Sunday at the "Turnford" camp near the foot of Black Mountain. Messrs. Frank and Jess Turner and O. G. and Nell Crawford are busily engaged in getting out wood and poles in that vicinity, and the family of O. G. Crawford is "keeping house" for them and enjoying an outing in the timber as well. Mrs. Frank Turner and children joined the crowd Sunday, and Mr. Spencer Crawford and Miss Lera Githens came along on Saturday evening to be in time to help the hungry bunch devour all the grub there was in camp. It is simply astonishing what capacity people develop for storing away the eats when they reach the timber belt. It is very pleasant in the mountains now and we are sorry to have to return to the heat and grind of the city.

Harry Morgan departed for Moscow, Idaho, Saturday and expects to make that place his home in the future. For the present he has secured work in the Farmers Warehouse there with his brother, Andrew Morgan, who has charge of the institution. Before leaving, Harry got right with himself by leaving a deposit with the editor of this family journal, which tho it shineth only as the lesser of the great luminaries of the universe, must be had by those desiring to get the local happenings of this part of the moral vineyard. We wish Harry all kinds of success.

R. L. Moore, of Monument, underwent a quite severe operation at the office of Dr. Christensen, dentist, Tuesday, for the removal of an impacted molar. A wisdom tooth had caused him a lot of trouble and pain, and the dentist found the member so badly wedged into the jawbone as to require an operation for its removal and the assistance of a physician was called, an anesthetic administered and sufficient of the jawbone removed to allow the tooth to be extracted.

Messrs. Lee and J. E. Murphy, of Ontario, Oregon, are two bright young gentlemen registered at the Palace this week, and who have been touring the Eastern Oregon country during the summer on business and pleasure bound. They have taken in a goodly portion of Morrow county and are well pleased with the evidences of prosperity they find here. This office acknowledges a very pleasant call from the gentlemen.

J. B. Sparks of Heppner was in town Wednesday. He was accompanied by Newt Whetstone. Mr. Sparks is Heppner agent for the Studebaker car, also proprietor of moving picture houses at Heppner, Ione and Lexington. D. M. Parsons, a young man who has been at work at the ranch of J. H. Hayes & Son on Butter creek, came near severing the thumb of his left hand with an axe Tuesday. He was shaping a brake block at the time. His injuries required the attention of a physician, who had some difficulty in drawing the tendons together and sewing them up.

Paul Hisler has finished up a neat eight-room cottage on his Butter creek ranch. Lewis Sumerfield did the papering which was completed the first of the week. Paul is quite proud of this new home and would not be in the least averse to sharing this home with some worthy lady and applications are now in order.

Mr. and Mrs. Stacy Roberts were down from their home at Toll Rock Friday. They found the summer heat much more oppressive at Heppner than it is at their mountain retreat.
