Meeting War's Emergencies With Ingenious Inventions.

By Searle Hendee, in the November Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Since Europe has been merged in hostilities, scarcely a month has passed unmarked either by the development of some new agent of destruction, or the introduction of some new medium of defense. The creative genius of half the world has been concentrated in an effort to make war more terrible on the one hand, and safer on the other. And first one belligerent and then the other has met crucial emergencies by ingenious, not to say startling, inventions.

The apparent deadlock on the western frontier has presented a perplexing situation. For months the armies have fought battles more sanguinary than Waterloo without making progress except in terms of yards. Trench warfare has been responsible for this.

To make the trench less secure for the enemy is an object which each of the belligerents is striving to accomplish. A step in this direction is found in the work of a British inventor who has developed a wheeled body shield that affords immunity from rifle bullets and shrapnel when advancing upon fortified positions. The body of this is constructed of tempered-steel plates, the front so rounded and tempered that bullets strike the surface at an angle and glance off without doing harm. The rear is open, while the interior is just large enough to accommodate one soldier, who rests on his hands and knees. The device is propelled forward by pushing against the ground with one foot.

It was inventive skill applied in a different channel that made possible the construction of a gigantic steel network across the Narrows in the Dardanelles to check the operations of the Allies' submarines in the Sea of Marmora. The barrier extends some 75 ft. beneath the water and is long enough to block the entire channel from Chanak Kalessi in Asia Minor to Namazieh on the European side. It is composed of a number of great nets, each approximately 600 feet long, moored end to end by means of buoys and anchors.

The net across the Narrows has been a practical means of defense because there is little tide in the eastern Mediterranean to disturb it. This condition is not true in the waters about England, where a different scheme has been used by the British admiralty with remarkable results. Here, it is claimed, the submarines are caught by literally sealing them. The nets used for this are made in lengths of about 170 feet, with heavy iron wire. They are usually about 27 ft. in width and of 15-ft. mesh. When in use they are stretched between the bows of two oil-burning destroyers and buoyed by means of large blocks of wood attached to the binding cables along the top. When an enemy submarine is sighted, the fast destroyers cut ahead of the vessel and moor the net directly in the path it is pursuing.

The rough condition of the water in the North Sea greatly restricts the range of a periscope, making it effective for a distance of only about a mile. This permits the destroyers to set the trap, after observing the course a submarine is taking, and escape unnoticed. The result is that the submersible proceeds, ignorant of danger, and drives its nose into the netting, the top of which is about eight or ten feet beneath the surface.

These illustrate a few of the numerous ways in which the war's emergencies are being met. For every new instrument of destruction introduced, some means is promptly developed to counteract its effect or nullify its efficiency. And for every fresh obstacle encountered in the ever-changing methods of war, some scheme is devised for surmounting it.

IONE.

Mr. Row, who has been down at Rheas Siding for some time, returned to Ione last Sunday evening.

J. E. Cronan, our genial banker, has gone down to Portland for a short time to visit with his family.

Mrs. Wm. Swanson and Ed Bristow and family were up at the county seat last Monday, to see what the court house looked like.

F. H. Robinson and C. J. Pennington made a business trip to Heppner last Wednesday. They jittneyed up with J. H. Bryson.

Mae Robinson, who has been living in the vicinity of Heppner for some time past is visiting at the home of Mrs. C. E. Shaver.

We understand that they are going to have a big basket social down at Cecil Friday night. Too bad the roads are so cut up.

Mrs. Frank Young and children went out to the ranch last week to spend a few days. Gets pretty lonesome, don't it Frank.

Henry Stender and son, and Wid Palmateer autoed up to Heppner last Monday. I think the boys were looking after some rabbits.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Wate Crawford at their home last Sunday morning, a fine big boy. Mother and child getting along in fine shape.

Mrs. J. H. Cochran, who has been up at White Swan visiting with her daughters for some time, returned to Ione Saturday last week.

Joe Knappenberg, Walter Cason and Wm. Swanson were Heppner visitors last Monday, attending to some business matters while up there.

George Parman, one of our old-timers from the Walla Walla country, spent several days with us recently, returning home last Tuesday.

Walter Puyear departed for the Idaho country last Sunday where he will visit with his brothers for a short time and have a general good time.

Rufus Farrens has been on the sick list for some time, and we are glad to learn that he is improving, and hope he will be all right in a short time.

Mrs. Oscar Lundell and her mother Mrs. Petre, who have been in Ione for the past three weeks, returned to their home at Rheas Siding last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lundell, who have been down at Rheas Siding for the past three weeks, returned to their home at Ione last Tuesday evening.

The Young band is again hammering away under the able management of Prof. Burger. Several of the boys have new instruments and we are looking forward to some good music by spring.

Dr. Chick has the well drill on his place north of Ione. There is a very good chance to get artesian water in that neck of the woods and we hope they will strike it there.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Chester Titus at their home in this city, a fine big boy. Mother and child are getting along fine. No wonder Chet is buying stogies these days.

The Yeoman lodge was organized in Ione last Tuesday night. Quite a number were introduced into this new organization and all report a very pleasant evening. There were a goodly number from our neighboring city of Lexington at the doing.

Dick Turpin has his barber shop heated with steam these days. He has run pipes on the inside of his building, and connected them with his hot water tank. Dick says he can make it as hot as the place you read about in just a few minutes, and it saves him fussing with a dirty stove in his shop.

Coyote Harold has just returned from what might be termed a hobo, brake beam and other venturesome trip. Harold says he had three dollars and some odd cents when he left here and returned with one dollar and some sense. He went as far East as Salt Lake and as far South as the Panama Exposition, but says the fair was too tame for him as he saw all he wanted in a couple of days.

Wednesday of last week was devoted to a rabbit drive by a goodly number of Ioneites, out at Sweden. Several loads of people from the Egg City, also quite a number of farmers joined in the procession and drove from O. E. Lindstrom's place down the canyon to what is known as the Peter Johnson place. When the hair quit flying there were in the neighborhood of three hundred rabbits lying dead. The only weapons used were clubs. It rained on the merry bunch all the way down the canyon, wetting them in good shape. This drive being such a success there was another called for the following Sunday, which was Sunday of last week. This drive was from Paul Troedson's to the before-mentioned corral, and to say it was not a huge success would be telling a whopper. There were twenty auto loads from Ione and vicinity, about ten vehicles of various kinds and possibly twenty horseback riders, and the way they sent the rabbits down the canyon was not slow. They finally landed at the corral and after the fog of hair and dust had cleared away there were counted four hundred and sixty-five dead in the corral. A large number was killed by the different ones during the drive, and to top it all the good farmers had a boiler of good hot coffee with plenty of cream and all the good old-fashioned sandwiches you could eat. If the people will hold together and have a drive of this kind now and again during the winter in the different localities, they can rid the farmers of a whole lot of these pesky little varmints that destroy more grain and spuds every year than would feed a big regiment of men. Let's have this good work go on.

John Gates and wife came over from their home near Spray to attend the funeral of the late Andrew Stamp. Mrs. Gates being a sister of the deceased.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wigglesworth, October 19, a 9-pound son. Mother and son are doing well.

Robert Young attended the big rabbit drive out north of Ione last Sunday.

John Brosnan motored into Heppner from his ranch near Lena yesterday.
