two-vision lenses—be sure to get

KRYPTOK LENSES

(Worn by over 250,000 people)

For all other two-vision lenses there is a line or seam between the near and far vision portions that makes the wearer look less than his best, and unmistakably brings him or her with a sign of age.

Kryptok's are double-vision lenses that look exactly like regular one-vision lenses because there are no lines or seams in them.

Dr. Winnard can supply these lenses Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

APPEAL FOR DEPENDENT CHILD- REN.

The Boys' and Girls' Aid Society is making its annual appeal to the schools and the public, for Thanksgiving contributions of money, food supplies and clothing. For thirty years the Society has been caring for dependent and neglected children of Oregon, and it should have the generous support of all citizens interested in child welfare.

During the past year the Society has cared for 491 children in its Receiving home, and supervised over 500 children, whom it has placed in private homes. Whereas the aim of the Society is to place the child as quickly as possible in a suitable home, the care of children at the Receiving Home is necessarily a large factor in the work. Such care includes scientific treatment, for over 80 per cent of the children committed are not placeable until physical defects and ailments are remedied. Until they are placeable the children must live in the Receiving Home, where everything is done to give them the advantages of normal children. It is in furtherance of this work that the co-operation of public spirited people is sought.

All contributions should be addressed to The Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, Portland, Oregon, and should be shipped over the following Railroads, which carry all donations to the Society free of charge between Nov. 15th and Dec. 31st.

Forest Notes.

There were 29,276 acres of agricultural land listed to 515 applicants in the State of Oregon, and 3,805 acres listed to 52 applicants in the State of Washington during the past year by the Forest Service.

Since the passage of the forest homestead act, June 11, 1906, there have been 188,514 acres of agricultural land listed to over 2,000 applicants in the States of Oregon and Washington by the Forest Service.

Of the varied special uses to which National Forest land is put, one of the most interesting is that of school houses. There are thirteen school houses within the National Forests of Washington and Oregon and one in Alaska. The only churches thus far built on National Forest land are two in the Tongass Forest, Alaska.
No charge is made for this use of the National Forests.

It is estimated that over one hundred thousand people visited the National Forests of Washington and Oregon for recreation purposes during the past year. In addition to this, 25 permits were issued for summer homes, making a total number of 83 permits of this character now in force on the National Forests of the two States.

What Are YOU Worth From the NECK UP?

It is estimated that the average man is worth $2 a day from the neck down—what is he worth from the neck up?

That depends entirely upon training.
If you are trained so that you plan and direct work you are worth ten times as much as the man who can work only under orders.

THE BEST FROM JUDGE

Why He Was Quiet.

"What did he have to say for himself?"

"Nothing. His wife was with him."

Aerial Obstructions.

Planet Mars—Hit anything this time 'round?

Jupiter—Couple of Zepps and a wireless.

Telling Things.

"You can tell more about a woman by looking at the man with her than by looking at her," remarked the Wise Individual.

"And you'd better tell less about her," countered the Silly Individual.

Where Kindness Killed.

"Henry," she murmured, fondly gazing at her slender lord and master, "you are quite the style, your narrow, sloping shoulders are the correct thing."

Then she added dreamily, "I wonder, Henry dear, if bow-legs will ever come in."

Where He Got It.

Coach—Jones, you look like the "find" of the season. The way you hammer the line, dodge, slug your man and worm through your opponents is marvelous. You must have played considerable, haven't you?

Candidate for football team—No, it's my early training. You see, my mother used to take me shopping with her on bargain-days.

The Old Turkey.

Now when we gaze upon your rack
No wonder we should scold.
For what is left will sure come back,
Warmed over, hashed and cold.

Ambition.

I'd rather be a Could Be,
If I could not be an Are;
For a Could Be is a May Be,
With a chance of touching par.

I'd rather be a Has Been
Than a Might Have Been by far, For a Might Have Been has never been But a Has was once an Are.

Wonderful.

Soph—Your girl is a wonderful dancer but for two things.
Junior (elated at compliment paid his girl)—Yes, I think so, too, but what are the two things?

Soph. (beating a hasty retreat)—
Her feet.—Burr.

The Burning Question.

Queenie—Have you ever kissed a girl?
Oswald—Is that an invitation or are you gathering statistics?—Wildow.

Methodical Shopping.

"James, my lad," said the grocer to his new assistant, "who bought that mouldy cheese today?"
"Mrs. Brown, sir," was the youth's reply.

"And the stale loaf we could not sell last night?"
"Mrs. Brown, sir."
"Where's that lump of rancid butter that the baker refused?"
"Mrs. Brown bought it cheap, sir," was the answer.

"And the six eggs we could not sell a week since?"
"Mrs. Brown. Are you ill, sir?" asked James, as the grocer turned grene and groaned.

"No, no; only I'm going to tea at Brown's tonight," replied the unhappy man as he wiped the perspiration from his face and sank into a chair.
—New York Times.

A Poor Bet.

"Mr. Redink," said the boss severely, "you got off yesterday afternoon under the plea of being sick. I saw you afterward going to the races and you didn't appear to be at all sick."

Mr. Redink was fully equal to the occasion.

"You ought to have seen me after the second race, sir," he said.—New York Sun.

His Summer Experience.

"Do you have to have many servants at your summer home, Hawkins?" asked Wiggleshorpe.

"Well, last year we had eighteen," said Hawkins.

"Eighteen!" echoed Wiggleshorpe.
"Great Scott, man! how can you manage that number on your income?"

"Oh, seventeen of 'em were cooks that stayed on an average of five days apiece," said Hawkins. "The rest were our hired man."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cooperation.

"What you must do, son, is to lay the foundation for a solid business success."

"That's my idea, dad. Now, first of all, I require sound financial backing."

"I get you, son. I'll provide carfare until you land a job."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Reciprocation.

He—There goes the honestest girl in the world.

She—How's that?

He—She won't even take a kiss without returning it.—California Pelican.
