When you need two-vision lenses—be sure to get

KRYPTOK LENSES

(Worn by over 250,000 people)
For in all other two-vision lenses there is a line or seam between the near and far vision portions that makes the wearer look less than his best, and unmistakably brands him or her with a sign of age.

Kryptok lenses are double-vision lenses that look exactly like regular one-vision lenses because there are no lines or seams in them.

Dr. Winnard can supply these lenses
Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

25 YEARS AGO IN HEPPNER

From the Gazette of Dec. 4, 1890.
D. W. Horner has purchased the harness shop of C. W. Messner, of Arlington and has moved it to Heppner. He is comfortably located in the Swinburne building, next door to the Liberty Meat Market.

Alfred Ayers got back from the East Thanksgiving. He took in Chicago while back there and is pleased with his trip. He says Major Ormsby got back with his sheep in good condition. Alfred is now rustling on the ranch.

Last Wednesday Mrs. P. O. Borg went to Portland after a trunk belonging to Mrs. Harry Wright. It was shipped below by freight recently and was robbed somewhere on the road, never reaching its destination.

Oscar Minor left on Wednesday's train for Portland. He goes to get Mrs. Minor, who has been in St. Vincent's hospital, and has recovered so far as to be able to return home.

The Heppner Musical and Dramatic Co. was organized last Tuesday evening with a large membership. During the winter they will present a number of well chosen plays, commencing with a musicale in the near future. Heppner's young men are wide-awake, and of the progressive order. The proceeds are for the benefit of the band.

Forest Notes.

Over a million and a quarter board feet of wood is used annually in the mines of Oregon for props, lagging, ties, and raffle boxes.

Oregon consumes 536 board feet of lumber per capita annually.

In 1914 in the construction of ships at the ship building yards of Oregon and Washington, nearly 13,000,000 board feet of high grade lumber and timbers were consumed. Australian ironbark contributed 35,000 board feet to this total.

To repair the spokes, tongues and reaches of broken wagons, the blacksmiths and wheelwrights of the towns and cities of Oregon and Washington used over 400,000 board feet of oak, ash, hickory, etc. The average cost per thousand board feet of this raw material was over one hundred dollars.

A new process of crosscutting Douglas fir has recently been developed which does not impair the strength of the timber.

Public Corporation Value Raised.

Word from Salem has reached Heppner that the value of public service corporation properties has been raised in Morrow county, over last year's figures about $100,000. This will make a noticeable increase in tax money.

What Are YOU Worth From the NECK UP?

It is estimated that the average man is worth $2 a day from the neck down—what is he worth from the neck up?

That depends entirely upon training. If you are trained so that you plan and direct work you are worth ten times as much as the man who can only work under orders.

The International Correspondence Schools go to the man who is struggling along on small pay and say to him: "We will train you for promotion right where you are or we will qualify you to take up a more congenial line of work at a much higher salary."

Every month several hundred students voluntarily report advancement as the direct result of I. C. S. training. You need not leave your present work, or your own home. Mark this coupon at once and mail it.

THE BEST FROM JUDGE

Driven to It.

"Guess I'll have to write a new ad about my store."

"Why, you've used the old ad for fourteen years, Hiram."

"Yes, but the printer tells me the darned old electrotype is wore out."

What It Is.

Human interest (remarks McFee, who is a recognized authority on this and everything else) may be said to consist mainly, mostly, largely, if not altogether, of 100 per cent human chasing after the 100 per cent interest.

How It Was.

"After all, the office seems to have sought the Hon. Thomas Rott."

"No; it was merely trying to get away from the Hon. Bray Lowder."

Between Friends.

"Say, old chap, you're a good friend of mine, aren't you?"

"Sure. And you're a good friend of mine, aren't you?"

"Sure. And say, I want to borrow ten dollars."

"Quiet, Major, quiet. Listen. So do I, and if you can find anybody with a few bucks to spare, let me know, will you?"

Hadn't Brought Her Along.

"I am afraid I shall have to commit you as a vagrant," said the Justice, looking sadly at Weary Waggle. "You have no visible means of support."

"But, your honor," protested Weary, "I couldn't bring my wife along. She's too busy supportin' the family."

Had Done His Best.

Lover—I wish to marry your daughter, sir.

Old Gotrox—You do, eh? Are you sure you love Henrietta?

Lover—Well, if I don't, sir, she is the worst fooled girl in this town.

None Needed.

"She's her own chaperon."

"How's that?"

"You ought to see her face."—Gargoyles.

Penurious.

"Is he tight?"

"Tight? Why, he couldn't even spend a vacation."—Gargoyles.

Shades of Sherman!

"They say disease in the British trenches is terrible!"

"Nothing but tommyrot, old fellow."—Williams Purple Cow.

Asking Her Pa.

"Sir," said the young man, with much respect, "I know that you are a millionaire and that I am poor. It seems presumptuous in me to aspire to the hand of your daughter. But I have thought the matter out and with some diffidence I have resolved to make my request. Love, sir, is not bound by sordid considerations, or by mere social conventions. I have very real attachment for your daughter, and I pray that you will put no obstacle in the way of our early marriage."

The old man seemed interested in the young fellow and inclined to listen.

"Quite so," said he. "As you know I am not in the habit of sticking at trifles, providing the main purpose is straight. But which of my girls do you want?"

The young man breathed a sigh of relief, and courteously replied, "Oh, I'll leave that to you, sir."—Glasgow Times.

It Was the First Time.

Jones was a pastmaster of the habit of carelessness. He dropped things around in any old place and afterwards never remembered where that place was. One night he rose from bed to get some medicine and swallowed his collar button in mistake for a cough drop.

"Mary," said he to his wife when the awful truth dawned upon him, "I have swallowed my collar button."

"That's all right," responded wife in a tone of evident satisfaction.

"There's nothing to worry about."

"Nothing to worry about?" returned father. "Do you—"

"That's what I said," interrupted little wife. "For once in your life you know where you've put it."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Knew Him.

Glags—Bilson expressed a good deal of sympathy for poor Blank. Did you try him for a contribution?

Dibbs—No. I know Bilson; he is like the letter "p"—first in ply and last in help.—Boston Transcript

Odd, to Say the Least.

Hick—This match won't light.

Hike—That's funny. It lit all right a minute ago.—Michigan Gargoyle.
