This being the night for the annual election of officers, the following men were chosen to pilot the Club through the coming year: J. L. Wilkins, president; A. M. Phelps, vice president; and W. W. Smead, secretary. The executive committee elected consists of Chas, Thomson, C. E. Woodson and J. J. Nys. The election was spirited to a high degree, there being a number of candidates nominated for each office.

In the general discussion which followed the election of officers, the question of voting a half mill tax to support the county fair was brought up and gone into at length. The Club supporting our county fair although no definite action was taken at this meeting.

The matter of issuing bonds for good roads came in for its share of discussion but no definite action was taken at this time.

On Monday the finance committee met to devise means for raising funds for the support of the club. In the past Heppner's commercial organizathis has proved an inefficient method

By Supt. S. E. Notson. A new plan will be used in the eighth grade examinations in May and June in the subjects of U.S. History and Civil Government. The pupils will be allowed to use their textbooks during the examination. The questions will be so framed as to test the ability of the pupil to express himself clearly and fully upon a topic. He may need some point which he has, for the moment, forgotten. He can look it up. He will not have time to do much looking up, but he will not be thrown into a nervous state trying to remember some trisuch a plan for several years. He has greatly amused teachers and some of the county superintendents by suggesting such a plan. Last summer he took a great deal of satisfaction in pointing out to some of the superintendents that such a plan had been tried at Reed College, and it had proven very satisfactory. As State Superintendent Churchill says, "The examination usually deteriorates into ninety per cent. of the examination questions have called for a test of memory only. The power to discrim-inate, to reason, to decide has rarely been called into action in the examination. If instead of answering several short questions in a few words, a pupil is required to write, in a limited time, a history of slavery in the United States, or discuss the position of the different political parties on the tariff question, or write a fairly complete discussion of the Monroe Doctrine, his production will show ular election. whether he has studied history to a Candidates who have announced purpose, and he can do very little themselves as delegates to the Na-
